NAVAL AIMS ADVANCED

Two Steps Taken by Parley

Experts Will Begin Shaping Submarine "Humanizing" Plans Into Treaty

Compromise Tonnage Report Approved by Conference After Days of Work

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Moving slowly like a ship in a sea infested with submarines, the London naval conference in its voyage toward disagreement today reached the danger zone of tonnage figures.

Approximately the most significant accomplishment of the five-power delegations today was making a start toward limitation of offensive activities in war time or the "humanization," as provided in American and French resolutions presented at yesterday's plenary session.

A subcommittee of experts with real knowledge will take the resolutions by Henry L. Stimson and Georges Leygues in hand tomorrow and begin necessary adjustments to make them fit into the London disarmament treaty.

COMPROMISE PLAN

The other outstanding accomplishment of the conference today in accordance of the experts' report was a compromise tonnage plan covering the global and category measurement systems. Tonnage figures still are absent from this compromise plan scheme on which the experts have been working ten days. On a diagram of little white squares, which await the total tonnage figures of each nation and decision, tonnage figures for each category of warship, the simple erasure of two lists of lines about an inch long pictured settlement of one of the most difficult naval questions that confronted delegates when they arrived in London last month.

In erasure of the line between cruiser of cruisers and destroyers, a symbol simply and graphically set tonnage for those classes is found as a whole and can be reduced 100 per cent from one side to the other.

The line was erased only in principle, allowing French and Italian tonnage, as the global theory applied to these two nations to suit their peculiar naval needs in the Great Britain, the United States and Japan have their tonnage limited to five categories.

POINTS UNSETTLED

Agreements can be made only according to the percentage which is expected to agreed upon, and arguments indicated that this percentage will not be reached before the present their demands. Experts of fleet tonnage needs and points still remain unsettled in the compromise tonnage plan. First, the percentage of tonnage has not been decided. The experts say that various types of

Business Men's Leader Says Every Citizen Pays Toll to Racketeers

Agents of Two Unions Taken in Net Spread to Catch Killers

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—There is not a business, not an industry nor a person in the city of Chicago that is not paying tribute either directly or indirectly to racketeers and gangsters, according to Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and head of the secret committee of that association, appointed last Thursday to investigate crime and its causes and ramifications in this city.

The present condition of affairs is appalling, Mr. Randolph said. Business men conversant with the racketeering methods fear to complain lest they suffer physical violence or their families be terrorized and intimidated. The Association of Commerce president indicated, however, that the situation is by no means hopeless, and that, backed by the leading men of the city who are determined to stamp out racketeering, conditions will be remedied.

WIDE RAMIFICATIONS

"It is amazing the extent to which racketeers have penetrated the everyday life of our city," he said. "Every business and industry in Chicago is honeycombed with racketeering. It is so systematic that the cost reaches down to the taxpayers, the renters, every person in the city who is paying tribute to the expenses saddled onto Chicago business and industry by the racketeers.

"The situation is appalling because the racketeer hires the gunman and the bomber to enforce his demands. I've received telephone calls from persons who would not be seen about the Association of Commerce offices. They wanted to give me their stories but asked me to come to a designated spot in the Loop, so fearful were they that the story of conditions in their particular business would be tracked back on them and that they or their families would suffer.

COSTS MOUNT

"In the racketeering that was introduced in the cleaners' and dyers' business, the public saw the cost rise 10, 20 and even 50 per cent. The public is paying also in increased tax bills, higher tailoring bills, bigger laundry bills and in rent. And we have found many other angles new to us in the widespread ramifications of this thing."

Meanwhile, the drive of the po-

REDS PLAN AIR AND GAS DEFENSES

Five-year Plan to Result in 17,000,000 Persons Doing Their Part

MOSCOW, Feb. 12. (AP)—Under a special five-year plan adopted today by the soviet volunteer society for aerial and chemical defense, which is a powerful civilian arm of the regular red army, navy and aviation force, soviet Russia will have 17,000,000 persons engaged in various branches of air and gas defense by 1934. There now are 5,000,000 so engaged.

Alexander Malinovsky, undersecretary for the society, said the authorities will increase the number of aviation schools from four to twenty-five which will train thousands of pilots.

The number of aviation groups will be increased from 500 to 2500. Volunteer detachments numbering 31,000 and embracing 6,000,000 members will be engaged in the protection of habitations from gas attacks. About 4,500,000 persons will receive military preparation through various organs of the society, military and technical contingents, including women, will be trained for the army and a large number of moderately powered airplanes will be built for military training and civil aviation.

HOOVER LOSES OUT ON LUCK

Sailfish Dodge President's Hook in Rough Waters; Justice Stone's Wife Makes Prize Catch

LONG KEY (Fla.) Feb. 12. (AP)—President Hoover went out after a sailfish today and came in with no catch.

The fishing honors departed from the Executive branch of the government, where they were the first two days of the trip, and went over to the judicial. Justice Stone, fishing from the boat with the President, landed a forty-pound sailfish, but it remained for Mrs. Stone, fishing with Mrs. Hoover, to land the prize of the day, a sixty-five-pound sailfish, measuring 7 feet 10 inches.

Considerable uneasiness resulted from Mrs. Stone's catch. She hooked the big fellow at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the moon had come up before she finally landed him. In the meantime, those in Long Key grew increasingly uneasy about the Presidential party, for a stiff breeze was blowing and both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were in small vessels.

SEAS GROW ROUGH

The Orca, a large boat commanded by Capt. Herman Gray of Palm Beach, from which Mr. Hoover had planned to fish today, was turned over to newspaper men invited by the President to be his guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover thereupon took two small craft which tossed and pitched in the long swells which rolled into the Gulf Stream, where the angling took place.

The Chief Executive spent his morning looking over mail and studying the latest news from the London naval conference. He found nothing startling either in his mail or in the news from London and shortly after noon departed for the Gulf Stream, eight miles off Long Key, on the Atlantic side.

The flotilla, consisting of five boats in all, found the sea rough soon after getting out of the shallow water around the key. Both the President and Mrs. Hoover are good sailors, so the boats pushed on.

LATE-HOUR STRIKE

Mrs. Stone's strike came late in the day. Those in the other boats at first thought Mrs. Hoover had the big fellow on her line, and all the craft began to come in as close as was safe.

A closer view revealed Mrs. Stone working hard with her reel, and Mrs. Hoover, excited, vigorously working a motion-picture camera. The sailfish, on the other end of the line, was working as hard as Mrs. Stone, breaking through the water, at times leaping six feet in the air and trying to shake the hook.

The moon was an hour high and the sun an hour gone when the huge fish was landed. The fleet then turned toward the shore. No other member of the party caught anything.

GIN BUYER TEST MADE IN CAPITAL

First Prosecution Under Purchase Section of Dry Act in Washington Starts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP) What was described as the first arrest ever made in Washington on a charge of violating the prohibition laws by buying liquor was made today with the detention of Joseph Patrick Carley, whom detectives said they found leaving a speakeasy with a half-pint of gin.

Carley was charged with "buying a half-pint of gin" and released under $500 bond.

David A. Hart, assistant United States Attorney in charge of prohibition enforcement in Police Court, said he did not order the charge booked against Carley but that he was prepared to try him under the national prohibition laws.

"Purchasing liquor is just as much an offense against the National Prohibition Act as bootlegging, if the purchase is made from an illegal seller," Hart said.

"When the police advised me that they had arrested a man for buying whisky, I told them to hold him and that I thought I could convict him under Section 6 of the National Prohibition Act."

The section mentions purchasing liquor among the acts it forbids.

MORE GUNS ON HUGHES

Nomination Foes Get Recruits

Western Republicans Joined by Democrats in Battle on Senate Floor

Supporters Predict Victory in Vote Expected to be Taken Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Senators opposing Charles Evans Hughes's nomination to be Chief Justice waged an all-day attack upon his confirmation today.

Western Republican Independents who opened the surprise assault on Hughes in the Senate were joined today by some Democrats in debate. Further severe denunciation of the economic views of the former Supreme Court jurist and former Presidential candidate was made.

Unsuccessful in an effort for a night session to force a final vote, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, gave notice he will keep the Senate in session tomorrow until a vote is obtained, and added that he has the votes to do it.

Opponents of Hughes were obviously encouraged after a day of informal conferences on the floor. Senators Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, leaders of the fight against him, announced they will be ready for a vote by tomorrow night. They are making no public claims, but the foes of Hughes believe there are from twenty-five to thirty votes against him.

GLENN DEFENDS HIM

No one predicts rejection of Hughes's nomination, but Republican leaders concede there might be twenty-two votes against confirmation.

Senator Glenn, Republican, Illinois, alone went out to champion Hughes during a day of blunt discussion of the Supreme Court and the nominee.

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, opened the assault, contending the attitude of Hughes is "dangerous to the common people," and condemning the views of the Supreme Court itself in utility-valuation decisions.

Senators Brookhart, Republican, Iowa; Connally, Democrat, Texas; Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, and Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, joined in the appeal for defeat of Hughes's nomination.

WALSH FOR HUGHES

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, announced in the midst of the fight that he will vote for confirmation of Mr. Hughes.

Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, objected to an agreement that the Senate should vote tomorrow before adjournment, but Senators Borah and Norris both expressed the view, in response to Senator Watson's proposal, that a vote can be taken by tomorrow night.

Senator Dill was the most outspoken in today's debate.

"Here is a man who was decisively defeated by the American people for President because of his economic views," said Dill. "Is the will of the people not to be considered at all?

REPLY TO NORRIS

"I intend by this vote to do what I can to put a stop to what I believe is one of the greatest dangers to this country, the placing of men on the Supreme Court who will permit the picking of pockets of the common people by the great corporations."

Senator Glenn directed a personal reply to Senator Norris, asserting that Norris had run for Congress while on the Nebraska State Court. One of the complaints against Hughes in the debate had been that he resigned from the Supreme Court to run for the Presidency.

Replying to the objections of Senator Borah to the economic views of Mr. Hughes, the Illinois Senator contended that every Senator is bound to have some opposition to some views of any man nominated for the Supreme Court. He added that if Senator Borah were nominated, he believes Senator Norris would object.

Glenn said he is not alarmed at the growing number of mergers and combinations in business and insisted that there is a greater prosperity today than at any time as a result. He said there is no oppression of the "common people."

As for Mr. Hughes's record, he cited his work as counsel for the United Mine Workers and in behalf of other public cases. He recalled his investigation of the insurance companies in New York which, he contended, made Mr. Hughes "the greatest investigator of his day."

EX-SPANISH DICTATOR FOUND IN TINY HOTEL

PARIS, Feb. 12. (AP)—Primo De Rivera, former Spanish dictator, who arrived in Paris last night, was found today in a tiny hotel on the left bank of the Seine in the Latin Quarter. The former Premier was located after a legion of newspaper men had spent several hours in fruitlessly combing the leading hotels. The small hotel is in the vicinity where Primo spent several years as a student.

LEWISES RENT GRAY HOUSE

DEL MONTE, Feb. 12. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Lewis have rented the Percy Gray home on Monterey Mesa, where the novelist will rest for two months before starting a new book.

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] England has one great custom in the government. They can bring before the House of Commons in open session any Cabinet member or the Premier and ask him what he has done and what he has in mind for the future, and he has to tell 'em. Today they questioned Mr. MacDonald himself about the conference. We don't do it over here. It would be too embarrassing to our officials to have to admit what little they had done and extremely humiliating to explain what they had in mind for the future, when they had nothing in mind after their appointment. If they are not impeached we never hear of them again. They only have one obligation here. They have to sign the pay roll in person.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NEW FINDS REPORTED IN YUCATAN

Walled Indian Town Ruins Discovered in Territory Explored by Lindbergh

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Discovery of a walled Indian village, unmarked on any map, in the wilds of Yucatan, was announced in a letter made public today from Capt. Robert R. Bennett of Washington, to the Heye Foundation under whose auspices he is making a trip of exploration into the interior of that Mexican State.

Capt. Bennett's expedition, when the letter was written the 2nd inst., was in the interior country explored by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by airplane last fall. One of the lakes on which Col. Lindbergh attempted to descend was plainly visible from the top of a pyramid, Capt. Bennett writes.

He said that although numerous ruins have been found, no art works have been uncovered as yet.

Capt. Bennett is accompanied on his trip by Crawford Johnson, son of Charles E. Johnson of Washington. They left Valladolid for the interior January 13, last, with six Indian guides and nine mules.

Court Asked to Decide Dispute Over Insurance

WILMINGTON (Del.) Feb. 12. (AP) The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York today filed in United States District Court here a bill asking Judge Morris to have the United Investors' Securities Corporation and Grace H. Emery of Pasadena, Cal., taken into court to settle a question as to which shall receive $253,000 of life insurance of the late Archibald Emery, who died January 26, last.

The insurance company states that the United Investors' Securities Corporation was the beneficiary in Emery's insurance policy. Mrs. Emery, however, claims the money on the ground that she had transferred to the Securities Corporation certain stock owned by her late husband, with the asserted promise that she would receive the insurance money.

Flying Teacher Killed in Plunge

TULSA (Okla.) Feb. 12. (AP)—T. E. Caraway, 35-year-old senior instructor of the Spartan School of Aeronautics, was killed and J. F. Tobin of Mt. Vernon, N. Although both men were wearing parachutes neither attempted to leap from the falling craft, it is said.

Repeal Demand Cheered

Large Audience Applauds Dry-Law Attack Before House Committee

Magazine Investigator Tells Story of Corruption in Official Circles

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The large audience which attended the House Judiciary Committee session today, for the first Congressional hearing on the merits of prohibition in the decade since enactment of the Volstead Act, cheered a demand for repeal of the dry amendment.

Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, denounced conditions under the amendment and said the results are not satisfactory. He deplored the "train of consequences most depressing to every patriot" which he said has been brought about by enforcement of the dry law.

The one witness heard, Walter W. Liggett, a magazine writer, charged that corruption and hypocrisy are to be found among officials in various cities. Committee members rebuked the audience for applauding various of his remarks.

The committee was hearing opponents of the prohibition laws first on measures to repeal or modify the Eighteenth Amendment and laws under it. Representative Sabath, Democrat, Illinois, author of a repeal measure, demanded that Congress take such action.

WITNESS CHARGES

Liggett's charges involved the Governor of Michigan at an asserted "wild party" at Detroit, November 5, 1929, and "a former Governor of Massachusetts, judges and city customs and other officials." He said enforcement is lax in Massachusetts, Kansas, Minnesota and Michigan, as well as in Boston, Minneapolis, Detroit, Topeka and Wichita, Kan., and the nation's capital.

Liggett explained that he had been assigned by the magazine Plain Talk to investigate conditions and declared he is "no snooper or informer." He said he will be willing to appear before any grand jury to expose the dereliction of any public officials.

He testified he had told a grand jury in Boston of conditions he found there and predicted numerous indictments will result. He offered to go to Detroit to tell of the "wild party" of November 5, 1929, when asked by Representative Michener, Republican, Michigan.

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

Held in the huge caucus room in the House Office Building to accommodate the large audience, the hearing got under way after Graham announced that both the wets and drys will be given an equal opportunity to present their views. Pleading the purpose of the hearings, the chairman said that when "we add corruption, bribery, demoralization of the citizenry, disrespect for law, bootlegging and kindred offenses, does not such a picture call for the fair, dispassionate judgment of men and women to come together and reason over what remedy can be devised to abate this sad condition?"

Chairman Graham explained that seven resolutions before the committee had been referred to it to determine whether they should be reported back to the House for action. He said the hearings will not interfere with work of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission but will aid it.

FANATICS RAPPED

The Pennsylvanian asked for the committee to reason together but "not with fanatics." These, he said, are foes "of religion as well as individual liberty."

"No law can ever be enforced that is destructive of right and individual liberty!" he exclaimed. "What opportunity has there been for the conscientious opponents of prohibition to be heard? These hearings will open the doors to let them present their side of the question fully."

In his testimony Liggett said there are 700 speakeasies in Washington, and not less than 4000 bootleggers and that he has come to the conclusion that there are not

WETS HELD FEW BUT NOISY

Dry Organization Warns Public Not to be Misled by Propaganda for Prohibition Repeal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—While wet advocates presented plea for the modification of the liquor laws before the House Judiciary Committee today dry organizations issued a statement, which said no one "should be deceived by the present flood of publicity and propaganda put forth by the wets and carried by the press."

The statement, issued by the executive committee of the national conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth Amendment, asserted prohibition is a success in principle and policy.

"Judging by their noise during the sessions of Congress the wets are a great host," it asserted. "Judged by the number of their ballots either during the sessions of Congress or at the polls they are a diminishing minority."

The statement added that the present methods of the "wets are disloyal and un-American."

"We cheerfully concur," the statement said, "in the sentiments expressed by the President and others that every citizen has a perfect right to agitate and move for the repeal of and part of the Constitution in a frank and open manner. But to seek the repeal of laws enacted to make the Constitution operative, or to seek so to modify such laws that they will allow what the Constitution itself forbids, is nullification by indirection, which no loyal American will tolerate."

Work Plentiful in Industry at Close of Year

Jury in Bribe Case Fails to Reach Verdict

After failing to reach a verdict during twelve hours' deliberation, the jury which heard the trial of Ben Lurie, charged with offering a bribe to a Los Angeles police officer, was discharged yesterday in Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy's court. The court fixed Monday as the date for considering a resetting of the case.

It was charged that Lurie paid Police Officer A. J. MacCloud $100 to obtain the fingerprint records of several Los Angeles bootleggers from the police record bureau.

Lurie, in defending himself, asserted that MacCloud first broached the idea of the bribe and solicited him.

CRUISER RATIO DICKER BEGINS

America Would Argue Japan Out of Tonnage

Matsudaira's Reply Firm for 70 Per Cent Basis

Compromise After Sparring Seen by Observer

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Tsuneo Matsudaira on behalf of the Japanese delegation tonight presented to Senator Reed a written memorandum in answer to the American proposal that Japan accept a 60 per cent ratio of cruiser strength as compared with the American navy in order to make that category conform to the 5-5-3 battleship ratio agreed upon at the Washington conference.

While it is understood that the memorandum repeated Japan's desire for a 70 per cent cruiser ratio it is generally believed that neither the American nor the Japanese position is final and that an acceptable compromise will be reached after further conversations.

DATES FAR BACK

The discussion dates back to the Washington conference and has served to revive what the Japanese have always asserted was an unfortunate misunderstanding. It is understood that the American stand, while acknowledging that only capital ships and airplane carriers entered into the Washington agreement, holds that there was a tacit understanding between the two countries that Japan would be satisfied with the same ratio for heavy cruisers.

America contends that this tacit understanding was reached because of a promise by the United States not to fortify her bases in the Pacific Ocean. The Japanese naval experts and delegates who were present at Washington assert that they had no knowledge of any such understanding. So far as the American promise not to fortify was concerned, they add, Japan at the same time agreed not to fortify the Bonin Islands and other strategic Japanese points in the Pacific.

RATIO TRANSLATED

Japan's claim to a 70 per cent ratio would give her the right to 129,000 tons of heavy cruisers, compared to 180,000 tons of American and 150,000 tons of British ships of that class. Japan now has 108,400 tons, embracing ten vessels already built and two which are on the ways.

This total tonnage for Japan will include eight 10,000-tonners and four of 7100 tons each, but these latter will be the only medium-sized cruisers of any nation which will carry eight-inch guns.

The full 70 per cent ratio would entitle Japan to build two more cruisers of 8600 tons each, although Japanese lay opinion is that these would never be constructed because of the present tremendous public demand for economy. However, the big navy crowd of Japan wants the right to build these extra cruisers as a means of maintaining "face," a factor which has a real value in the Orient. One Japanese who is well acquainted with the whole conference situation, said tonight:

HINTS COMPROMISE

"Although Japan feels there is somewhat of a misunderstanding regarding the ratio which she desires, the matter is not at all serious and there will be the friendliest sort of conferences between the two delegations in order to arrive at some figure which will be mutually acceptable.

"So far as the Japanese desire to build extra cruisers is concerned, it is sure that she will agree to scrap five or six of her present vessels if America will allow her a 70 per cent ratio and agree not to build up to 180,000 tons.

"In other words, 70 per cent might be ten cruisers for America and seven for Japan, which would mean a real reduction in armaments and still maintain a balance which would not endanger either country.

CHANCE TO DICKER

"The chances are that America will not insist upon a 60 per cent ratio nor Japan upon 70, but that there will be a compromise somewhere between 65 and 68 per cent. If granted a two-thirds proportion—which I do not say that Japan would accept—my country could have 126,000 tons or the right to build one additional 10,000-tonner which, in all probability, would never be constructed.

"Also, when the four 7100-ton craft are ready for replacement, Japan might agree to substitute for them two vessels of 10,000 tons each."

warships be limited in gunpower as well as by tonnage. America and France entered reservations to this proposal as it concerns light cruisers, which the British want limited to about 7000 tons.

Likewise, no decision has been reached regarding special and auxiliary vessels, which have not been included in any category but will be dealt with when the experts convene again.

Reiterating their oft-repeated advocacy of global tonnage, Italian spokesmen at today's meeting reserved opinion on every proposal to fix rigidly the individual tonnage of warships.

LEADERS QUERIED

While the conference wrestled with these questions of concrete facts, figures on the naval situation fluttered from delegation to delegation and through the halls of the British Parliament where Ramsay MacDonald and A. V. Alexander were insistently queried about the government's disarmament policy.

Both the Prime Minister and the First Lord of the Admiralty emphatically declared that nothing has occurred at the conference which will call for the scrapping of one of Great Britain's newest and largest battleships. These denials were prompted by Congressional comment from Washington that the way to settle the American delegation's proposal for the right to build a new United States battleship of the size of H. M. S. Rodney, is for the British themselves to scrap the Rodney, British naval circles, however, did not take the Washington comment as having been made seriously.

Mr. Alexander again explained to questioners in the House of Commons that fifty British cruisers will fully meet the national defense need and that this figure has been worked out by and agreed on by the Admiralty.

BED DESERTED BY ORTIZ RUBIO

Mexican President Takes Up Tasks at His Home

Arrests in Connection With Shooting Grow Daily

United States Thanked for Its Congratulations

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio, wounded a week ago today by a gunman, was sufficiently recovered this afternoon to leave his bed and attend to several business affairs at his home. It is believed that he will be able to go to his office at the National Palace next week.

The number of detentions in connection with the shooting of the President by Daniel Flores is increasing daily. A number of arrests have been made in various parts of the country, but official silence still cloaks the result of the investigation of what the authorities declare was a widespread plot to assassinate the new Chief Executive.

It was learned today that Valente Quintana, former Chief of Police in the Federal District, now is in the city of San Luis Potosi, where he is in charge of the investigation in that place, and Chacas, a nearby town, which was the home of Flores.

Many arrests have been made there and the police say they have found evidence that persons living in San Antonio, Tex., had knowledge of the plot against the President, even if they were not involved in it themselves.

Congratulations on his escape from death continue to reach the President. They have come from the heads of European, as well as American nations, and also many other people in all walks of life. The President has been much touched by this wide-spread interest in his safety, and among other acknowledgements today extended thanks to the entire United States by means of a special message addressed to the Associated Press.

GOVERNOR RACE WILL LOSE RILEY

State Controller Said to Have Decided to Seek Return to Office

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—Formal announcement of his retirement as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor will be made by State Controller Riley within the next few days, it was authoritatively reported here today.

Rumors of Riley's withdrawal from the gubernatorial contest have been widely current throughout California for more than a week. It is said that he will seek re-election to the office he now holds. Denial is made by Riley's immediate advisers that he will, in the event of his decision to abandon the Governorship contest, make any indorsement of another aspirant for Gov. Young's position.

Estranged Wife Shot to Death in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Feb. 12. (AP) J. W. C. Johnson, 54 years of age, former Weatherford farmer, shot to death his estranged wife, Mrs. Lillian Johnson, 43, in Trinity Park this afternoon.

Johnson was placed in the County Jail soon after the shooting when Asst. Dist.-Atty. Hooper filed a complaint charging murder against him.

Until last August, Johnson and his wife lived on a farm near Weatherford, where Johnson had farmed all his life. The separation came November 15, after which Johnson went to California.

Tuesday night Johnson returned from California, arriving here only a few hours before Mrs. Johnson filed suit for divorce.

Border Murder Jury Selected

DULUTH (Minn.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Eleven men and one woman were selected today as the jury in the trial of Emmet J. White, United States customs patrolman charged with second-degree murder as an outgrowth of the killing of Gust Henry Virkula twenty-five miles miles south of the Canadian border, shortly before midnight June 8, last.

Judge Cant ordered that the jury be kept in custody during the remainder of the trial, because of the feeling aroused over the killing which has been seized upon as an issue by both Prohibitionists and anti-Prohibitionists.

Film Trio Sees Talkie Device

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, accompanied by Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, arrived today to inspect the Farnsworth Television device which is designed, in part, to broadcast talking motion pictures into the home.

Schenck declared "television motion pictures for the home are coming just as surely as the 'talkies' came to the screen."

TOLEDO (O.) Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—James McGraw, 48 years of age, secretary of the Toledo club of the American Association and brother of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, died unexpectedly late today at St. Vincent's Hospital.

less than 1,600,000 gallons of hard liquor consumed here each year. He added that arrests, for drunkenness in Washington have trebled during the prohibition decade, even considering the increase of population.

BOSTON CONDITIONS

Asserting that he had made a painstaking investigation of Boston he said there are at least 4000 open speakeasies there, while there are 15,000 people who purvey liquor illegally in that city.

"I want to say," he said, "that the police of Boston and the State police of Massachusetts are very largely corrupted as a result of this prohibition act. I have positive evidence in affidavit form, and affidavits substantiated by several persons in each case, that not only are the police corrupted but even ex-governors and their secretaries and commissioners of public safety have been illegally selling confiscated liquor on a wholesale scale."

Turning to Kansas, where, he said, they recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of State-wide prohibition, he declared he could go into any town as a total stranger and get a very good drink of liquor within fifteen minutes after arriving.

WICHITA ROADHOUSES

"Wichita is wide open," Liggett said, "I went into one of the classies; roadhouses in Wichita; it compared very favorably indeed with the better class of roadhouses in New York and it was running wide open; gambling going on upstairs with the roof the limit, and seventy-five people were playing as I watched the game, and stakes nigh."

He said that liquor can be procured from taxicabs in Kansas; and that from his investigation he believes that not less than 6,000,000 gallons of hard liquor are being consumed in that State annually, while at least 600,000 gallons of home brew are being made in Topeka annually.

Asserting that arrests for drunkenness in Detroit have almost doubled in the last ten years, Liggett said the city is "in the grip of a bunch of gangsters, racketeers, crooked policemen and grafting politicians."

"WILD PARTY" TESTIMONY

He described a "very wild party, where the liquor was donated by one of the principal gamblers of Detroit," at which he said were the Governor of Michigan, the Chief of Police of Detroit, the chief of the State police, politicians, clubmen, gamblers, criminals, bootleggers, all there fraternizing in the spirit of the most perfect equality under the god Bacchus."

Representative Michener asked Liggett if he would present proof of this if called upon. The writer replied that he has the proof.

Liggett charged that there are "beer farms" and "beer flats" in the home State and "right under the nose" of former Representative Andrew Volstead of Minnesota, author of the dry act.

"There is not a decent speakeasy in the city of Minneapolis," Liggett said, adding that most of the drinking is done in 3000 "beer flats" run by girls.

WITNESS SLATED FOR KANSAS QUIZ

TOPEKA (Kan.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Declaring statements of Walter W. Liggett concerning prohibition enforcement in Kansas are false, William A. Smith, State Attorney-General, announced today he will seek permission to cross-examine the magazine writer, who testified before a Congressional committee in Washington as to liquor conditions in this State.

Atty.-Gen. Smith said there is "no truth" to the testimony of Liggett is reported to have given concerning liquor conditions in Kansas and that "in my opinion, he is being paid by the wets for his testimony."

The Attorney-General said he will telegraph Representative Lambertson of the First Kansas District in an effort to obtain permission to cross-examine Liggett before the committee.

Mayor Rigby of Topeka said he did not have "anything to say" regarding Liggett's testimony as to the liquor situation in the Kansas capital, adding:

"Those fellows back there know everything about it. I don't."

George H. Wark, Federal prohibition administrator for the Fifteenth District, and Gov. Reed of Kansas declined to comment on Liggett's testimony.

ASSAILANT CALLED "WET PROPAGANDIST"

WICHITA (Kan.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Characterizing Walter W. Liggett, magazine writer, who today testified regarding asserted liquor conditions in Kansas before a Congressional committee, as a "wet propagandist," Wichita and Sedgwick county officials today asserted their belief that Wichita and Kansas are among the dryest spots in the country.

"Wichita is cleaner than any city its size in the United States," Chief of Police Wilson declared. "Of course, you can get a drink, but that's true anywhere."

Told that Liggett had said all one needed to do in Kansas to buy liquor was to "call a taxicab," Wilson asserted that "if he had substituted the word 'bell hop,' he might have been approximately correct." Taxicab drivers here have given enforcement officers little trouble, he said.

County Attorney Wertz said Liggett is a "propagandist."

Wertz said "a classy roadhouse" near here, referred to by Liggett, has been the subject of a recent inquisition at the request of Gov. Reed and that no evidence of either drinking or gambling could be obtained. The roadhouse now is closed, he stated.

BOSTON OFFICIAL SAYS LIGGETT EXAGGERATES

BOSTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Walter W. Liggett's statements before a House committee in Washington today, so far as they relate to Boston, were characterized as very much exaggerated by Superintendent of Police Crowley.

"I think it is a ridiculous statement," he said, "to say that there are 4000 speakeasies in Boston and 15,000 persons engaged in illegal sale of liquor. From my own observation, I know the statement is exaggerated."

MINNESOTA OFFICIALS REFUTE GRAFT CHARGE

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Charges of bad conditions and graft among Federal prohibition officials and agents in Minnesota made by Walter W. Liggett before the House Judiciary Committee today in Washington, were characterized as "cowardly and contemptible wet slander" here tonight by Andrew J. Volstead, father of the dry law.

The charges also aroused the ire of S. B. Gvale, Northwest prohibition administrator here. "These accusations of graft," he said, "are wholesale slander and certainly do not reflect any credit on the man who made them.

"Anyone can made general charges like this but being specific is another matter. We invite him to try and prove them."

CHICAGO BOMB WAR RENEWED

lice and State's Attorney goes on apace. Tonight eight of the city's notorious racketeers were in cells. They are George Barker, ex-convict and business agent of the Coal Teamsters' Union, who has terrified the coal industry of the city. Barker served in two penitentiaries and secured two doubtful paroles from the Illinois parole board after which he terrorized the garage industry until he controlled it and he was a member of the infamous Clifford, Reilly, Barker, McElligott, Cawley gang, all of whom have been slain by their own kind.

William "Three-Fingered" White, out of the penitentiary but three months and now claiming to be business agent of the city Ash Wagon Drivers' Union. White has been a safe-blower for many years. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing of a policeman but was released through a technicality.

Myles O'Donnell, who with his brother, Klondike, rules the beer and booze business of the West Side. Myles was involved in the murder of Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin.

Mike Quirk, notorious gangster; Bernard O'Donnell, brother of Myles and Klondike and in the beer racket with them; John O'Connor, Frank Lacey and Edward Sirneck are the others.

TWO MORE BOMBINGS

Two more bombs rocked sections of Chicago early today, bringing the total bombings to thirteen since January 1, with damage well past the total for all of last year. Two persons were injured and dozens were driven from their homes by a bomb which wrecked the rear of the Northwestern Laundry Company's plant at 2749 Lincoln avenue, causing damage estimated at $50,000. The shock of the blast was felt distinctly by residents more than a mile away. Abraham Stern, his brother Max and Morris Siegel, owners of the laundry, told the police that they were at a loss to account for a motive for the bombing. They said they had received no threats, that their drivers were all union and that they had had no trouble which might give reason for the bombing.

The second bomb was hurled at the residence of Robert Williams, a cartage contractor at 7406 Langley avenue. He and his wife were thrown from their beds by the blast, which tore away a rear porch and broke virtually every window in the house.

BARROWS URGES NOOSE TO HALT CHICAGO CRIME

BERKELEY, Feb. 12. (AP)—Unsparing use of the hangman's noose was recommended today by Dr. David P. Barrows, head of the political science department of the University of California, as a solution of Chicago's crime problem.

Speaking before one of his political science classes, Dr. Barrows recommended the establishment of a military commission, exerting jurisdiction over civilians as well as the military. These judicial bodies, he said, were established in the Philippine Islands following the Spanish-American War.

JONES LAW HITS ST. LOUIS RUM

Grand Jury Charges 130 With Liquor Violations

Cases Mark First Use of Act There Since Passage

Radio Broadcaster Accused in Federal Action

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12. (AP)—Striking at the illicit-liquor industry in St. Louis with the Jones law as its weapon, a Federal Court grand jury in its final report today returned 116 indictments charging 130 men and two women with liquor-law violations punishable by heavy prison sentences and fines.

It was the first time since enactment of the Jones law that it was brought into use extensively by a St. Louis grand jury in dealing with liquor cases. A previous grand jury had declined to use this law, which is directed against habitual and commercial dispensers of liquor and provides prison sentences up to five years and maximum fines of $10,000. Most of the defendants are under arrest.

The new jury, with a St. Louis banker as its foreman, followed closely the instructions of Judge Faris that the jurors must regard the various prohibition laws as binding upon themselves. Three other persons were indicted for minor liquor-law offenses and in addition the jury returned twenty-two indictments in nonliquor cases, including reindictment of several persons against whom charges had been dropped.

Virtually all of those indicted today in liquor cases are asserted bootleggers and liquor manufacturers accused of widespread operations in liquor traffic. All reside in the St. Louis district.

Couple Accused of Rifling Mail

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Charged with the theft of a $500 check from a registered letter, Mark F. Clouser and his wife, Patricia Clouser, were arrested in Oakland, Cal., today and are being held for Portland Federal authorities.

The complaint alleged that the Clousers obtained from the Portland postoffice a registered letter sent by Mrs. Mabel Lewis of Seattle to her daughter, Mrs. Rose McKay. Mrs. Clouser's maiden name was McKay and through some mistake the letter was sent to her. It is alleged Mrs. Clouser cashed the check.

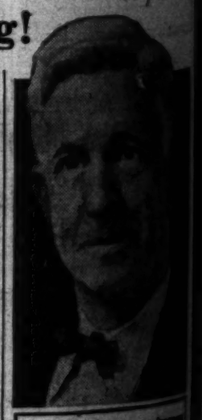
Twelve Years Mayor and Going Strong!



Hon. E. N. Kirby, former Mayor of Abilene, Texas, who has discovered secret of youth

WHEN a man who has been mayor of a big city for twelve years finds out how to live, his words are worth listening to. Ex-Mayor E. N. Kirby of Abilene, Texas, discovered the simple way to health about ten years ago (he is now 64.)

"I am now a new man, and as active as a boy," says Mr. Kirby. "I feel fine all the time and rarely have an ache or a pain, although for twenty-five years I suffered with rheumatism, and sometimes was unable to stand or walk. I would not give up my simple health discovery—no, not for five thousand dollars in gold!" That discovery was Nujol!

That's the wonderful thing about Nujol. Although it is not a medicine and contains absolutely no drugs, its harmless internal lubrication seems to make people feel better and look on the brighter side of life, whether they are old or young.

Of course you can understand why this is so: we all of us have natural poisons in our bodies that make us feel headachy, sick and low in our minds. Nujol, which is as tasteless and colorless as pure water, helps to absorb these and carry them away, easily, regularly as clock work.

Instead of drugging and irritating your body with pills, cathartics, laxatives, and other habit-forming drugs, give your body the internal lubrication which it needs, just as much as any other machine. After a few days you will be surprised at the difference in the way you feel. You can get Nujol in a sealed package at any drug store. Nujol may change your whole outlook on life. Get a bottle today and give yourself a chance to be well!

"I Could Have Saved Years Of Suffering"

"If this wonderful new Sargon had only been on the market earlier I could have saved myself years of suffering. For seven years I suffered almost constantly with a dull, aching pain in my side. I also had sick headaches at regular intervals, and when these attacks came on they were so terrible I would be forced to go to bed. Finally these troubles broke down my whole nervous system. I would have spells of weakness and would have to give up whatever I was doing and lie down.

MRS. G. W. HUPP

"Thanks to Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills—all my troubles have disappeared, and I haven't had a headache since taking the treatment. Those terrible pains in my side have gone and I feel like a different person and can do all my housework without tiring."—Mrs. G. W. Hupp, 3508 South 20th St., Omaha, Neb.

Thousands upon thousands of cases like the above can be cited where Sargon has triumphed after all other medicines have failed.

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett's Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

A REVOLUTION IS COMING!

"In home construction it is common sense economy to use only materials that will last". . .

WALTER E. FREW

BUILDING a home requires the same careful judgment and foresight that you use in your business investments. If you sacrifice permanent worth to initial saving, you are sure to lose. Bankers know this. That is why such men as Walter E. Frew advise you to insist on permanent, rust-proof construction.

Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, Brass or Copper pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures are permanent. They cannot rust. They give lifelong service without upkeep cost in home or skyscraper.

The slightly higher first cost of genuine rust-proof equipment is doubly justified. First, by its economy in the long run. Second, by the increased value it gives your property.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

Clemenceau Pictures Tilt With Gen. Pershing

American Refused to Send Green Recruits In

[Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—The first resume of the widely discussed posthumously published book by Georges Clemenceau, "The Grandeur and Misery of a Victory," which appeared in Paris this evening, discloses the most absorbing of all thirteen chapters to be one which relates the story of Gen. Pershing's blunt refusal, early in 1918, in the face of the utmost pressure from France's great war-time Premier, to throw his large forces of untrained American doughboys into the trenches to forestall a repetition of the disaster on the British front.

Premier Clemenceau went to the commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces and urged him in the most importunate terms to send his fresh, enthusiastic troops to replace the decimated, discouraged French poilus, then hard pressed at all points by the German offensive.

PERSHING STEADFAST

The slowness with which the new American army was organizing itself into an active fighting unit was costing the French army dearly in blood and lives, Premier Clemenceau told Gen. Pershing. Furthermore, those American contingents which were ready for the front were coming up entirely too slowly.

Despite his plea, the late Premier relates, Gen. Pershing steadfastly refused to send "green recruits" into the thick of the most complicated modern warfare. Thus, while the American high command was taking the time it demanded for training and organization, the exhausted French forces on a vast front extending from Amiens to Ypres each hour held the fate of France in their tired hands.

HE SPARES NO ONE

On the pretext of defending his policy, M. Clemenceau makes the most ruthless observations in his book. His "ferocious and enraged pen" spares no one. In Chapter VII he violently attacks Marshal Foch, whom he accuses of insubordination. He attacks the late Rene Viviani for having attracted the attention of the world to the pacific tendencies of France by ordering the French army to withdraw ten kilometers from the German front.

He attacks the former President and Premier, Raymond Poincare, repeatedly, and finally "the legion of the politicians," whom, he asserts, tore into shreds the Treaty of Versailles.

Loss of Money Causes Tragedy

The bodies were discovered in the kitchen of the home in Queens by the husband, Oscar Widauer, on his return from work.

The children were 10, 7 and 4 years of age.

BAY CITY MAN MAY SEEK STATE OFFICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP)—William A. British Church Hits at Soviet Persecutions

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The upper house of the Convocation of Canterbury unanimously adopted a resolution today protesting the persecution of Christians in soviet Russia.

The resolution, moved by the Archbishop of Canterbury and seconded by the Bishop of London, follows:

"That the house records its indignant protest against the persecution of all who profess any form of religion in Russia, offers its most deep and heartfelt sympathy to those suffering through this persecution, calls upon all members of the church to unite in prayer to God in their behalf, and expresses its conviction that if the soviet government desires satisfactory relations with this country to be maintained it must observe the principles of just and humane civilization.

STORM DELAYS BYRD'S VESSEL

City of New York Slowed Up by Seas and Wind

Arrival Now Not Looked for Prior to Saturday

Party Expects to Get Out of Camp Just in Time

BY RUSSELL OWEN

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—The City of New York is making slow time because of a heavy storm and it seems now that she can not get here before Saturday. She has been in a gale practically all the time since leaving the ice, part of the time being forced somewhat to the westward because of small packs. The wind, which was from the south, has hauled around to the southeast so that it is dead ahead for the ship and here it is blowing hard and snow is drifting.

A message from the New York this morning to Rear-Admiral Byrd said that the ship was covered with ice and safety lines had been rigged so that men could move about without going overboard. She is steaming directly into the wind and occasionally seas go clear over her. The seas and wind have reduced her speed greatly.

One good result of the storm, however, is that the wind shifting from the south may bring some warmer air and halt the formation of pancake ice in the bay which has been going on for two or three days. Outside the bay ice is a solid curtain of sea smoke where the colder air strikes the water, a sure sign that freezing is not far off. But this shift in the wind should prevent it for a time. Part of the bay ice has gone out to the western side near the cove in the barrier where materials which are to be taken back have been taken to expedite loading.

The ice breaking out will permit the New York to come into a sort of dock there more than a mile from where the things are piled unless more ice goes out from the center of the bay. If this should happen and a strong swell come into the bay the ship would have to be loaded on the eastern side where it would be protected. It is evident that we are going to get out just in time, as this February is much colder than last year.

Pastor Undecided Over Job in Bay City Church, He Tells Interviewers

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Rev. R. P. Shuler of Trinity Methodist Church, Los Angeles, was noncommittal today when questioned as to whether he plans to come to San Francisco as pastor of the new Memorial Church to be built by the Glide Foundation.

Following a meeting of the foundation's board of trustees, of which he is a member, Mr. Shuler said that "nothing will be decided" about the pastorship until June at the earliest.

"I imagine that if I asked for the place I could have it," he said. "At present my ten-acre chicken ranch, my large radio audience and my salary are very satisfactory; why should I think of making a change?"

Ground for the new edifice, to be erected by Mrs. Lizzie Glide of Berkeley in honor of her late husband, H. L. Glide, millionaire cattleman, will be broken about April 1, next.

MEXICAN INFLUX CURBED HEAVILY

Reduction of 80 Per Cent in Year Announced

State Department Discloses Result of New Plan

Success of Visa Policy Seen as Obviating Quota Bill

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—Immigration from Mexico has now been reduced 80 per cent from what it was a little more than a year ago when the State Department began tightening up on visas to prove that restriction legislation by Congress is not necessary, it was stated today by Acting Secretary of State Cotton.

Terming the figures "most significant" but declining direct comment on the Mexican exclusion movement centering in the House Immigration Committee, Mr. Cotton revealed that the cut in Mexican entries for the past seven months, including January, has been 72.1 per cent. Considering that a considerable number of visas were granted to students and Mexicans returning after visits to their native country, he said that the actual decrease in the type of immigration that would be subject to imposition of a quota law has been fully 80 per cent.

REDUCTION STEADY

This figure is the latest answer from the State Department to the political demand in Congress for exclusion legislation aimed at Mexico. The diplomatic branch began putting more rigid passport requirements into effect a year ago last December, and immediately accomplished a reduction in the number of Mexican immigrants of about 30 per cent. A few months later the department announced it had succeeded in curtailing Mexican immigration by 40 per cent. Then it was 60 per cent, and the latest figure, up to today, was 71 per cent reduction applying to immigration of December, last. Now the reduction is 80 per cent and the tightening process is still going on. Already, it has resulted in a serious labor shortage in some sections of the Southwest.

The State Department feels that its showing of what can be done by administrative action to curtail the influx of Mexicans is ample evidence that passage of an exclusion act by Congress, formally and officially branding the Mexican people as undesirable, is wholly unnecessary.

ONLY 5206 A YEAR

Acting Secretary Cotton announced that visas to Mexicans issued in January numbered 864, bringing the total of the last seven months to 3965. This would mean a yearly influx of 15,000. Some weeks ago the State Department issued a statement saying that Mexicans subject to quota requirements were entering the United States at the rate of only 434 a month or 5206 a year. This number has apparently been reduced even further, although Mr. Cotton today did not give a definite figure in this connection.

It would appear then that all that Representative Johnson of Washington, Representative Box of Texas and other advocates of restriction in Congress could hope to do with the bills now pending before the House Immigration Committee would be a reduction of Mexican immigration from around 5000 entries to approximately 2000 through legislation officially slapping the face of our southern neighbor, and telling her in a formal manner that her citizens are not wanted in this country.

WORK ON BILL PROCEEDS

Despite the State Department's attitude and the success it has had in reducing Mexican immigration, a hand-picked subcommittee of the House Immigration Committee continued today the process of writing a "committee bill" on restriction of immigration not only from Mexico, but from other countries on the Western Hemisphere. This subcommittee, headed by Chairman Johnson, author of one of the restrictive proposals, is studying the Johnson, Box and Bacon bills with the idea of working out a measure embodying the best features of all three. The subcommittee is quite apparently bent upon reporting a restriction bill, and indications are that the full committee will take the legislation to the House with a recommendation for its passage.

It is not believed, however, that a restriction bill will reach the point of legislative action at this session. There is a chance it will pass the House, but hardly a possibility that it can receive any consideration at all in the Senate. Present plans call for adjournment of the session early in June, so that Senators and Representatives may get back home to conduct their reelection campaigns, and there is so much other legislation that has to be dealt with that the anti-Mexican bills can hardly get a hearing on the floor of Congress.

PROGRESS MADE

If proponents of Mexican restriction obtain a favorable report from the House committee, it will be the farthest they have ever advanced their cause, as heretofore they have not been able even to obtain definite committee action.

The fate of the resolution by Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, providing for a commission survey of the agricultural labor needs of the country, is uncertain at this time. Interests in California and elsewhere opposing Mexican restriction are supporting the McNary proposal in the hope the study will be made and that it will convince Congress that agriculture in the Southwest could not survive without Mexican common labor.

Senator McNary hopes to get an opening in the Senate legislative calendar for the bill as soon as the tariff is out of the way, which will probably be some time next month. The resolution is backed by the Federal Farm Board and should pass both houses if it can be brought to a vote. The chances are, however, that it will go over along with the immigration restriction legislation until the session of Congress starting next December, where it will again be advocated as a counter-proposal to Mexican exclusion.

BERLIN GREETS ENVOY SACKETT

New American Ambassador Presents Credentials

Mission of Creating Good Feeling Explained

Von Hindenburg Extends Personal Welcome

BERLIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—President Von Hindenburg today received Frederick M. Sackett, new American Ambassador to Germany, for presentation of his credentials at the Presidential palace.

The new Ambassador, after explaining that his mission was to create the best feeling possible between the United States and Germany, declared:

"I have come to Your Excellency with a high esteem for your distinguished person, which typifies the high patriotism that is the embodiment of the German character. I bring with me a profound admiration for the achievements of the German people in the laborious tasks which have confronted them.

"At the same time I have a sincere conviction that German fortitude and industry will solve problems of the present and future and will constitute the guarantee of full faith and future success."

HINDENBURG REPLIES

President Von Hindenburg replied:

"I am glad to hear that you, Mr. Ambassador, regard it your main duty to promote the old friendly relations between the German Reich and the United States in every way and that it is your aim that both peoples may learn to understand each other better. You thus assume a task to which your predecessor addressed himself with such conspicuous success and whereby he gained so many lasting friendships in this country. You may rest assured that both I and the Reich's government will at all times do all in our power to render that task easy.

"Your Excellency has rightly called attention to the mutual efforts of both our countries in the sphere of international conciliation. The noble goal of a true world's peace, to which your country has for years devoted itself and which is clearly evident in so many of the public utterances of your President, can nowhere find a more sincere appreciation than with us.

"Your sworn acknowledgement of that which German strength and German industry have accomplished under difficult circumstances will be received sympathetically everywhere in Germany. Such appreciation, on the other hand, is a renewed reminder of what far-reaching support the German people in the most difficult times of reconstruction have received from the United States.

PRESIDENT STILL HALE

"I acknowledge with sincere thanks Your Excellency's amiable references to myself and the friendly wishes your President has expressed in his own hand for the success of the German people, and I entreat you to believe that I entertain the same sentiments toward the people of America.

"In the name of the German nation, Mr. Ambassador, I bid you a hearty welcome."

Ambassador Sackett spoke in English while President Von Hindenburg used German.

After the formal exchange of addresses the President and the Ambassador chatted a while. Mr. Sackett was so impressed with the erectness and evident vigor and health of President Von Hindenburg that he could not refrain on leaving from expressing his pleasure. The President smiled and replied: "Well, I may be pretty old, but, nevertheless——" and here he stamped his foot and made a gesture as though he were about to start off marching like a young man.

Life Lost After Giving Warning

TACOMA (Wash.) Feb. 12. (AP)—After warning his fellow-workers to give clearance to a pole which was being torn down in the demolition of the old Milwaukee Viaduct, William W. Benson, 45 years of age, foreman for a contracting concern, stood as in a trance and watched the falling pole, which struck him on the head and killed him today.

SHAVIAN SCRAWLS SLUMP

Letters by Famed English Writer Sell for Mere $2.40, and Bobby Burns's Vest Brings But $30

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Letters signed by Bernard Shaw have been tumbling in value like speculative shares lately. Several auctioned at Sotheby's brought only 10 shillings ($2.40) apiece.

Apparently news of the sale of various Shaw items at good prices not long ago resulted in a flood of offerings. The same explanation, however, would not apply to the Robert Burns waistcoat which sold for only £6 ($30) regardless of the fact that the heart of the British bard beat under its buttons for years.

Nor is there a plethora of historic canes which could be blamed for the fact that the Malacca walking stick carried by the poet Gray on his celebrated visit to a country churchyard brought only £90.

Copies of the first edition of Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" are in brisk demand. Two very dilapidated copies brought the equivalent of $2000 and $2500 recently, despite their condition.

Other recent prices realized at Sotheby's include:

Smollett's "Roderick Random" (1748,) £155.

Fielding's "Tom Jones" (1749,) £145.

Shelley's "Rosalind and Helen" (1819,) £135.

Lamb's Works, two volumes, (1880,) £100.

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Judge Moore announced today he will send the case of John W. Brady, former Civil Appeals Court judge, charged with murder, to another county for its second trial.

A jury in the first trial disagreed as to whether Brady was sane when he fatally stabbed Miss Lehlia High Smith, a stenographer.

Ten Lose Lives in Indo-China Natives' Revolt

RANOI (French Indo-China) Feb. 12. (AP)—Five French officers were killed, five were wounded, five Annamite troopers were killed and six wounded in a mutiny of native riflemen at Yenbay, ninety miles from here.

The attack was made by 200 Tonkin riflemen, accompanied by sixty native revolutionaries, all allegedly inspired by foreign revolutionary agitation. Airplanes are now trying to locate the mutineers, who have taken refuge in a forest between Yenbay and Phutho.

Revolutionary organizations have been active in Indo-China for several months.

DRUG TRAFFIC STRUCK BLOW

Two Suspects Face Charge of Marihuana Dealing

Coastwise Ring Believed to Be Supplying Seamen

Agent. Pose as Labor Bosses on Alaskan Vessels

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Two State narcotic agents posing as labor bosses on Alaska cannery ships today struck a blow at what they assert is a coastwide drug ring trafficking in marihuana, arresting two men when they delivered the first installment of a supply of the drug for which the agents assert they contracted.

The men, Antonio Guerrero and Conrado Gutierrez, Alameda county ranchers, the agents said, admitted previous dealings with labor bosses on Alaska ships.

Traffic in marihuana is said to flourish on the high seas and in Alaska, and so flagrant has the trade become, officials declare, that a contract is a common procedure.

The drug, manufactured from Indian hemp, although State law prohibits its cultivation, is grown on secluded ranches in the San Francisco Bay region and the upper San Joaquin Valley. The drug is said to be second only to heroin in its disastrous effect on the human system.

The State agents said Guerrero and Gutierrez are members of a ring supplying all outbound ships from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Bliss, Los Angeles; E. C. Holmes, C. D. O'Sullivan, San Francisco; A. J. Slaght, F. C. Woodward, Oakland; E. J. Fenston, Paul Gregg, Fresno; Hal Barnett, Stockton; Nat Rogan, San Diego; F. J. Richstatler, Sacramento.

Sacramento was chosen as the meeting-place for the 1931 conference.

WORLD ALLIANCE OF CHURCHES TO MEET

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 12. The alliance will discuss a proposal for agreeing on a common creed for all Presbyterian, Reformed and affiliated bodies.

BITS OF NEWS FOR USED CAR BUYERS

"I'll sell my equity cheap for cash, but no trades," says owner of 1929 Chevrolet coupe.

Party states he has put a sacrifice price on his 1930 Buick sedan, which, he declares, has been driven only 2000 miles.

An offer to finance the deal and accept a trade-in has been made by advertiser, who wants to dispose of Stutz five-passenger sedan, said to be a late model in perfect condition.

FASTEST OCEAN LINERS PLANNED

United States Lines to Build Two Bremen Rivals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, Inc., informed the Shipping Board today that his concern plans to build two ships that on completion probably will be the fastest afloat.

Chapman said the vessels will be in excess of 50,000 tons and will have a sustained speed of 28½ knots. He said this will enable them to break the record for a transatlantic passenger crossing held by the German ship, Bremen.

PEACE WARRIOR GETS BELLICOSE

Speaker on Cause and Cure of War Wants to Fight

Maj.-Gen. McCoy Grows Angry at Georgia Meeting

He and Heckler Later End Their Trouble, However

MACON (Ga.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Addressing the Georgia conference on the cause and cure of war, Maj.-Gen. Frank R. McCoy, Fourth Corps Area commander, offered to fight a college professor last night because of the "tone" of questions which the educator propounded to him regarding the foreign policy of the United States.

After the meeting, however, the general was introduced to his questioner, Prof. John D. Allen, instructor in journalism at Mercer University, and a conversation brought the incident to an amicable end.

The general delivered an address on "Certain Practical Peace Problems," dealing with the occupation of Cuba, the Nicaraguan intervention and the committee of inquiry and conciliation which adjusted the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute.

QUESTIONS ASKED

He announced he would answer questions from the audience.

"Does the Monroe Doctrine or the Constitution give the President the right to land marines when he wishes to do so?" Prof. Allen inquired.

"As Commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy the President has the authority to land marines in any country," the general replied.

"Does the United States wish to civilize the Latin-American countries or does it wish to protect the Panama Canal; and if the first is true, does it intend to civilize them by occupying them with soldiers?" asked the professor.

READY TO FIGHT

"To answer your question I should have to make generalizations I do not care to make," the general said. "I don't like the tone of your questions, nor their insinuations, and I take it that you are insulting the government I represent and the uniform I wear."

"It happens that I wore the same uniform," said Prof. Allen, "and I do not mean it as an insult."

"I consider it such," said the general. "There are ladies here, but I would be glad to argue with you or have a discussion with you or have a fight with you."

How long will this energy last-

under the strain of a COUGH

On his toes—razin' to go—pep—push! Stored up energy and endurance. And yet, a 15-minute cough spasm willfully hindows weak—exhausted—unfit.

Medical science says that a spasmodic cough is more weakening than almost any form of bodily exertion. It wracks the nerves, strains the ligaments and tears at the delicate membranes of the throat. In fact, it affects almost every vital organ. Few people realize the serious effects an ordinary cough may bring. When your body is weakened and your energy and resistance is reduced, that's the time when dangerous germs make most headway.

Pertussin checks coughs quickly because it gets at the immediate cause. It relieves the cough by (1) clearing the throat of dangerous mucus; (2) soothing the irritated throat tissues; and (3) quieting the cough in a natural way without the aid of harmful drugs.

Pertussin is absolutely safe because it is a purely herbal preparation and is pleasant to take. It does not upset the stomach nor disturb digestion. Doctors in the past 25 years, have prescribed it for coughs more often than any other advertised cough remedy. Keep a bottle handy at all times. Safe for children. Ask your druggist or doctor about it.

LINCOLN TOPIC AT G.O.P. CLUB

Former Ambassador to Germany Speaks

Bismarck and Emancipator Compared by Schurman

Secretary of War Deplores Growing Need of Force

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Speaking at the forty-fourth annual Lincoln dinner of the National Republican Club tonight, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, former Ambassador to Germany and former envoy to China, declared that "wherever men struggle for human freedom and the right to govern themselves, the name of Lincoln is engraved on their hearts if not visibly inscribed upon their banners."

Describing conditions as he found them in China during his stay there, Dr. Schurman said the ideals of America and of Lincoln were the original inspiration of that republic.

CHINA REVERES LINCOLN

"In the East," he said, "the man is more than his doctrine. In the case of Lincoln, however, his personality and his teachings both combine to produce an irresistible and profound impression."

He told of Feng Yu-Hsiang, who in 1923 was military dictator of the Province of Honan, and who painted on the inner side of the wall around the city of Kai Feng, beside the main gateway, a picture of the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born and another of the White House at Washington.

Dr. Schurman contrasted Lincoln and Bismarck, the one a lover of peace, although his administration was filled with war, and the other "the inexorable champion of 'blood and iron'"—of war as an instrument of national policy.

"Lincoln's doctrine of government of the people, by the people and for the people," Dr. Schurman continued, "is the only safe foundation for states. Germany has become a republic. Lincoln has triumphed over Bismarck."

HURLEY SPEAKS

Secretary of War Hurley spoke on the achievements of the Republican party, past and present.

Deploring the "widespread disregard for law," Mr. Hurley said "law cannot be maintained by the use of force alone. I am not referring particularly to prohibition now, but to the widespread indifference on the part of individual citizens toward the observance of every fundamental law.

"The great appeals that we heard in the days of our youth for temperance, law enforcement, right thinking and right living," he continued, "seem all to be lost in the demand for the use of force.

"In addition to this, the States are constantly abdicating portions of their police power to the Federal government . . . Federal jurisdiction over crime and misdemeanors committed by the citizens of the various States is constantly increasing. This is a dangerous tendency. The power of local government should be increased rather than diminished."

FLORENCE KAHN ADDRESSES LINCOLN CLUB

PORTLAND (Me.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Republican leaders of Maine, assembled at the annual banquet of the Lincoln Club tonight to pay tribute to Abraham Lincoln, were told that the party "is again approaching a crisis in its history," and that attacks on the Eighteenth Amendment by newspapers and members of Congress are "a challenge to the Lincolnian conception of our Federal union."

Representative Florence P. Kahn, Republican of California, assailed Federal legislation as a "panacea for all ills of the body politic" and called upon Republicans to "cut away the practices and doctrines that threaten to strangle the roots of the party" as it approaches "its crisis."

Representative Carroll L. Beedy of Maine termed it "a great loss" that there is "not a Lincoln to lead the nation's fight against organized reaction." Representative government is being put "on trial" by the intensified attack by the wets, he declared.

SMOOT EULOGIZES LINCOLN IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln was observed in the Senate today with an address by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, eulogizing the Civil War President.

"Let us not tear down the temple he saved," was the plea of the Utah Senator. "Lincoln loved the whole Union, not a part of it; he loved the whole people, not a part of them. In this same spirit let us join to solve our problems."

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, followed with a query as to what chance Lincoln would have today to be named Chief Justice of the United States, "for he was a radical of his day."

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Formal launching of a program to establish Abraham Lincoln University, an international seat of learning, was announced tonight at a dinner of the Abraham Lincoln Foundation, formed for the purpose.

The foundation proposes to establish the university in Westchester county, New York, for the purpose of promoting world understanding through the education of promising youths from every nation.

Roy Curtiss, president of the foundation, announced selection of a board of trustees. Among its members are Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford University; Gov. Sampson of Kentucky, George M. Verity, business man, Middletown, O.; Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon; Gen. Jay Johnston Morrow, former Governor of the Panama Canal Zone; Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College; Jesse Grant Chapline, president of La Salle Extension University, and Dr. Eugene Randolph Smith, Brookline (Mass.) educator.

LEGGE ASKS GEORGIA TO CUT COTTON

Reduction in Acreage by Southern State Declared One Way to Aid Farmers

MILLEDGEVILLE (Ga.) Feb. 12. (AP)—Organization of farmers of the United States into co-operative growing and marketing groups and a marked reduction in cotton acreage were recommended here today by Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, in an address to the Association of Georgia Fairs.

In his first southern address as a member of the Farm Board, Mr. Legge stressed the need for a reduction of cotton acreage and urged Georgia farmers to make cotton an incidental, and not a principal crop.

"Georgia once was a great cotton State," he said, "but I cannot analyze in any way how this State can ever be a great cotton State again. Texas and Oklahoma can produce cotton without fertilizer and with much less cost than in Georgia, and, in addition, there is increased foreign production and competition from artificial cloths."

LONDON UNVEILS LINCOLN'S BUST

Work by O'Connor Placed in Busy Spot of City

Tribute Paid Emancipator During Ceremonies

British Respect for Great American Stressed

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—A bust of Abraham Lincoln, the work of Andrew O'Connor, Irish-American sculptor, who presented it to the City of London as a token of Anglo-American friendship, was unveiled at the Royal Exchange today by the Lord Mayor, Sir William Waterlow. It was formally presented to the city by the Marquis of Crewe, who acted for the Marquis of Reading, chairman of the Lincoln committee.

The bust is carved from a block of American limestone quarried near Lincoln's birthplace, and portrays the President in middle age before the Civil War.

The Lord Mayor said that Lincoln, like Shakespeare, was one to whom all nations paid tribute. Englishmen were proud of Lincoln's English ancestry, he continued, and were prouder still that the unity which by his life and death he had brought to the United States had now extended to English-speaking peoples throughout the world.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the American Ambassador, and Lord Derby were among the distinguished persons at the ceremony.

"SHALL SHAPE AND SHADOW OVERFLOW"

(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things—even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette we ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against Irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful figure.

SPUDS PUTTING ON DOG STIR IRE OF LEGISLATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Representative Snow of Maine has started protesting and he says he'll keep right on protesting till he gets Idaho potatoes off the House of Representatives restaurant menu.

Not that Representative Snow objects to the serving of Idaho potatoes. Oh, no. It's "potato propaganda," that he denounces in a loud voice.

"Several times lately," said Representative Snow, "I have found Idaho potatoes listed in red ink on our resturant menu. I am not asking that Maine potatoes be listed in red ink. I am saying that the House menu is no place for propaganda in any form, and that no variety of potato should be printed in red ink."

Snow said he made his first protest "informally," to Representative Underhill, Massachusetts, chairman of the House Accounts Committee, which has charge of printing of the restaurant menus. If the offending red entry is not omitted, he said, he will carry the matter further.

EIELSON'S HEADGEAR DISCOVERED

Finding of Part of Plane Spurs Searchers in Hunt for Flyers' Bodies

MOTORSHIP NANUK, NORTH CAPE (Siberia) Feb. 12. (AP)—The recovery today of the helmet worn by Pilot Carl Ben Eielson, American aviator lost November 9, 1929, in the wreckage of his plane ninety miles southeast of here spurred searchers to renewed activity, Pilot Joe Crosson reported after his return from the scene of the wreck.

Crosson said the workers also found a part of the cockpit today and that they expect to clear the ice and frozen snow away from all parts of the wreck within three days. He expressed confidence that the bodies of Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, will be located soon.

Eielson and Borland were attempting a flight from Teller, Alaska, to the Nanuk, a fur-trading ship icebound here when they were lost. Wreckage of their plane was found January 25, last.

The entire area was swept by storms which all but buried the wrecked craft in snow drifts and subsequent storms greatly hampered the searchers by covering much of the ground they had cleared of snow. Future progress in the search will depend in large measure on weather conditions.

ROSENBERG WALKS INTO SAN QUENTIN

Number 48111 Assigned to Convicted Briber When He Begins Serving Term

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Ed H. Rosenberg, convicted and sentenced with former Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes at Los Angeles in February, 1929, on charges of criminal conspiracy and bribery, arrived here shortly before noon today to begin his sentence of one to fourteen years.

Since his conviction Rosenberg has been in the Los Angeles County Jail awaiting determination of his appeal. The time he spent there counts nothing on his sentence. Rosenberg finally elected to enter San Quentin so that the time spent in prison, should the courts decide against him, may be credited to his sentence.

Rosenberg was smiling when he arrived at the prison gates in custody of Deputy Sheriff Cochran. He was assigned prison number 48111. Shortly after entering the gates he sat down to the prison fare of beef stew, tea, white bread and brown beans.

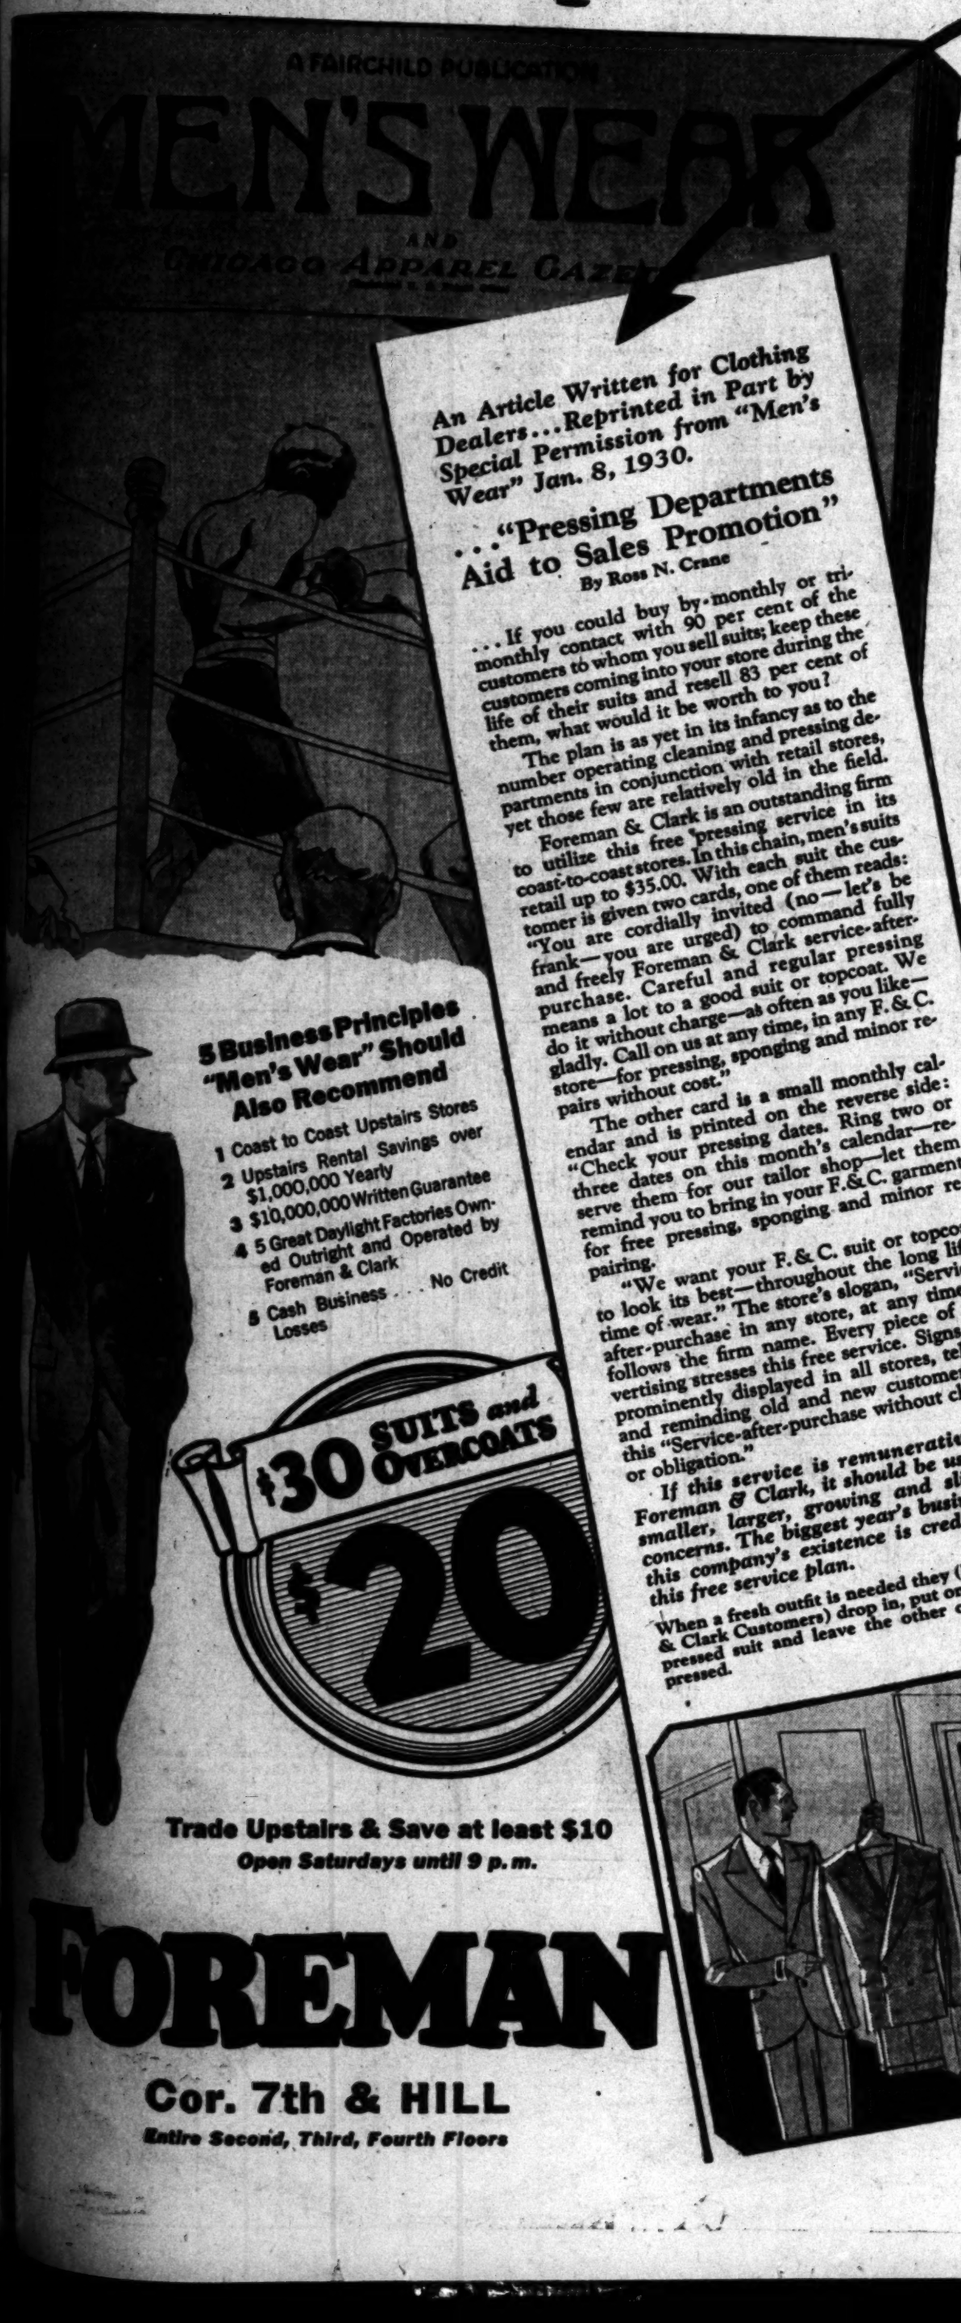
Some People Are Just Finding It Out



Read What the Magazine Authority of the Clothing Business Says about Foreman & Clark Service-After-Purchase

An Article Written for Clothing Dealers... Reprinted in Part by Special Permission from "Men's Wear" Jan. 8, 1930.

..."Pressing Departments Aid to Sales Promotion"

By Ross N. Crane

...If you could buy by-monthly or tri-monthly contact with 90 per cent of the customers to whom you sell suits; keep these customers coming into your store during the life of their suits and resell 83 per cent of them, what would it be worth to you?

The plan is as yet in its infancy as to the number operating cleaning and pressing departments in conjunction with retail stores, yet those few are relatively old in the field.

Foreman & Clark is an outstanding firm to utilize this free pressing service in its coast-to-coast stores. In this chain, men's suits retail up to $35.00. With each suit the customer is given two cards, one of them reads: "You are cordially invited (no—let's be frank—you are urged) to command fully and freely Foreman & Clark service-after-purchase. Careful and regular pressing means a lot to a good suit or topcoat. We do it without charge—as often as you like—gladly. Call on us at any time, in any F. & C. store—for pressing, sponging and minor repairs without cost."

The other card is a small monthly calendar and is printed on the reverse side: "Check your pressing dates. Ring two or three dates on this month's calendar—let us serve them for our tailor shop—let them remind you to bring in your F.&C. garment for free pressing, sponging and minor repairing.

"We want your F. & C. suit or topcoat to look its best—throughout the long life-time of wear." The store's slogan, "Service-after-purchase in any store, at any time!" follows the firm name. Every piece of advertising stresses this free service. Signs are prominently displayed in all stores, telling and reminding old and new customers of this "Service-after-purchase without charge or obligation."

If this service is remunerative for Foreman & Clark, it should be used by smaller, larger, growing and slipping concerns. The biggest year's business in this company's existence is credited to this free service plan.

When a fresh outfit is needed they (Foreman & Clark Customers) drop in, put on a neatly pressed suit and leave the other one to be pressed.

"MEN'S WEAR, a Fairchild Publication"—the official organ of the clothing business. The last word and final arbiter in styles, store management and what every clothing merchant wants to know. When "Men's Wear" speaks the clothing world listens. Unsolicited, voluntarily, in fact without our knowledge (until called to our attention) "Men's Wear" praises and recommends to other stores a service which the customer is entitled to and gets at Foreman & Clark. Free sponging, pressing and minor repairs for the life of the garment—hailed as something new, yet enjoyed by F. & C. customers for the past 20 years! Important, yes, but only one of many economies originated and nationalized by Foreman & Clark... the only upstairs clothing business in the world that has never deviated from the principles upon which it was founded.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meriem knew she had a chance to escape, if only she had cartridges for this empty revolver. A swift survey of the tent revealed a hide-covered box in one corner. She rummaged hastily through it but at first found only odds and ends of the Swede's belongings. Then at the very bottom, wrapped in musty paper, she came upon a little carton containing ammunition belonging to the weapon she had taken from Malbihn.

Her search rewarded, Meriem turned to flee from the tent. Lying uppermost upon a little pile of newspaper clippings yellowed by age and handling, something arrested her attention as abruptly as though Fate itself had placed the thing before the girl's eyes. It was the photograph of a little girl. Meriem examined the string-tied packet curiously. Where had she seen that picture before? Suddenly it came to her.

This was a picture of herself as she had been years and years before. Where had it been taken? How came the Swede to have it? Why was it also reproduced in the old newspaper clipping attached to it? What was the story the faded type told? Absorbed in this puzzling reflection she was startled by a noise outside. Hastily slipping cartridges into the revolver and tucking the packet into her blouse, she crawled forth into the underbrush.

Staggering through the jungle, the once fastidious and handsome Morison Baynes doggedly made his way, followed by his native attendant. Though he did not know it, he had about reached the Swede's camp. His face and hands were badly scratched, his clothes were tattered and he almost fell from exhaustion, yet remorse for his scurvy act and an honorable desire to right the wrong done the woman he now knew he really loved, urged him on.

FIRE STATION ON WRONG LOT

Fortunately for San Fernando City Officials All Parties Were Amenable to Reason When Mistake in Location Was Discovered, So All's Well

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 12.—Luckily for city officials here, all parties were agreeable when it was discovered that the building to house one of the city's fire trucks on Celis street had been put up on the wrong lot. Officials blamed the mistake on the "thirteen" jinx, since the lease was signed on January 13, last.

Negotiations were completed for leasing Lot No. 17 in a certain block on Celis street. When the building was finished it was found to be on Lot No. 18. A hurried conference was held with the owners of the two lots. Owner of No. 17 agreed to cancellation of the lease. Owner of No. 18 was willing to lease his property for the same amount his neighbor asked, so the City Council completed negotiations and the engine house is on a lot offside but housing the fire truck just the same.

TEST BY BLOOD SOUGHT

Believed First Case of Kind in County's History, Permission Asked to Decide Paternity

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 12.—Believed the first case of its kind in the county's court history, Attorney Joseph Seymour has asked the Superior Court for an order to permit a blood test to determine the paternity of a child, assertedly born out of wedlock, for whose support its mother is suing Louis Buyer of Riverside.

Buyer today pleaded not guilty to a charge of having to provide for the child and the case was continued until the 25th inst. for further hearing. At this time it is expected Superior Judge Morton, before whom Buyer was arraigned, will rule on Seymour's motion for the test.

The attorney told the court he wants samples of the blood of both the child and the asserted father for testing. He was not prepared to say whether the mother must consent to the examination nor as to whether she is willing to submit the child's blood to the microscopic inspection.

Seymour declared that Buyer refuses to provide for the child because it is not his. The child now is between 4 and 5 months of age.

According to the defense attorney, the mother, a San Diego girl, appealed to San Diego county authorities for a warrant for Buyer's arrest on the failure-to-provide charge, but was refused. She is said to have been successful in obtaining a warrant from the Riverside County Prosecutor's office and Buyer was jailed.

According to Dist.-Atty. Ford, who issued the complaint against Buyer, the father of an illegitimate child is, under California law, responsible for its welfare if its paternity can be established. A few such cases have gone through the local courts in the past but the parentage has been admitted in most cases and the fact that the child was born out of wedlock was not developed in trials.

Mgr. Fitzgerald Successor at Redlands Named

REDLANDS, Feb. 12.—The new pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, succeeding the late Mgr. T. J. Fitzgerald, is Rev. Father Lawrence Forrestal, now of Escondido. Father Forrestal has received notice from the office of Rt. Rev. Bishop John J. Cantwell that he is to take charge here. For two years he has been pastor of St. Mary's Church, Escondido.

The new pastor is expected to arrive here Thursday afternoon. Rev. Father John Rudden will remain here as assistant. He has been acting as administrator of the parish since the death of Mgr. Fitzgerald.

Father Forrestal received his training for the priesthood in the same university from which Mgr. Fitzgerald graduated, the University of Maynooth, in Ireland. In his final year he removed to St. Columbia's, Dalgan Park, county Galway, headquarters of the Maynooth Mission to China. He was ordained in 1919.

After completing his studies at Dalgan Park, Father Forrestal for the next four year taught theology there. When his health failed he came to the United States. He served for some time as assistant pastor at St. George's Church, Onario.

Father Forrestal has a reputation as a linguist, having specialized in the eastern languages. His successor at Escondido will be Rev. Father Charles Carroll, now at St. Aloysius Church, Los Angeles.

NEWSPAPER GROUP IN LOMA LINDA MEETING

LOMA LINDA, Feb. 12.—Newspaper men and women of the San Bernardino Valley gathered here last night and heard C. G. Bodni of San Bernardino speak on newspaper costs. Milton Standish introduced the speaker and Paul W. Moore, president of the county association, presided. Miss Edith Allen, manager of the Los Angeles office of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association, also spoke. The next meeting will be held at the University of Redlands, with Prof. L. E. Mitchell, publicity director, in charge.

DRILLERS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Inglewood Man Asks for $10,000 Judgment Against Oil Companies in Field

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 12.—In a complaint filed in Superior Court A. D. MacLeod, 209 North Hillcrest Boulevard, is seeking judgment for $10,000 and costs from oil corporations, companies and individuals operating in the east side town-lot field of Inglewood, where drilling has been in progress several months.

MacLeod, who owns a $20,000 home on Hillcrest, contends his property has substantially depreciated in value as a result of oil drilling on property contiguous to him, and that his house is in a district restricted for residence purposes. The action is instituted against Midland Petroleum Company, George F. Getty, Inc.; Cypress Petroleum Company of California, Sunset Pacific Oil Company, Whittier Potrero Oil Company, Richfield Oil Company, Globe Lease and Royalty Company, York Smullin Oil Company, Hugh Grant, W. P. Boardman, R. W. Blanchard, H. K. Bachelder, Max Pray, C. W. Murphy and others.

The complaint sets forth that the unsightly derricks, the noises and smells, the tanks, boilers, rigs, and other machinery and equipment, have encroached on the value of his property and damaged it to the extent of $10,000. The question involved is one which has caused much discussion in this city as the oil activities here have been centered in the heart of one of Inglewood's most desirable residential districts. Delmar H. Doddridge is attorney for the plaintiff.

Patent Paving Plan Abandoned Due to Protest

BURBANK, Feb. 12.—Recognizing a protest petition, said to represent 49 per cent of the assessment district, the City Council last night decided to abandon plans to improve Olive avenue with a patented-type pavement and ordered the City Engineer to draw new plans and specifications for the pavement of the street with cement concrete. Property owners had instituted proceedings to throw out the original plans. It was reported by the City Engineer that petitions for the concrete pavement covered 62 per cent of the district.

For ten years the improvement of Olive avenue extending from the Southern Pacific tracks in the center of the city to Dark Canyon bridge has been the subject of heated controversy here. At the conclusion of the meeting last night it was the concensus of the large number present that the improvement as ordered would not meet any further delays. According to the plans the street will be paved sixty-eight feet from curb to curb on a large portion of its three-mile length with a fifty-eight-foot width being used in some sections. Provisions for flood water drainage are also included in the specifications.

MOTORISTS WARNED AGAINST SPEEDING

MONTEBELLO, Feb. 12.—Driving automobiles more than thirty miles an hour in any residence district in this city will bring grief to the motorist, according to announcement made by Chief of Police Maxwell. Similar action will be taken by the authorities in all parts of the Los Angeles metropolitan district, following a decision reached at a recent meeting of the Los Angeles district traffic committee, composed of officials entrusted with the enforcement of traffic laws.

This action is in keeping with the general effort being made to reduce casualties and fatalities in all Los Angeles county. A gain of 32 per cent is noted in traffic deaths for the first eleven months of the year over the same period last year. It is believed that driving too fast in limited zones is responsible for a large part of this increase and enforcement officers have determined to end this practice on the part of motorists who do not only endanger themselves but careful drivers on the highway as well.

ELKS PLAN SHOW

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 12.—A merchants' and manufacturers' exposition will be staged here April 15 to 19 by the San Fernando Valley Elks' lodge in an effort to obtain $15,000 with which to furnish the proposed new $50,000 clubhouse to be erected here soon.

INQUIRY REVIVED IN OLD SHOOTING

New Investigation Starts in Death of Army Man

Retired Officer's Widow and Her Mother Quizzed

Undersheriff Takes Them to Scene of Tragic Death

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12.—The mystery of how Thomas J. Wasson, 28 years of age, retired army officer, was shot twice in the back and died on a lonely ranch six miles southwest of Alpine last October was revived today when the Sheriff's office held Wasson's widow and her mother for questioning.

The two women, brought here from Bakersfield, were taken to the ranch this afternoon in company with Undersheriff Oliver Sexton, Deputy Sheriff O. O. Macumber and Dep. Dist.-Atty. J. H. McKinney.

This was the first thing to suggest possibility of prosecution growing out of Wasson's death. At the time, Coroner S. C. Kelley investigated without inquest and reached the conclusion the shooting had been accidental.

Attention of the Sheriff was drawn again to the case a month afterward through some clew obtained by Macumber, formerly a government secret service operative, which was not divulged. The clew may or may not become known, according to results of the concluding investigation, the officer indicated.

BOND ISSUE FAVORED BY CHINO FOLK

Mass Meeting Sentiment Strong for Proposed New Gym and Plunge

CHINO, Feb. 12.—A bond issue of $55,000 will be placed before the voters here Friday, March 28, to provide a gymnasium and plunge at the high school. Decision to call the election was made by the Board of Education last night following a mass meeting of 600 property owners of the community at the high school.

Sentiment of the mass meeting was strongly in favor of the bond issue and the gathering went on record recommending that the board call the election. Superintendent of Schools Leonard Collins at once called a meeting of the board of directors who voted unanimously in favor of the bond issue and fixed the date.

Lack of a gymnasium and plunge has handicapped the high school in its program of physical education. Basketball teams and other gymnasium groups were forced to travel to Ontario to use Chaffey gym or go to Pomona for its high-school facilities.

Police Station Plans Complete

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 15.—Plans and specifications for the new police station to be erected just west of the City Hall on Mission street have been completed and the question as to the necessity of publicly advertising for bids is being considered by the City Council, Frank Clough, City Engineer, announced today. City Manager O. S. Roen was authorized to start construction of the police station four months ago, and for this reason it is uncertain as to whether advertising for bids is required.

Store buildings purchased recently by the city for $15,000 will be partly torn down and remodeled to provide adequate police and jail quarters. At the present time the police department is occupying a single room in the City Hall and there are no locker rooms for patrolmen or private conference room for Chief of Police Frank Higgins.

BROTHER JAILS DRUNK

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 12.—A brother's plea sent William Lane of this city to jail for twenty days yesterday on a charge of intoxication. His brother asked Police Judge Spencer to impose the jail sentence rather than a fine, expressing the hope it would serve as a lesson.

Eight-ton granite marker set up recently at Ontario to show where Don Juan Bautista de Anza and his party stopped to rest on their historic journey from Old Mexico to Monterey in California, blazing a king's highway overland. Ontario Boy Scouts had a large part in procuring the stone and in presenting a colorful pageant, recalling the coming of De Anza.

COMPANION GETS SHARE IN ESTATE

Senora De Moraga's Will Bequeaths Life Use of Home to Doraliza Lugo

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 12.—Nineteen persons, including a lifelong companion and a prominent local attorney, were named beneficiaries in the will of the late Adelaide C. De Moraga, filed with County Clerk Frank Hunt yesterday. The major portion of the estate goes to Doraliza Lugo, who had been a companion to the deceased for more than sixty years.

In addition to being given the use of her home for the remainder of her life, Doraliza Lugo received $10,000 and property at 1015 Anacapa street. The will provides that the executors of the estate can sell the home after one year if they deem it advisable, giving one-half the proceeds to Doraliza Lugo and dividing the remaining one-half between Frank and Carmen Camarillo, Rose Pelt, C. Fitzgerald and Isbel C. Burkett, all nephews and nieces of the deceased.

The attorney named in the will, Fred H. Schauer, was bequeathed $1500. He was named as one of the executors of the estate, along with the brother of the dead woman, Adolpho Camarillo, of Camarillo.

The Church of Our Lady of Sorrows was given $1000 with the request that masses be said for the repose of the soul of the dead woman and and her husband, who died several years ago.

Others, all relatives, named in the will and the amounts they are to receive are Adolpho Camarillo, $1500; Natalia Oglesby, $1000; Magdalena Moraga, $1000; C. Jerman, $1000 and property; Martina Lomas, $1000; Asiles C. De Ballard, $500; Adella Arnaz, $1000; James Arnaz, $1000; Eliverto Arnaz, $500; Julia Mahoney, $1000, and Tadeo Mahoney, $1000.

'Corpse' Seen by Milkman 'Dream'

WEST LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—Belief that a milkman's report of a corpse in a coupe parked overnight near National and Centinela boulevards, both the corpse and coupe assertedly vanishing mysteriously, was discredited here today when Detective Lieutenants Wilson and Sketchley, working on the case under Capt. Spencer, wrote "case closed" on their reports for the official files.

A coupe similar to the "mystery car" was investigated on the night named in the milkman's belated report, the detectives found, and was moved to one side of the road because it was a menace to traffic, having broken down. Police officers turned on the headlights as a warning to passing vehicles. There were no signs of blood or violence in the coupe, though the milkman had declared the corpse revealed by his headlights, as he made his rounds in the dark hours, was covered with blood.

SAN DIEGANS BACK FROM MEXICO TRIP

Wonderful Welcome Given Excursionists, Report Made on Return Home

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12.—After a 4500-mile journey, most of which was in a foreign land and marked by receptions in every city visited, the local Chamber of Commerce excursion to Mexico City, returned home at noon today over the San Diego and Arizona.

Apparently voicing the sentiments of everyone who made the journey, John F. Forward, Jr., said:

"The welcome we received from the time we left here was wonderful and far more enthusiastic than we expected. There wasn't a single discourteay reported, and we're already planning for an excursion over the same route next year.

"The attempt to assassinate President Ortiz Rubio failed to stir Mexico City in the least. The capital was just as calm as if nothing had happened. Great things may be expected of Mexico while Ortiz Rubio is in office. He seems to have the confidence of the entire country. We hope at least 150 persons will make the trip next year."

Six members of the party which left here more than two weeks ago to attend the inauguration of Ortiz Rubio and spread the good will of San Diego throughout Mexico, decided to extend their stay in the foreign land. They are David Ryan, R. S. Requa, M. P. Sessions, Mrs. W. S. Dorland, Enrique Ferriera, Mexican Consul at San Diego, and Maj. J. H. San Juan.

Low Bids Admits of More Work

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 12.—Because of the low bid received for the dredging of the entrance to Newport Harbor, City Engineer Patterson announced that No. 2 groin can be made fifty feet longer than was expected. This bid allows for the removal of 590,000 cubic yards of sand from the entrance instead of 450,000 as was at first estimated. The sand will be dumped on the west side of the west jetty.

Several months ago a bond issue for $200,000 was voted, but the bid for dredging the entrance and the building of two groins on the west end amounts to less than $150,000. The Standard Dredging Company of San Francisco has the contract. Work on the construction of the groins is progressing rapidly and on March 1, dredging operations are to begin.

Athletic Field Plan Considered

GLENDALE, Feb. 12.—The City Planning Commission is considering tentative plans presented by J. D. Strickland, formerly of Phoenix, Ariz., for the establishment of a race track and athletic field on land adjacent to Griffith Park, between Western avenue and Irving street, close to Riverside Drive.

Strickland, who is said to have managed sporting events in Arizona, proposes to lay out a recreation ground suitable for athletic meets of all kinds, if arrangements can be made with the commission.

San Bernardino School Head to Take New Post

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 12.—C. R. Holbrook, superintendent of schools here seven years and widely known throughout California as an educator, last night resigned to become superintendent of the Santa Cruz city schools.

Holbrook informed the board of education that he desired to make the change to permit him to continue his postgraduate education at Stanford University, near Santa Cruz, and was granted permission to accept the northern post, although his contract here would not have expired until 1932. He was also granted thirty days' leave of absence, effective immediately.

Holbrook is known to educators and legislators for his fight on the existing method of apportioning State school funds, which he holds is inequitable in that the smaller districts suffer. He came to this city from Arizona in 1923.

Beach Kiddies to Have Music With Lunches

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12. A public address system costing $6000, has been installed in the elementary school of this city, to be used for announcements to teachers in all or any one of the fifty-five rooms in the three buildings of the plant, reproducing of record music to the rooms; radio amplification of public addresses or music. In event of fire, all children could be warned instantly. There are two amplifying horns in the cafeteria and music is broadcast during lunch.

LETTUCE PACK HIT BY STRIKE

Skilled Workers Quit When Wage Rise Refused

Operators Declare Proposed Rate Would be Excessive

Workers' Industrial League Thought Back of Move

EL CENTRO, Feb. 12.—Approximately 400 skilled lettuce pickers employed in El Centro, Calexico and Holtville left their work this morning when employers refused to grant a demand for higher wages. Today's walkout is believed to have been the result of a meeting held here Monday night when a small group of workers met and agreed to ask for a wage of $3 an hour or 5 cents a crate for packing. The prevailing scale has been 75 cents an hour or 3 3-4 to 4 cents a crate.

Pack shed operators declare that the proposed rate is excessive in view of the declining market value of the lettuce crop, which now is nearing the peak. Some unskilled workers were employed this morning and few of the strikers have returned to work, it was reported at the sheds this afternoon.

Large numbers of the packers loitered around the lettuce sheds early this morning, but many of them left for Mexicali later in the day. No trouble was reported.

Representatives of the Agricultural Workers' Industrial League have been active in the valley recently, attempting to stir trouble among the workers and then recently issued a general strike order which failed, as far as field workers are concerned.

Superior Court Appellate Body Speeds Justice

GLENDALE, Feb. 12.—Facilities provided by the appellate department of the Superior Court for speeding up the settlement of cases brought before this tribunal have worked to prevent the escape, in many instances, of criminals from justice, Judge Edward P. Bishop of the Appellate Bench told the Glendale Bar Association at its meeting last night. Judges Hartley Shaw and Victor R. McLucas, the two other Appellate judges, were also present at the dinner.

Another factor that permits more rapid decisions in cases brought before the court is the policy of settling the cases on their merits and ignoring technicalities, Judge Bishop declared.

Justice Charles R. Dyer, Montrose, last night was inducted into office as president of the local association, and other officers who were installed were: C. H. Hasbrouck, vice-president; W. Claire Anspach, second vice-president; Aubrey R. Irwin, secretary-treasurer, and Bert P. Woodard, trustee.

Mother and Her Babe Thought to be With Friends

ANAHEIM, Feb. 12.—Belief that Mrs. A. D. Huntley and her infant child, reported missing yesterday at Brea, are safe with friends at Downey was expressed here today by Mrs. T. B. Karcher.

Mrs. Karcher reported to the police that she picked up a woman answering Mrs. Huntley's description and took her and a babe in arms to Downey. The woman had left the home of relatives in Brea, where she had participated in a quarrel, she said. Her husband was at Bellflower at the time Mrs. Huntley was reported missing. He has three brothers residing there. The Brea police, American Legion and Boy Scouts were unable yesterday to find any clews.

Crown City Chest Workers Half Through

PASADENA, Feb. 12.—With $163,147 pledged, Community Chest workers this afternoon passed the half-way mark in their campaign to obtain the 1930 quota of $285,894. The army of workers must still collect $122,737 to reach their goal.

Division Six, headed by Mrs. Arthur P. Will, led all divisions today with 77 per cent of its quota already subscribed.

Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller, Mrs. Leo G. McLaughlin, president of the local Y.W.C.A., and John A. Sexson, school superintendent, addressed the 350 volunteer solicitors today at a campaign luncheon held in the Masonic Temple.

Action on New Insane Hospital Follows Kick About Juvenile Prison in Valley

Six hundred local property owners last night voted [illegible] location of a State hospital for the insane within [illegible] of this city. Similar action was taken recently [illegible] state prison in Chino Valley.

[illegible] was a site here for a juvenile prison, a delegation of the citizens called on him with a request to reconsider and build the prison elsewhere. This the Governor agreed to and said that no objectionable institutions would be erected in the valley. A committee will be named to forward the sentiment of the mass meeting on the hospital project.

HASTE LEADS TO DEATH

Boy Killed, Companion Hurt; Motorcycle Speeded Up When Freight Passes, Hit by Another Train

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 12.—Youth's impulsiveness for a spectacular getaway on a motorcycle brought death to its driver, Charles Morrell, 16-year-old La Cumbre Junior High School student, and injuries to his companion, Robert Pico, 16, also a student, early this morning when they started a dash across the Micheltorena street crossing after a freight train had passed, only to be caught by an approaching Southern Pacific southbound passenger train.

Morrell and his machine were ground under the wheels of the train. Pico was thrown clear. He received a broken arm and severe face bruises.

The two boys were in a hurry to get to school and stopped at the crossing as the long freight was passing. According to eyewitnesses, Morrell started his machine across the tracks just as the caboose of the north-bound freight passed. The passenger train struck the front part of the motorcycle throwing Pico, who was riding on the carrier, away from the tracks and catapulting Morrell under the wheels.

An inquest will be held by Coroner Dodge tomorrow afternoon in Holland's funeral chapel. The youth is the son of Mrs. John Morrell of Goleta.

Pico was taken to the Cottage Hospital where he was given first aid and his arm set. This is the second fatal accident at that crossing in eighteen months.

FOG BLAMED FOR CRASH; TWO PERSONS INJURED

ANAHEIM, Feb. 12.—G. W. Stewart of Huntington Beach lies critically injured in the General Hospital here and Miss Patay Prather of Santa Fe Springs is in the Anaheim Sanitarium less seriously hurt as the result of a traffic crash three miles northwest of here last night.

Stewart, who is suffering from a fractured skull and possible internal injuries, is still unconscious, and attending physicians give him little hope for recovery. The Stewart car is said to have crashed into one driven by James M. Hendrix of Santa Fe Springs. Fog was blamed for the mishap. Hendrix was not injured, according to the police.

NO THRONGS IN AIR LANES

Planes Will Never Become as Common as Motor Cars; Manufacturing Costs Too High, Expert Says

PASADENA, Feb. 12.—Airplanes never will become as common as automobiles because their manufacturing costs are virtually ten times greater, according to Dr. Arthur L. Klein, assistant professor of aeronautics at California Institute of Technology.

In discussing the future of the airplane industry today Dr. Klein asserted that increases in manufacturing costs are due to the great demand for fine raw materials and expert workmanship.

The California Institute authority questioned the wisdom of teaching aeronautics in high schools on the ground that the supply of aeronautical experts is greater than the demand, and because at least six years of technical training in addition to a regular college course are said to be necessary.

"Higher institutions for technical training, such as this institute, now are being crowded with the cream of the young men who can qualify for the aeronautics industry," he declared. "Designing of planes is a tremendous expense to be dealt with. It is said that in other lines of manufacture a number of men are required to keep one designer busy, but in the airplane industry the case is exactly the reverse. The trend of design in the future will be in the direction of larger and consequently safer ships."

TENOR OF TRADE SURVEY BULLISH

Investment Bank Reports on Far-Flung Inquiry

Large Majority of Replies Forecast Increase

Small Per Cent Pessimistic Over 1930 Outlook

Increased sales with prices generally holding to the same level as prevailed in 1929 are forecast for the current year in answers to 5000 questionnaires directed to every State and covering every line of business, according to a survey of business conditions just completed by George H. Burr & Co. The results of the extensive survey are given in a compilation expressed in terms of per cent showing the answers under five general classifications, namely, sales, collections and prices in 1929, and forecasts of sales and of prices for 1930.

The Pacific Coast territory revealed 59 per cent of the replies showing an increase in sales for 1929 over 1928, the average increase being 11 per cent, while of the 41 per cent reporting decreases in sales for 1929 as compared with 1928 the average percentage of decrease is 7.

COAST RESPONDS

As to the forecast of 1930 sales, Pacific Coast reports show 59 per cent expecting increases, 26 per cent anticipating the same as in 1929, and 15 per cent figuring on decreases. Eighty-five per cent of the Pacific Coast reports indicate that 1930 prices would remain the same as 1929, with 6 per cent expecting higher prices and 9 per cent lower prices.

Reports from all sections of the United States as to the forecast on 1930 sales place 61 per cent as expecting increases, 17 per cent counting on the same as 1929, and 22 per cent anticipating decreases. In comparison of 1929 and 1928 sales, the reports from all sections show 58 per cent reporting increases with an average increase of 13 per cent, while 41 per cent reporting decreases show an average decrease of 9 per cent.

Fifty-nine per cent of the Pacific Coast replied reveal 1929 collections as good while the balance report collections as fair. This compares with the reports from all sections showing 54 per cent reporting collections for 1929 as good, 41 per cent as fair and 5 per cent as slow.

CHAINS FEATURE

A striking feature of the survey is the revelation that all the chain-store companies answering the questionnaire look for an increase in sales during the present year, and that five of the seven chain-store classifications expect that prices will remain the same as in 1929. The two exceptions were the clothing line, in which responses are divided evenly between maintenance of 1929 prices and a lowering of prices for 1930, and in the shoe store business, where 75 per cent are forecasts of unchanged prices and 25 per cent of lower prices. In the chain-store field as a whole no expectations of higher prices are voiced.

In only four lines of trade out of twenty-nine analyzed do less than half the answers indicate expectations of a decrease in sales during 1930. In the hosiery business 90 per cent expect an increase in sales; in the department-store field 62 per cent; automobile accessories, 84 per cent, and agricultural implements 64 per cent.

In no line of business surveyed do a majority forecast higher prices for 1930 as compared with 1929. In this respect the most optimistic section is the Southwest, where 13 per cent of the responses to the questionnaire predict a higher level for 1930 and none expect lower prices.

METHOD OF FINANCING CHANGING

Switch from Stocks to Bonds Reported Since End of Bull Market

New trends in corporate financing, or more accurately a reversion to methods in vogue before the last year of the recent bull market, are apparent in a comparison of financing in January, 1930, with the similar month of 1929, according to figures just made public by the Standard Statistics Company of New York.

The switch from stocks to bonds is the most readily apparent change, next to the diminution in total financing. The total for the 1929 period was $1,218,800,000, whereas the first month this year it was $764,300,000 or only a little more than one-half. Examination of the details shows that this reduction was wholly in the common and preferred stocks, the bonds actually showing a gain from $329,600,000 in January, 1929, to $823,300,000 in the 1930 period.

Considering the decrease from another angle, the greater part of it was in what might be called "non-productive" financing, that of banks, insurance companies, holding companies and investment trusts. Financing of operating and producing corporations actually showed a gain this year, the figures being $571,600,000 for January, 1930, against $569,200,000 for the 1929 month. Detailed figures follow:

Net Income of Trade Credits Unit Increases

Consolidated net profits of the Commercial Credit Company and subsidiaries for 1929 reached a total of $6,254,142, after all charges, equivalent after deducting a small minority interest and all preferred dividends, to $4.48 a share on 1,003,684 average no-par common shares outstanding during the year, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

This compares with a net income reported for 1928, of $4,132,391, after all charges, equal after preferred dividends to $4.01 a share on 691,407 average no-par common shares then outstanding, and $3.58 a share on 774,231 common shares outstanding at the close of the year. This represents an increase of $2,121,751, or about 50 per cent.

The consolidated income for 1929 showed that interest and discount charges, including subsidiaries, were earned 2.09 times; dividends on all issues of preferred stock, including subsidiaries, 3.56 times. Dividends on 6 1-2 per cent and 7 per cent first preferred stocks of the Commercial Credit Company were earned 7.51 times.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 9

Two of the terms used in the income-tax law, namely, "gross income" and "net income," should be noted particularly, inasmuch as they are vitally important to the whole subject of the income tax.

All income derived from any source whatever, unless exempt from tax by law, should be included in gross income. The gross income of the usual merchandising or mercantile business consists of the total sales, less the cost of goods sold, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. Subtractions should not be made for selling expenses, depreciation, losses, or other items not ordinarily used in computing the cost of goods sold.

For example, if the gross sales were $50,000, the cost of goods sold $35,000, and the business expenses, etc., $12,000, the statutory gross income is $15,000 and the net income is $3000. In this case, if the taxpayer was married and living with his wife, he would be required to file a return, although his net income is only $3000. The return must show the gross sales, purchases and cost of goods sold. To reflect income correctly, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

A lawyer, doctor, architect, author, clergyman or other professional man must include in gross income all fees, salaries and compensation for professional services.

The revenue act provides that certain items shall be excluded from gross income and shall not be subject to the income tax. Among such items are proceeds from life-insurance policies, gifts, bequests and devises, interest from municipal bonds, etc., damages recovered from personal injuries or sickness, World War compensation payments, pensions for the services of the beneficiary or another, interest or dividends of not over $300 from a building and loan association, and rental value of a gospel minister's dwelling. Other items to be excluded from gross income are alimony, notary fees, city jury fees, salary credited to an employee but not actually or constructively received by him, or an insurance policy covering the death of a business partner.

BRANCH BANKING PRAISED

J. F. Sartori, in Article for Canadian Journal, Points to California as Example; Congress Takes Hand

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Branch bankers are rallying their forces to meet the forthcoming investigation by the Congressional Banking Committee. One of the first to take the field in support of the branch system of banking is J. F. Sartori, president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, who has written an interesting article for the Monetary Times of Toronto, one of the leading Canadian financial journals.

Unit banking, branch banking and group banking are coming up for trial before the Congressional committee, and Mr. Sartori's purpose, in response to the request from the Monetary Times is to acquaint the Canadians with the progress of branch banking in California. He is definitely on the side of the branch system, as he states in the article, and contends that it is to be preferred to group or chain banking.

EFFICIENCY CLAIMED

"The rapid and extensive development of group or chain banking in the United States," Mr. Sartori writes, "is regarded by many as a move in anticipation of the change in the national banking laws which will permit branch banking in the national system on a nation-wide scale or perhaps, within the limits of a Federal Reserve district. The situation created by the extensive chain and group systems is a very interesting one, in that it has led to the conclusion on the part of many that the choice is no longer between branch banking and unit banking, but rather between branch banking and group or chain banking.

"The prevailing opinion, I think, is to the effect that branch banking is to be preferred to group banking because it can be operated at less cost and much more efficiently."

Mr. Sartori does not commit himself on the question of extending branch banking beyond State-wide limits, but he does emphasize the merits of the branch system as compared with the unit or independent bank. In this connection it is reported from Washington that the forthcoming investigation is expected to produce some discouraging statistics on losses and failures from unit-bank operation.

"Gradually, the conviction seems to be growing," Mr. Sartori observes, "that branch banking is not, after all, un-American and that certainly there is in it a greater prospect of safety to the depositor than the thousands of small and poorly managed banks scattered throughout the United States.

"The result of the numerous failures of unit banks has been disturbing to those who have proclaimed the unit system as the bulwark of American economic life, and much has been written and much more spoken on the need of the unit-banking system improving itself or being swept away by branch banking.

CALIFORNIA EXAMPLE

"It is unnecessary for me to say, of course, that there are many excellently managed unit banks in this country, or that banking situation, as a whole, is sound, but the people do not seem to be satisfied with the existing type of unit banks. I think it may be claimed that the successful operation of branch banking in California over a considerable period of years has been an excellent object lesson to the rest of the country."

Commenting on the change in sentiment in the United States, he states in the article: "It is a striking reversal of form on the part of the Comptroller of Currency to find that the present comptroller, in contrast to the comptroller in office in 1927, is advocating the extension of branch banking rights to national banks in order to strengthen the national system in its competition with State banks . . . The McFadden bill does not seem to have accomplished the desired results. The comptroller, therefore, is advocating a wider extension of branch-banking rights and expressed himself, in his address at the San Francisco convention, as being in favor at least of an investigation to determine certain economic areas within which branch banking might, in the national system, properly be established."

Ivey to Attend Parley in East

Herbert D. Ivey, president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank and the Citizens' National Company of Los Angeles, will leave today to attend the annual gathering of the trust company division of the American Bankers' Association at New York, opening the 20th inst.

Mr. Ivey will also visit several of the other principal cities of the East, including Chicago, Detroit, Boston and Washington, on business connected with the bank. He also expects to contact on this trip a number of bankers and business leaders of his acquaintance.

BROKER ASSOCIATION HELD TO BE SUCCESS

After three months' trial the California Brokers' Association, composed of brokers not affiliated with stock exchanges, is a pronounced success, according to reports received by H. A. I. Wolch, assistant Commissioner of Corporations, who took an active part in bringing the association into existence. Mr. Wolch stated yesterday that the organization is co-operating closely with the State Corporation Department and has already in one instance ousted one of its own members after investigating alleged unethical practices referred to it by the department.

NEW EDISON BOND ISSUE AUTHORIZED

Company to Distribute $5,000,000 of Series by Own Department

Southern California Edison Company's refunding mortgage gold bonds, series 5s, due in 1954, in the amount of $5,000,000, will be made available immediately, according to an announcement made yesterday by R. H. Ballard, president of the company, following information that the proposed issue had received the approval of the State Railroad Commission.

No syndicate or underwriting will be employed in the distribution of these bonds, Mr. Ballard said. They will be marketed locally by the Edison Company's investment department in the same way as the company's stock. This department has recently completed the sale of $2,000,000 of similar bonds by this method of day-by-day over-the-counter sales, Mr. Ballard explained.

"Money realized from the sale of these bonds will be applied to our construction budget of $23,601,058 for the extension of distribution facilities to care for the great amount of new business in prospect," Mr. Ballard stated.

"We are planning to increase our total consumers' connected load 15 per cent during 1930 and, while the year has barely started, we are convinced that our goal will be attained," he added.

Ticker Tales Heard in Wall Street Rounds

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (Exclusive) While the earnings of the carriers for the first month of 1930 are expected to reveal a drop from the returns reported for January last year, sight must not be lost of the fact that the roads at once put their houses in order when indications first pointed to a decline of revenues. Expenditures of most roads have been cut in proportion to the falling off in gross receipts. As a result the showing for last month is not going to be anywhere near as bad as was at first believed. January, however, is past. The rail executives are looking forward to considerable improvement in general business conditions. In fact, there are definite signs in increasing employment and improvement elsewhere.

The splendid report of Deere & Co. rendered a while ago resulted in considerable attention being attracted to the farm implement stocks. Now comes a Washington dispatch to the effect that the exports of agricultural implements from this country last year established a new high record, accounting for about 20 per cent of the total production by domestic manufacturers. Despite the recent drop in commodity prices there are those who believe that the improved conditions along other lines in the agricultural centers of the country are such as to justify the belief that 1930 will prove a satisfactory year for the implement makers.

A fair index of the volume of business done by some companies during the first month of this year was found in the sales report of F. W. Woolworth & Co., which showed an increase of 4.24 per cent in January over the same month a year ago. For many years the stock has sold at a high ratio of price to earnings and, although the November collapse resulted in a downward readjustment of sentiment, with regard to this rule, interests long bullish on Woolworth maintain that it is headed for higher levels.

In the railroad section Southern Railway continues to sell close to the year's high. Although earnings last year were under those for 1928, the management demonstrated its ability to keep transportation costs well in hand. Heavy increases were made in maintenance appropriations, but nevertheless the final showing revealed that the dividend requirements in 1929 were earned by a comfortable margin. A real comeback has been staged by Southern and a revival of business activity in the territory served will be reflected in earnings reports.

The leadership set by United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel in rendering highly satisfactory reports for 1929 has been followed by many of the other independents including Crucible Steel, McKeesport Tin Plate and others. While these, of course, represent results from operations now passed into history they show that even with the drastic slowing up in the closing months of 1929, the year on the whole was a profitable one. Results so far this year have been above early expectations and, although the first quarter is still rather young, it may be that it will be favorably comparable with other similar periods.

MARKETS CLOSED

Stock and commodity markets as well as banks throughout the United States were closed yesterday in observance of Lincoln's Birthday.

Great Republic Reports Increase in Assets for Year as $406,439

Great Republic Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles in its annual report for the year ended December 31, last, which was issued yesterday, showed a gain of $406,439.96 in its admitted assets, bringing the total up to $4,986,536.77. Within the past six years the assets of the company have more than doubled and during the same period the volume of insurance in force has gained $12,782,443, the total at the end of 1929 being $37,103,198.

Total income for 1929 was $1,392,617.39, of which $1,064,200.78 was premium income. The increase in income as compared with the total for the previous year was $94,825.27. The mortality experience for 1929, actual to be expected, was 70.6 per cent, which compares with 40.6 per cent for 1928.

While the company experienced several years ago a much higher mortality rate than that recorded last year, the volume of death claims in 1929 was the largest in the history of the company, amounting to $289,448.42, or an increase of $110,463.77 as compared with the previous year. Accidental death led in the classification of claims by causes, with heart disease a close second.

At the annual meeting of stockholders and directors, which was held the 11th inst., the board of directors and officers were re-elected, as follows: President, A. Otis Birch; first vice-president and agency director, W. H. Savage; second vice-president, J. O. Smith; third vice-president, Clyde C. Shoemaker; secretary and treasurer, F. B. Olds, and L. E. Smith and D. C. Williams. Dr. Harry M. Brandel continues as medical officer.

HOLLAND LOOKS TO FUTURE

Reclamation of 550,000 Acres of Rich Zuider Zee Land at Cost of $100,000,000 Under Way

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Holland is adding 7 per cent more to its total national area by reclaiming the rich Zuider Zee land of 550,000 acres, upon which it expects to provide an ample livelihood for another 500,000 people.

It was Simon Stevin, famous mathematician, who first suggested the reclamation of the Zuider Zee. Two hundred years went by before anything was done. Then, after the World War, The Netherlands Parliament voted to begin on the plan worked out by Dr. Cornelius Lely, drawn up more than thirty years ago.

Five years ago the work began. A massive dike nineteen miles long, the longest ever conceived, had to be constructed. Thousands of citizens of Holland have been at work for years on the ambitious project, which will cost about $100,000,000.

It's not the size of the country, but the ability to make great dreams come true that counts, not only with individuals but with nations.

Amsterdam has long been the diamond-cutting center of the world, with its 300 concerns employing about 7000 skilled cutters.

Since November, conditions there have been quiet. The big diamond orders from the United States began falling off then and Amsterdam workers felt the decline immediately. In December, working hours in the factories there were cut one-half, with the diamond cutters in other cities, Antwerp particularly, following suit. Unemployment on a large scale has resulted.

The Amsterdamsche Bank, reporting the situation, says that during the past fifty years a depression in the diamond-cutting industry has occurred "almost with mathematical regularity" every seven years.

The American market is believed to absorb more diamonds than all of the rest of the world together, so every rise in the New York stock market is front-page news in Amsterdam.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is the daddy of more than two score subsidiary operating companies.

Five years ago, the American Telephone and Telegraph charged a management fee of 4 1-2 per cent of the gross revenue for its various services, which included law, engineering, financial accounting, scientific research and the use of telephone instruments.

But the different public service commissions objected to the charge as excessive. So the parent company has reduced the fee in five years from 4 1-2 per cent to 1 1-2 per cent. Some State commissions still object to the present fee as excessive.

This percentage is on the gross business. If $100,000,000 is received by the telephone company, the parent company gets $1,500,000 for its services during the year.

These management fees help to make the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which is the real company interested in rate cases, powerful, prosperous and rich, but its operating companies, such as the New York Telephone Company, plead for higher rates because of poverty.

This is not an unusual situation in the public utility field. It's a customary proceeding with most holding companies.

Texaco Extends Market Field

Extension of its sales jurisdiction to include Montana, Idaho and Utah was announced yesterday by officials of the Texas Company, a California corporation. Heretofore those three States, formerly known as the Butte district, were supervised by the Texas Company of Delaware, while the California company had jurisdiction over Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona and Nevada.

Taking over the California Petroleum Corporation in 1928, the Texas Company then extended distribution facilities to Oregon following with announcement that Texaco petroleum products, then were available in every State in the Union and in forty-six foreign countries.

RESERVE BOARD SURVEYS TRADE

Drop in Late 1929 Viewed Greater Than 1927

Turn for Better Noted at Start of New Year

Data on Extent of Improvement Not Yet Available

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (P...—Production of automobiles, which in December was the smallest of any month in seven years, increased in the last few weeks.

The Federal Reserve Board said so today in its monthly business review, reviewing business and financial conditions. Large production of automobiles in the earlier part of the last year was sufficient to meet later demand, with a sharp decline falling off in the last quarter.

The board said the decline in general production of the commodities which began in the third quarter of 1929 and continued to the end of the year, appeared to have been considerably greater in amount than that of 1927.

"Since the turn of the year there has been an increase in activity in several lines of industry," the review said, "but it is too early to determine whether this increase has been general throughout the various lines of industry."

In its review of credit conditions, the board found an easing of the situation, due chiefly to gold developments. The return flow of currency from circulation since the Christmas holidays enabled the Federal Reserve member banks to reduce their indebtedness to reserve banks to $400,000,000, the lowest level in two years.

"Employment in manufacturing industries continued to decline during the last month of the year to a somewhat more than the usual seasonal amount, with the result that the actual level of factory employment at the middle of December was down from the high level of September by about 8 per cent," the bulletin said.

"A decrease from November to December in the number of ...

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Although the Ohio Oil Company recently shut in its Recreation Gun Club No. 1 discovery well southeast of Venice as an aid to the State-wide conservation movement, that general area is due for considerable drilling by other operators. The Union Oil Company has just closed a deal for 770 acres which adjoins the Ohio's lease.

The Union Oil Company leased 600 acres of the Del Rey Company and an adjoining 170 acres owned by the Vidor Syndicate. Both properties extend from the foot of the Del Rey hills and are about a mile northwest of the southern boundary of the Ohio Oil Company's Recreation Gun Club lease.

Union's first project, for which site now is being prepared, will be drilled in the far northwest corner of the Del Rey company's property. No other wells are contemplated until the company's first test develops production, as the company intends to participate in the State-wide conservation program.

The new acreage acquired by the Union Oil Company is just outside the Venice townlot area, like the Ohio Oil Company's lease. Early this week the City Council's City Planning Committee recommended approval of nine permits to drill in the townlot area southeast of Venice, but pending adoption of rules and regulations governing such drilling no early activity is anticipated. Approximately twenty other applications will be passed upon today by the City Planning Commission.

Trying Again

Convinced that shallow production may be obtained about nine miles west of Elwood, the Shell Oil Company is building derrick for Rutherford No. 3 on a 500-acre lease where two other holes were drilled in search of oil and failed to find it.

Shell's Rutherford lease is about one-half mile east of the General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu No. 1, which discovered shallow production slightly below 1300 feet and is now shut in to aid the State-wide conservation movement. Location is made for Erburu No. 2, while Erburu No. 3 has penetrated seventy-five feet of solid oil sand and is plugged at 1335 feet with bottom of the hole at 1600 feet.

A short distance west of the General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu lease Shell's Covarrubias No. 1 is in its final stage of a thirty-day flow test. It has been producing approximately 100 barrels of 20-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 1305 feet.

Slow Decline

New completions during the week at Santa Fe Springs have prevented a rapid decline in the daily average production and as a result today's total yield is expected to be approximately 165,000 barrels of oil unless plans are ready to give the field a flow test.

During the past week the following wells were brought in: Associated Oil Company's Dewenter No. 9, 3000 barrels; Twin Bell Oil Syndicate's Lamb No. 2, 240 barrels; Star Petroleum Company's No. 2, 1200 barrels; Mohawk Petroleum Company's Hathaway No. 5, 2200 barrels; George P. Getty's Santa Fe No. 37, 1000 barrels; Wilshire Annex's Koontz No. 2, 1400 barrels; General Petroleum Corporation's Santa Fe No. 205, 700 barrels; Santa Fe No. 168-E, 600 barrels, and Santa Fe No. 146-C, 600 barrels.

Test Water Shut-Off

The General Petroleum Corporation yesterday was swabbing its Ferguson No. 2, a tideland project at Seacliff and has rather good showings of oil and gas. Bottom of the hole is at 2560 feet. The cement plug was drilled out at 2540 feet with fifteen feet of oil sand in evidence. A decision to drill the project deeper depends upon the test.

General's Ferguson No. 2, should it come in, will be allowed to produce as it is the first tideland project along the coast at Seacliff and is not considered a menace to the present State-wide conservation movement.

Considerable Surplus

As a result of the flow tests which the principal producing fields are now being subjected to, there will be approximately 1,500,000 barrels of surplus oil to be handled by the various pipe line companies who have consented to handle it. Pipe line companies will care for all surplus from the Santa Fe Springs, Elwood, Signal Hill and Seal Beach fields.

Back on Production

The York & Lockhart No. 1 in the town lot area at Potrero has been restored to steady production and yesterday was flowing at the rate of 750 barrels of 45-deg. gravity oil per day with a slight cut. Bottom of the hole is at 3855 feet. York & Lockhart No. 2 is bailing with considerable fluid in the hole.

Wildcat Blows Out

A wildcat well being drilled by the Borderland Exploration Company on Point Loma, near San Diego, is reported to have had a gas blowout early yesterday morning. At a depth of 500 feet the hole developed enough petroleum gas to heave rocks and drilling fluid out of the hole and into the derrick.

Yesterday the drillers were undecided as to their next move. An expert had been called from Los Angeles to look over the situation and advise. It is thought that the gas may be tapped off below ground, so that drilling may proceed. The company expects to hit oil sands at about 1700 feet.

Speaks to Accountants

A. E. Stockberger, City Manager of Alhambra, and president of the California State Association of City Managers, will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Petroleum Accountants' Society in Los Angeles today. Mr. Stockberger will talk on recent developments in municipal government especially from the business management and accounting standpoint.

Drilling Permits

The possibility of getting shallow production in the Newhall district has resulted in a new location being made by the Pioneer Petroleum Company, which will drill on Sec. 14, 3-16 in the same general area where York & Lockhart and the Southern California Drilling Company found production. The State Mining Bureau has issued the Pioneer Petroleum Company a permit to drill, together with twelve other permits in the various fields of the State.

Following are the permits: Petroleum Properties' No. 1 at Signal Hill, Associated Oil Company's V. L. & W. No. 9-A in the Ventura-avenue field, Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's Hobson No. 6-C at Seacliff, Exeter Oil Company's No. 1 in Santa Barbara county; Pacific Western Oil Company's Goleta No. 2, and the Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation's Security No. 1 and Taylor No. 1 at Elwood; H. A. Bardeen's Ramsey No. 1 and Klipstein No. 1, and the Helen Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 in Kern county; Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company's No. 51 in Midway district, and Western Gulf Oil Company's Lillis-Welsh No. 1 in Fresno county.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: A slight lull has developed in demand for heavy rolled steel products in the Pittsburgh district, but the trend is in line with expectations in view of the sharp upturn in buying experienced during January. Steel bar specifications are maintained fairly well with shipments to some industries showing further moderate gains. Incoming plate tonnage is fairly steady but little improvement is shown compared with demand a month ago.

Sheet steel mills in the Chicago district are operating at about 90 per cent of capacity due to the irregularity of specifications for the lighter gauges. Blue annealed sheets, however, are much more active and operations of blue annealed capacity are nearly in full.

ployees was shown by almost all manufacturing industries. In several of the important industries the number of employees in the middle of December, 1929, was as low as or lower than at the lowest point in 1927. This was true of industries producing iron and steel, automobiles and rubber tires and a considerable group of other industries."

The board added that in the machinery, chemical, refined petroleum, paper and printing industries the employment was considerably above the lowest level of 1927. The general level of wholesale prices showed little change in December.

Space for Trees in "Slacker Acres"

In New England alone there are 10,000,000 acres of idle or abandoned farm land which, it is argued by forestry advocates, might well be planted in trees.

A Retirement Income In 15 Years

To accumulate an income-yielding estate for retirement, a sound investment program is necessary—regular investments at stated periods.

We have prepared several definite plans for investment in Massachusetts Investors Trust described in folder "FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE THROUGH SYSTEMATIC INVESTMENT OF SAVINGS." They provide triple growth of capital, through your savings plus reinvestment of dividends, plus appreciation of holdings. They offer SECURITY through wide diversification and experienced management.

$1,000 invested today should grow to $2,000 in 15 years—$5,000 should grow to $40,000—or small investments of $50 or $100 should create an ample substantial retirement fund over the same period.

Send the coupon below for folder F-209, explaining these plans

RAIL DECISION FAVORS HARBOR

San Pedro and Wilmington in Jubilant Mood

Fight Won for Rate Equality With Bay City

Midway Trade Points Opened to Competition

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

San Pedro and Wilmington chambers of commerce were jubilant yesterday over a reported transportation rate decision of the State Railroad Commission which will put Los Angeles Harbor on a parity with San Francisco in competing for trade midway between the two harbors.

It is the goal toward which the port communities have been fighting, heretofore unsuccessfully for a score of years, and the rulings are interpreted as meaning much to San Pedro and Wilmington as future distributing points for places inland.

While the official order is not available, advices are that class rates from San Pedro and Wilmington to the San Joaquin Valley were reduced to the basis prescribed by the commission from Los Angeles to the San Joaquin Valley. Heretofore there has been a local rate between San Pedro and Wilmington to Los Angeles, but this is now eliminated, the Los Angeles rate applying also to the harbor. Class rates between San Pedro and Wilmington to and from points east of Los Angeles, including Imperial Valley, by this order are reduced to the mileage basis of rates prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission two years ago between California and Arizona.

Class and commodity rates from San Pedro and Wilmington were ordered to be carried on the same basis as those in effect from San Francisco to Coast division points, from comparable distances.

Heretofore these rates also were lower from San Francisco than from San Pedro and Wilmington.

L. H. Stewart, traffic manager, who handled the cases for the chambers yesterday was elated at the report, but pending receipt of the official order was guarded for his comments. He did say, however, that if the ruling is as represented, it should encourage San Pedro and Wilmington materially in becoming distributing points for the hinterland. It should increase traffic direct from the port to inland, instead of storing commerce in Los Angeles, he said.

EXPRESS OFFICIAL SEES LASSCO LINER

Ralph E. Towle, general manager of the American Express Company, with headquarters at New York, yesterday made a survey of the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles and later was taken on a general tour of the port by Ralph J. Chandler, general manager, and Roy V. Crowder, passenger traffic manager, of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. With Mr. Towle was B. A. Lechner, Pacific Coast manager of the American Express Company.

Mr. Towle's inspection of the City of Los Angeles was relative to probable participation of American Express Company in the liner's 1930 cruise around South America.

The City of Los Angeles sailed at noon yesterday for Honolulu with 235 travelers. Prominent among them was William Gibbs McAdoo, war-time Secretary of the Treasury, with his wife and their young daughter, Faith; Arthur L. Loomis, noted Southern California horseman; Mrs. Lucy Hoge of Long Beach, with her daughter, Virginia, and Mrs. Margaret Gaffey Mel of Pasadena, and her daughter, Miss Sheila Ward.

More than 120 reservations have already been made for the second Mazatlan cruise of the Admiral liner Dorothy Alexander, on which she will depart Los Angeles Harbor on the night of the 17th inst., it was announced yesterday by R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent of the Admiral Line.

The Dorothy Alexander is now homeward bound from Mazatlan in completion of her first good-will cruise to the West Coast metropolis, on which she departed the 3rd inst. She will return here on the 15th inst. A formal military ball was staged at the Belmar Hotel, Mazatlan, in honor of the liner's passage by Gov. Carreo and his staff.

Three Swedish-flag ships will be among the week-end arrivals at the terminals of the General Steamship Corporation. The trans-Atlantic motor liner Parakoola is due tomorrow morning on her globe-circling passenger and freight run westward. She will load 3000 tons of case oil and general cargo and sail the 20th inst., for San Francisco and Australia. Incidentally, there is a general movement of case oil to Australia, which will impose a duty on such items after May 1. The Swedish motor tankship Gustaf E. Reuter is due at noon tomorrow to load 80,000 barrels of gasoline at the Union Oil terminals for Hamburg, and the Swedish steamer Anten is due the 15th inst., to pick up 2500 tons of case oil and general cargo for the Antipodes.

Kidney, Liver and Stomach Sufferers!
"Enjoy Better Health"
Says Washington Doctor
Who Advises New Vitaminized Flaxolyn

Dr. Oscar E. Lee, of Olympia, Washington

Dr. Lee Declares that Vitaminized Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion.

"Dear Dr. Luntz," writes Dr. Oscar E. Lee, head of the Sanitarium Baths of Olympia, Wash. "I want you to know how much both Mrs. Lee and myself think of Flaxolyn and how happy we are to learn that you have perfected your formula in a pleasant liquid and vitaminized form.

"You will recall that both Mrs. Lee and myself used Flaxolyn personally with such wonderful results that we felt it our duty to interest as many people of the Northwest in Flaxolyn as it was humanly possible for us to do. As a result we have distributed thousands of packages of Flaxolyn and feel overjoyed with the good it has wrought.

"The new vitaminized Flaxolyn is a blessing in disguise. It is so easy to take; so quick to act; so splendid in its results. I sincerely hope that before long every person who needs greater strength, greater energy, keener appetite and sounder sleep, will realize that Flaxolyn is the means to that end."

Tells How Flaxolyn Gave Her New Strength and Energy When All Else Failed!

Suppose you suffered continuously from pains in your joints, from gas that pressed against your heart? Suppose your condition became such that the slightest exertion made you so tired and exhausted that you could not do your work? Suppose your cheeks were becoming drawn and you could not get your proper rest at night?

You would probably do the same as Mrs. Olle Bouleau did—you would try one treatment after another until you found something that did you some good. Mrs. Bouleau was mighty diligent in her search to help her condition and she was about to give up many a time. But happily she found Flaxolyn. "Everything you have said about Flaxolyn is more than justified," says Mrs. Bouleau, "it is the most remarkable formula that has ever come to Philadelphia in my memory. Just when I was about to give up all hope, Flaxolyn helped restore me to health."

Mrs. O. Bouleau of East Ferry St., Philadelphia.

Suffered miserably from all sorts of aches and pains until Dr. Luntz's Great Herbal Discovery brought her the relief she sought, and began to build up her tired rundown body.

Works With Zest, Now That Tired Feeling Has Gone!

"Had Tried About All the Medicines on Earth," says Philadelphian, Whose Stomach was Fast on the Way to Ruination, When Flaxolyn Came Along and did the trick. Now Eats Everything, Feels Fit, Sleeps Great!

Mr. Ed Ruth, 626 Wood St., Phila.

So many Philadelphians have benefited through the use of the vitaminized Flaxolyn it certainly merits your early trial. You will feel so much better. You will have a new feeling of energy and health tingling through your veins.

If your case is anything like that of Mr. Edwin Ruth, whose picture is shown at the left, you certainly will want to give Dr Luntz's vitaminized Flaxolyn a good fair trial.

"Words can hardly tell the good Flaxolyn has done for me," says Mr. Ruth. "I have suffered with indigestion and heartburn and have had terrible headaches from morning until night. There were times that I didn't think I could stand it any more.

"It was then suggested that I try Flaxolyn and after several weeks I am ENTIRELY FREE from all these ailments. I never felt better in my life, and I gladly give you permission to use my statement and picture if it will help others to find the health I have found."

Clip This as a Reminder

Flaxolyn must bring you results by the sixth pleasant spoonful or you may have your money back on return of the partly-used bottle. This is Dr. Luntz's own personal guarantee.

The new Vitaminized Flaxolyn contains such herbal ingredients as Spanish Licorice Root, Chinese Rhubarb, Dandelion Roots, Sarsaparilla Roots and many other leaves, barks, berries and seeds. This new preparation may be obtained anywhere in Southern California, from your own neighborhood drug store or downtown drug or health food stores and department stores.

Public Schools and Clubs Heed Birth Anniversary

Justice Works Speaks for Kiwanis Gathering

Character and Intelligence of Hero Extolled

Special exercises at the public schools and club meetings devoted to tributes to the memory of the great American character marked the celebration in Los Angeles yesterday of Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

PRESIDING JUSTICE LEWIS R. WORKS

Presiding Justice Works of the District Court of Appeal, Second District, was the speaker at a Lincoln Day luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Biltmore at noon. Justice Works, highly complimented when he was introduced by Justice Thomson, also of the Second District Court of Appeal, chairman of the day, discussed Lincoln as an intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizen.

NOBLE CHARACTER

There was something Christ-like about Lincoln, Justice Works observed, regardless of his known faults. His aggressiveness was not of the quality that connoted opposition, but it was tempered with kindness. This aggressiveness was reflected in the manner in which Lincoln, born in surroundings that hindered on the squalid, beat on the cold walls that hemmed him in until they crumbled, and he came forth like a butterfly from its chrysalis. As commander-in-chief of the armies during the war he was a greater soldier than most people realize, Judge Works said, and although he disliked war, once in it he pursued his duties with aggressiveness until it was over.

"If Washington may be said to have been the Father of his Country, then Lincoln was the preserver of his country," said Justice Works. "He wiped out the blot upon the American people and upon the world in the abolition of slavery. His intelligence was the torch that lighted his way through life. He had his dark moments—his moments of despair. But the light of his intelligence made his way clear. His vast utterances and his writings show a rare intelligence. His messages to Congress are remarkable in this respect. But in his Gettysburg Address he rose to new heights."

Justice Works then recited briefly the circumstances under which the address was given, and in an impressive manner read it to the audience that filled the large banquet room. Turning then to the scene attendant on the death of Lincoln, the speaker closed with the words of Secretary of War Stanton, spoken as Lincoln was pronounced dead—"He belongs to the ages."

"He he does, as time proves, more and more," said Judge Works.

SCULPTOR SPEAKS

Several hundred members of the Ancient-Wa-Wan Club were entertained at two Lincoln Day programs at the Biltmore.

Before noon, approximately 150 persons gathered at a breakfast meeting featured by the presence of David Edstrom, sculptor, and David K. Richards, one of the two men living who were in Ford's Theatre April 14, 1865, when Lincoln was shot.

Edstrom took with him a replica of his famous bust of the former President, the original of which was completed some years ago for E. P. Ripley. The sculptor also spoke on "The Kinds of Beauty," stressing the beauty that was Lincoln's character and work. Richards gave an account of the assassination of the great emancipator. Superior Judge Bush spoke in tribute to Lincoln.

PROGRAM GIVEN

In the afternoon a larger group of the club members met in the banquet room, where a program, featuring colored artists, was given under the direction of Mrs. Guy Bush. Mrs. Wm. Carter, colored religious singer; Clarence Muse, negro actor, and the "Cotton Blossom Quartet" were on the program.

An intimate picture of the shooting of President Lincoln was given this morning by D. K. Richards, as he addressed the audience in the theater in the part of the play. Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, club chaplain and professor of Several hundred members of the Lincoln Club were entertained at the Lincoln Day programs in Pasadena.

Here, approximately 150 were served at a breakfast and addressed by the presence of Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, and Robert Rowlands, one of the two men who were in Ford's Theater on April 14, 1865, when Lincoln was shot.

Borglum left with him a replica of the death mask of the former President, the original of which was made some years ago for E. P. Ripley. The sculptor also spoke on "Lincoln, the Master of Beauty," stressing the point that it was Lincoln's character that made him great.

IMAGINE! WOMAN DIETS TO GAIN!

Winifred Westover Adds Fifty Pounds to Get Star Role

Extra Poundage Hard to Lose

IN THESE days when a woman diets to lose weight it is hot news.

When a woman, normally weighing 118 pounds, builds herself up to 168 pounds, however, it is news!

Winifred Westover, divorced wife of William S. Hart, is the woman in question. And she added fifty pounds to her normal weight.

It was necessary for her to add this poundage to launch anew her career in motion pictures.

Yesterday she explained how she did it. And, like all other women, agrees it is more difficult to lose weight than to take it on.

HERE'S WHAT SHE ATE

When Miss Westover was first approached to play the leading role in "Lummox" by United Artists executives she weighed 118 pounds. The role called for a woman weighing in the neighborhood of 170 pounds. To get the role she had to put on fifty pounds.

"I was determined to play this picture," Miss Westover said yesterday. "I went to my physician to prescribe a way for me to add the necessary weight. For days I drank gruel. I ate foods containing starches. I drank malted milks until a sight of one made me sick.

"Finally I tipped the scales at 145 pounds and then for several days it appeared it would be impossible for me to ever get any heavier. Things looked pretty gloomy for me, but rehearsals were started anyway. The first days of rehearsal I lost fourteen pounds.

ADVISED TO GIVE UP

"It seemed hopeless and my doctor advised me to give it up.

"I was determined, however, to have the role. I kept up with my starchy diet and strange to relate, I began to take on weight again after losing the fourteen pounds. When the picture was actually started I weighed, and continued to weigh, 168 pounds.

The picture was completed several months ago. Yesterday Miss Westover weighed 132 pounds.

"The worst is yet to come," she said. "I'm almost worn out trying to reduce. I have taken massages. I exercise regularly. I don't eat. I swim.

"My diet for days has consisted of orange juice. When I get hungry I eat raw carrots and raw cabbage. My doctor is furious. I am nervous as can be. Black coffee is the only thing that will soothe me."

"Do you think it was worth it all?"

"It all depends on whether the picture is a success and I am given

CAPACITY OF COUNTY JAIL BEING TAXED

Prisoner Count Shows 1603 Persons, or About Seventy-five Too Many

The County Jail yesterday was filled to more than its intended capacity. Count of the prisoners yesterday morning disclosed that 1603 persons were confined in the institution at 6 a.m., 145 of which were women. This figure, according to Deputy Jailer Sumner, is approximately seventy-five more than the intended capacity of the jail.

For a time Tuesday night it was believed that the record of the jail as to the number of prisoners would be exceeded. At the night count Tuesday 1645 prisoners were checked through. Of this number 132 were women and 168 juveniles. The record number of prisoners, established some time ago, is 1686.

The number of persons confined in the jail seldom reaches the 1600-mark and it is considered unusual that a rise in number should occur at this time of the year instead of during the months of November and December as is customary.

In addition to those confined in the jail, close to 300 men are in custody in six road camps throughout the county. The camps are operating at capacity.

MRS. LEE'S OBSEQUIES ARRANGED FOR TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucrecia Lee, 77 years of age, mother of Henry M. Lee, attorney, will be conducted at the Hollywood Cemetery Chapel today at 3 p.m. Rev. Burdette Backus will officiate.

Mrs. Lee died last Tuesday at her home, 628 West Arden street, Glendale, following a lingering illness. She had resided in Los Angeles for seventeen years and in Glendale for three years. She was born in Indiana.

Besides Henry M. Lee, Mrs. Lee leaves a second son, Claude W. Lee, and two daughters, Josephine Lee and Mrs. Edna Lee Burns.

COOLIDGES MAY VISIT SOUTHLAND

Ex-President and Wife to Arrive Here Next Monday, Florida Reports State

Reports from Mt. Dora, Fla., yesterday asserted that former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge have engaged reservations at New Orleans on a limited train leaving there at 11 p.m. tomorrow and arriving in Los Angeles Monday at 9:15, although no formal announcement of the surprise visit has been made.

Advised of the report, local Southern Pacific officials had no information on the rumored visit of the former President and his wife, but immediately telegraphed New Orleans for full details of the engagement of reservations on the westbound limited.

The Coolidges will be in New Orleans today, the report said, and their rumored reservations are made for the Seaboard-New Orleans Limited. Providing no stops are made en route, railroad officials say, they will be due here Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have never visited Los Angeles and no political significance is attached to the reported trip westward. Local Republican leaders said they have not been advised of any Coolidge visit.

Executives of Upper and Lower California Meet to Arrange Closer Relations of States

A better understanding through closer acquaintance of the peoples of California and Baja California was stressed last night by speakers at a banquet at which the chief executives of the two States—Gov. C. C. Young and Gov. Jose Maria Tapia—were the honored guests.

The need of co-operation in the development of industry, finance and agriculture was voiced at the outset by Mexican Consul Pesqueria in sounding the keynote of the meeting at the Jonathan Club, which brought together leaders in the business affairs of the two neighboring States.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

The banquet followed a meeting earlier in the afternoon of the two Governors and was arranged as an informal gathering at which the Baja California executive would meet some of the financial and commercial leaders of Southern California and where an exchange of views might obtain that would closer cement the relations of the two States.

James H. Batten, executive secretary of the Inter-American Foundation, presided at the speaking program following the banquet and following the address of welcome by Mayor Porter introduced the following speakers, who made short addresses in addition to those of the two honored guests: John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Orra Monnette, representing the Bankers' Association; F. N. Andreani, counsel of the Mexican Consulate and member of the Board of Harbor Commissioners; Santiago B. De Reachi, representative of the Department of Industry of Baja California; Harry Chandler, Sheriff Traeger, Rex B. Goodcell and H. H. Clark.

SCIENTIST LAUDS LINCOLN

Club in Annual Birthday Dinner Hears Emancipator Likened to Charles Darwin

Striking a new note in Lincoln eulogies, J. Arthur Thomson, one of the world's leading scientists, delivered an address at the annual Lincoln's Birthday dinner of the Lincoln Club at the California Club last night in which he pointed out the essential kinship in nature and achievement between the martyred President and another great world figure, who was born in the same year, Charles Darwin.

Thomson, who is Regius Professor of Natural History at Aberdeen, Scotland, and is best known to the lay reader as the author of the "Outline of Science," pointed out that although Lincoln and Darwin presented superficial differences in appearance, upbringing, environment and the nature of their achievements, they shared those qualities which make for indubitable greatness and assure immortal fame.

Foremost among those qualities, he said, were tenacity of purpose and unfaltering devotion to a great cause. Another characteristic quality of heroic personalities which they shared, he said, was humility, accompanied by simplicity of character and directness of outlook.

LINCOLN ANECDOTES

Both of them can be classified as great emancipators, Prof. Thomson asserted. In the case of Lincoln, he said, he referred not so much to the act of freeing the slaves as to the effect which his career had in planting in the common consciousness of mankind the seed idea of enlightened democracy. Darwin's great service to mankind Prof. Thomson described as the emancipation of man's intellect from inhibiting authority.

ELWOOD FIELD'S TEST SURPRISE

Six-Day Flow 44 Per Cent Above Estimates

Other Local Oil Areas to be Gauged at Once

Data Sought on Production to Frame Restrictions

With the six-day flow test for the Elwood field ending at 7 a.m. today, flow tests for the Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill and Seal Beach areas are understood to be now well under way to enable the various operators in those fields to establish a new potential to aid in the State-wide conservation movement.

The Elwood flow test was a distinct surprise to operators, especially those who thought the field could not produce more than 45,000 barrels of oil per day. Production figures show that the daily total mounted rapidly until they struck a peak of 65,300 barrels of oil on February 11 and that figure may be surpassed when the total for the final day is checked.

FIELD NOT READY

Late yesterday there was some doubt expressed as to whether plans will be complete for Santa Fe Springs field operators to open their wells today for the six-day flow test. Umpire Paul Grimm spent the day notifying his field men to get in touch with the various operators to prepare for the test.

At Signal Hill, Umpire Nell H. Anderson was recruiting an extra force to aid in making a thorough check of production flow throughout the field, and with all officials observing results it is believed that the test to establish a new potential will be completed in record time.

TONNAGE HEAVY

No estimate has been made by officials as to the total surplus production that will be handled by the various pipe-line companies, as a result of the flow tests, but a conservative estimate has been placed at approximately 1,500,000 barrels of oil, and it may be higher. Many of the principal operators are firmly of the belief that Santa Fe Springs will produce less than 300,000 barrels of oil per day, even at its best, during the flow test and some have placed the figure as low as 250,000 barrels daily.

While a number of operators have objected to opening up their wells, because of the enrmous gas pressure and danger of damaging good producers little real difficulty is anticipated, as extra precautions are being taken to prevent blowouts during the flow tests. At Santa Fe Springs there are a number of producers which have been beaned down since their completion weeks ago. At that time the wet gas output was enormous.

KETTLEMAN HILLS ADVISERS ORGANIZE

Oil operators interested in the north dome of the Kettleman Hills oil field, together with the original oil and gas conservation committee yesterday elected a group of twelve to act as an advisory committee pending the selection of one of two plans for the future development of the field discovered by the Milham Exploration Company.

The new advisory group includes R. E. Collom, Continental Oil Company; J. H. Jenkins, Associated Oil Company; William Reinhart, Shell Oil Company; W. H. Berg, Standard Oil Company; R. A. Sperry, General Petroleum Corporation; W. C. McDuffie, Pacific Western Oil Company; P. N. Longan, Milham Exploration Company; Rush M. Blodgett, George P. Getty, Inc.; J. R. JIM TULLY'S WIFE MOVES TO NEVADA

Hobo Writer's Spouse at Las Vegas "to Write," She Says, But Hires Lawyer

While Jim Tully, hobo writer, yesterday was thinking over the latest defi of John Gilbert, with whom he recently engaged in fisticuffs at a night club, it developed that Marna Tully, his wife, has established residence in Las Vegas, Nev., and retained a lawyer.

MARNA TULLY

Mrs. Tully asserted in the Nevada town that she is there to write stories, but declined to explain the retention of the attorney or to admit intentions of petitioning again for divorce from the turbulent red-headed Hollywood writer.

In 1928 Mrs. Tully filed two suits for divorce, charging cruelty, asserting in one that Tully upbraided her for paying $4.98 for a hat. She had both actions dismissed.

Mrs. Tully, who is the daughter of R. Holiby Myers, married the hobo-iconoclast in January, 1925, while she was a student at the University of Southern California. She since has adopted the pen name of "Marna" for Margaret.

Tully's first wife, Florence B. Tully, divorced him on charges of desertion in October, 1923. They were married in Ohio in 1910.

GILBERT SEEKS RETURN MATCH WITH TULLY

The grudge John Gilbert, film star, holds against Jim Tully, hobo author, as a result of a magazine article Tully wrote about him two years ago was by no means ended by their fistic encounter on the night of the 2nd inst.

At Palm Springs yesterday, where he has been vacationing since the fight, Gilbert emphatically declared he is "by no means licked yet."

In other words, Gilbert explained, the fact that Tulley bested him in their first encounter hasn't frightened him in the least in so far as Tully is concerned.

"I'm not hurling any defiances or challenges at Tully, nor am I predicting a fight if we chance to meet again," Gilbert said. "But my opinion concerning the man hasn't changed in the least. What hap-

ENVOY MOORE SERIOUSLY ILL

Newly Named Ambassador to Poland Still Here

Confined in Sanatorium at Monrovia Six Months

Alexander P. Moore, noted Pittsburgh publisher, and recently appointed Ambassador to Poland, is critically ill with tuberculosis of the throat in the Pottenger Sanatorium in Monrovia. Moore, who formerly was Ambassador to Spain and later to Peru, returned from the latter post in August of last year and since has been in Southern California attempting to recover his lost health, which forced his return from the South American republic. On the 1st inst., the Senate confirmed his appointment as Ambassador to Poland and he notified the State Department that he would accept the post.

When Moore returned from South America last August he was a guest at the home of Charles Chaplin, the film comedian, for three weeks. At that time he was under constant care of a nurse. Later he moved to Palm Springs, where he has been living until the 3rd inst., when he was taken to the Pottenger Sanatorium.

CONDITION SERIOUS

Dr. Robert Pottenger, head of the Monrovia Sanatorium, said yesterday that a thorough examination of the Ambassador revealed that he is in a very serious condition and has a lung infection, apparently of long standing, which had spread to his throat.

"Mr. Moore is able to take adequate nourishment," Dr. Pottenger said, "but he is not able to talk a great deal. It will be a month or more before he will know what the outcome of his illness will be."

Before his entrance into the diplomatic service, Moore achieved a remarkable success as a newspaper publisher. He started as an office boy at 12 years of age in the office of the Pittsburgh Telegraph and in later years he was managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press and publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader.

His newspaper work gave him contact with the theatrical world, and he numbers among his friends many prominent actors and actresses. On June 12, 1912, he married Lillian Russell. She died in 1921.

SERIOUSNESS NOT KNOWN

During 1923 he suspended publication of the Leader and accepted the nomination of President Harding to be Ambassador for Spain and remained abroad until 1925, when he returned to take up his private affairs in the United States. As Ambassador to Peru in 1928, Moore was charged with the amicable settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru and the question was finally settled with a boundary survey on the lines suggested by the American Ambassador.

That the seriousness of the illness of the Ambassador has not been suspected either to himself or to his friends was apparent in the declaration yesterday by Dr. Pottenger, who said that Moore had evidently been a victim of the lung infection for some time.

President Hoover's nomination of Moore as Ambassador to Poland was confirmed by the Senate on the 1st inst., and at that time he informed the State Department that he believed he was sufficiently recovered from his illness which brought his resignation from the Peruvian post, to accept and that he would leave shortly for Europe.

COUNCILMEN CONSIDER POLICE DEFENSE PLEA

The City Council has referred to the Police and Fire Committee the request of the Police Commission that the City Attorney be authorized to defend Officer F. S. Jaynes in the $50,000 damage suit brought against him by the widow of August Lehman. Jaynes, who is the city's tallest policeman, shot Lehman the night of January 19 when he refused to halt at the order of the officer.

SETBACK LINE PLANNED

The City Attorney is under instructions from the City Council to draft a resolution of intention for the establishment of eighteen-foot setback lines in Sixth street from Lorena avenue to Indiana street.

Metropolitan District Ready to Cut Demands Today if Imperial Valley Will Also

The Metropolitan Water District committee will go into the conference with the Imperial Irrigation District, scheduled to open at the Governor's office here at 10:30 a.m. today, prepared to yield in some of its demands for Colorado River water if the Imperial district people will yield in theirs, it was learned yesterday.

"We will all have to yield if we are to come to an agreement," was the way W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan district, stated it last night when asked whether his group is prepared to make some concessions.

SUGGESTED AT RENO

The conference was called as a result of a remark dropped by one of the Imperial Valley men at the Phoenix tri-State conference to the effect that the California group ought to get together and talk things over. It became more and more apparent at Phoenix, and even at Reno, that there can be no hope for a tri-State agreement on the allocation of the waters of the river until the California delegation can settle within its own ranks the question of the division of the water proposed to be allotted to the State.

One of the California commission empowered to treat with the other States on the river problem is Earl Pound of Imperial Valley. Another is W. B. Mathews, counsel for the Metropolitan Water District, and John Bacon of San Diego is the third. W. J. Carr is the Governor's adviser. Despite talks of "harmony" and outward gestures of peace, it was apparent at the recent meeting that all was not harmony within the ranks of the Californians. And none knew it better than the com-

The Lancer

A WASTEBASKET and a [illegible] for hard work are Harold Bell Wright's recipe for successful novel writing.

Which will benefit the wastebasket trade, but not the yearning novel writers.

A press agent with a genius for statistics once figured that Wright's books were piled into a single column they would tower 132 times the height of the Woolworth Building. Critics slam Wright in public prints, but the fact remains that he must have something that so appeals to the American mind that the public has enshrined him as the king-teller of tales.

SERMONS IN BOOKS

Books with such prodigious sales are usually highly colored with melodrama and simmering with action.

As a matter of fact, there is very little vivid action in any of his books. More than anything else they are characterized by naivete and by plain, homely Wednesday-night-prayer-meeting moralizing.

Harold Bell Wright is the Aimee McPherson of literature, and Aimee is the Harold Bell Wright of the pulpit.

REAL FIGHTERS

Judging from the paleness of the average prize fight and the scarlet ferocity of the cafe battle between John Gilbert and Jim Tully, it would seem that it would be a good idea to change the cast of characters and let the prize fighters do the acting while the literati pummel.

DIED HAPPY

The Indians have an idea that it doesn't matter so much when you die, as it has to come sooner or later, anyhow. The great thing is to go out with a grand-stand finish.

By these standards the Omaha boy who was so filled with ecstasy over his betrothal that his heart stopped beating picked a good way. If he had lived—after marrying at 19 to a girl of 17—he would probably have died of worry over the gas bills. Some hearts know when it is a good time to quit.

HE HAD TIME

Reading the annual outburst of stories about Lincoln, one cannot fail to be impressed with the time that he seemed to have to do everything—from letters to old ladies who knit socks for him to telling stories to visiting delegations.

Modern Presidents die on their feet from time pressure. Every generation invents new devices to save time—and finds itself with less time available. We aren't going anywhere; but we are panting to exhaustion in the struggle to get there.

MODERN TRAGEDIES

The tragedy of modern life is the agonized attempt to dodge people who seek your time. You take your telephone out of the book and surround yourself with a guard of secretaries—who surround themselves with a guard of subsecretaries and doorkeepers.

Just what all this pressure is about I don't know. We still can sleep in only one bed and get enough to eat.

It has just become a crazy world . . . authors furiously writing things that people do not want to read; millionaires fighting to get more money that they can't use; everybody maneuvering to invade somebody's office, and to keep invaders out of their own.

'ARLEY CALLED ON GLAB CASE

'olice Will Decide Today on Murder Arrests

letectives Believe Case Justifies Action

Widow and Companion on Fateful Night Hunted

Decision as to whether murder omplaints shall be issued against wo women in the Glab murder ase will be made at a conference tween members of the police homicide detail, the Sheriff's homicide quad and the District Attorney's ffice today. New evidence gathered during the last three days oncerning the murder of John R. lab in 1928 justifies the new attempt to solve the two-year-old ystery, according to Chief of Detectives Taylor and Dep. Dist.-tty. Jordan.

The names of the two women hom the detectives suspect of having more knowledge of the case han they have revealed were not disclosed by Chief Taylor. Efforts o locate Mrs. Hazel Glab, widow f the slain druggist, and her niece, ithel Kaser, are being made by apt. Cato of the homicide detail. hey were in the Glab home on entura Boulevard on the night lab was killed in the street by a ingle pistol shot.

According to police records they ere not asked a number of imortant questions which might have hrown immediate light on the dentity of the killer. Almost a ear ago Mrs. Glab moved all of er furnishings from the home and laced the premises in charge of a aretaker. The caretaker told the olice he believed Mrs. Glab was in an Francisco.

Belief that the gun used in the urder of Glab may have been hrown into a cesspool in the patio aused Chief Taylor to cast about or means to have it drained. The olice department does not have a und to pay for such work and the xpense would be considerable, it as asserted.

In summing up the police evidence hief Taylor asserted:

"We have strongest of suspicions against two persons and we have an eyewitness to the murder who asserts that a blond woman ran from the car to the Glab home immediately after the shot was fired. The home is in an isolated spot and the car was in a seldom-used driveway to the rear of the house.

"The District Attorney's office believes as we do that we have a fifty-fifty chance of gaining a conviction on the evidence we now possess. But I do not believe that we should proceed until we are almost certain to convict, not only in this case but in any other murder case. We are going to continue the hunt for the murderer and if we get the funds we probably will find the gun in the cesspool."

The conference between the members of the Sheriff's squad and the detectives will be held this afternoon in Jordan's office.

OHIOANS WILL MEET

The Mansfield (O.) colony of Southern California will hold its annual reunion next Sunday at Sycamore Grove Park, Dr. R. R. Barrett, president, announced yesterday. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. after which a program will be presented.

WIFE WINS ANNULMENT ON BILL-PAYING STORY

True V. Robinson, formerly a star observer employed at the Mt. Wilson Observatory, had ambitions to go to college, but had no money, so he married Lois Palmer, a young woman who had a good job, expecting her to support him while he studied at Harvard, the girl testified when she appeared before Superior Judge Tryon, seeking an annulment of her marriage.

Robinson is now at Cambridge, Mass., attending Harvard, but his young wife is not paying the bill, according to the records in the case.

Represented by Attorney John C. Davis of Pasadena, Mrs. Robinson appeared in court accusing her student-husband of gaining her consent to marry him by practicing fraud on her. She told him, she said, she would not marry him unless he had a permanent position and was earning a livelihood. She was at the time employed as business secretary in the office of a firm of physicians and was earning good money.

Robinson, the young wife asserted, accepted a position with the Mt. Wilson Observatory. He was a star observer stationed at Mt. San Jacinto.

Mrs. Robinson declared that when Robinson obtained his job he harbored an intent to deceive her, that he secretly schemed and planned not to continue work but to later abandon the position and enter Harvard, having her accompany him and work to support him while he pursued his studies.

The marriage ceremony was performed at Los Angeles on June 10, 1929. The couple separated on August 6, 1929.

The young wife also complained that during their brief married life she was given a thirty-day vacation by her employers and went to Mt. Wilson to be with her husband; that while she was there she was forced to pay all the expenses for living out of her own pocket.

The complaint recites that after the couple's separation Robinson went east and entered Harvard in September, 1929, and is now living at 1683 Cambridge avenue, Cambridge, Mass. She resides at 65 West Harriet street in Pasadena. She asked for an annulment of her marriage and the restoration of her maiden name, Lois Palmer.

After hearing her testimony Judge Tryon granted the annulment.

DECISION ON OIL DRILLING PLEAS NEAR

Permits for Venice Group Will be Recommended by Council Committee

The matter of granting permission to drill for oil in the Venice-Playa Del Rey section will go before the City Council this morning with recommendations from the City Planning Committee that a group of applications be granted.

The majority of the committee, comprising Councilmen Webster and Holland, favor granting the applications. Councilman Randall, however, is filing a minority report requesting that the City Attorney advise the Council whether it has the power to require fees for the permits based on a flat rate or on a percentage of production.

It is Randall's contention that the city is entitled to a royalty based on the proportion of the productive territory covered by public streets and alleys.

His report also asks that the City Attorney advise whether the Council can require the issuance of permits through community leases, covering blocks of lots, contending that this will prevent haphazard and wasteful drilling.

The committee, in granting all applications which it has received from the City Planning Commission, with the commission's favorable recommendation, denied a number of protests entered by persons who oppose the industrialization of the area.

The oil excitement was created several weeks ago when the Ohio Oil Company brought in a well on the property of the Recreation Gun Club, just over the county line from Venice.

With the exception of the Felix Oil Corporation, partial operator of the Felix No. 1, which recently was completed on the north dome at Kettleman Hills by the Petroleum Securities Company, all operators on that structure, which included representatives of the Independent Land Owners' League of Fresno, agreed to allow the new group to function and determine what plan should be made effective.

A series of meetings will be held during the next few weeks and until one of two proposed plans for the development of the Kettleman Hills oil field has been selected no attempt will be made to select a permanent group.

CONSERVATIONISTS PLAN PROGRAM FOR TODAY

Plans under way for the oil conservation conference called by the Chamber of Commerce for tomorrow at 10 a.m. were developed yesterday to the point where it was agreed that the conference should open with a general discussion of the problem.

To accomplish this President Austin, who will preside, first will call upon several representative oil men, not yet selected, to lay the situation before the assembly. Then open discussion will follow and it, in turn, will be followed by an attempt to formulate a program of aid in stabilizing the situation.

The meeting was called by the chamber at the instance of a group which the clearinghouse association convened in order to familiarize the public with the situation. It will be conducted in the chamber rooms.

GOODYEAR BLIMP WINS ROSE PARADE TROPHY

For entering the first aerial float in Pasadena's annual New Year Tournament of Roses Parade the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company today is in possession of a silver trophy presented by C. Hal Reynolds, president of the Tournament of Roses Association. The trophy will be placed permanently in the dock of the blimp Volunteer, the aerial entry that cruised back and forth over the heads of thousands during the parade. The blimp was decorated with flags to resemble a yacht and was piloted by Lieut. Bud Campbell. Guy Hill, Goodyear's Pasadena representative, accepted the trophy on behalf of the company.

HAWORTH TO ANSWER CHARGE OF HOLD-UPS

Held to answer on a robbery charge following a preliminary hearing before Judge Cook in Long Beach Municipal Court Tuesday, Wilbur C. Haworth, 25 years of age, yesterday was booked in the County Jail in lieu of $15,000 bail. Haworth was taken in custody by Long Beach police in connection with asserted hold-ups in June, 1928.

UNCLE ELBY QUITS INK BOTTLE

Character Confronts His Cartooner

They're Both Real!

"Uncle" Elby Eastman (right) and Clifford McBride with Napoleon.

MOST folks have had a suspicion for some time that quite a number of cartoon characters are drawn from real life.

Cartoonists usually are noncommittal but once in a while they break down and give the low-down on where they got their funny-paper actors. This is what Clifford McBride, creator of "Uncle Elby and His Dog Napoleon," which runs in The Los Angeles Times Sunday Magazine and other leading newspapers throughout the country, has done.

Cliff was forced to the admission by the arrival via Western Air Express from Plainfield, Wis., of his uncle, Elby Eastman. His gigantic St. Bernard, Napoleon, met him at the airport. Mr. Eastman is the original of Uncle Elby and Napoleon, of course, is his dog.

Followers of McBride's comic page will note the resemblance of Uncle Elby, as depicted by the cartoonist's deft pen, to the Uncle Elby of real life, as revealed by the camera lens.

Mr. Eastman and Napoleon are visiting McBride at the latter's home in Altadena.

John Bowling Cryer Dies at His Home in Burbank from Heart Attack

John Bowling Cryer, 81 years of age, father of former Mayor George E. Cryer, and a resident of Los Angeles for forty-five years, died suddenly from a heart attack at his home in Burbank yesterday. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but the services are expected to be conducted tomorrow.

Mr. Cryer was born in Leeds, Eng., and came to America as a child with his parents. In later years he went to Iowa, later coming to California and established residence at Los Angeles. Throughout his life until retirement several years ago, he was interested in merchandising and mining.

While conducting a frontier trading post at Sioux City in 1876 Mr. Cryer provisioned the ill-fated troops of Gen. Custer just as that commander was preparing to penetrate the Little Big Horn country, where the military complement was massacred by the Indians.

On coming to Los Angeles the Cryer household was established at Seventh and Pearl streets, the locality now known as Seventh and Figueroa streets. The Cryer residence at that time stood in a vast orchard and vineyard.

Mr. Cryer apparently was in good health yesterday morning and remarked to those at his home that he was feeling well. Later in the day, however, the heart seizure affected him and he died suddenly.

He leaves two sons, the former Mayor of Los Angeles, and Frank Cryer of Glendora; a daughter, Mrs. Jennie H. Haskell of Glendora, and his widow.

missions of the other States who were trying to deal with California. The Californians did harmonize on the point that the California commission would not make a move unless it was by unanimous action of the commissioners.

ACCORD DESIRED

Throughout it all there has been a disposition on the part of all the California groups to try to compose their differences. There was no question of their desire in this direction. The meeting today is for the purpose of trying to find some method of harmonizing the conflicting claims. The Imperial Valley and associated agricultural interests in that part of the State are asking for practically all of the titled water proposed to be allocated to the State, or 4,400,000 acre feet. The Metropolitan Water District is asking for an additional 1,100,000 acre feet.

The point is that in addition to the water carrying title to it under allocation there is, according to engineers, plenty of additional water physically present in the river. The argument has been made that each group might cut down its demands on the titled water and "take a chance" on the surplus. And the engineers say the "chance" will be nothing at all. This is the matter that will be the chief point of discussion at the conference between the groups today.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR DR. WILSON

Introducer of Exodontia in Los Angeles Will be Laid to Rest in Forest Lawn

Funeral services for Dr. J. E. Wilson, who is credited with having introduced the practice of exodontia in Los Angeles, will be conducted at 4 p.m. today at the W. A. Brown mortuary, Eighteenth and Flower streets. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Dr. Wilson, who died in his sleep Monday night at his home, 2174 Ponet Drive, was 65 years of age. A native of Ontario, Can., he came to Los Angeles from Indiana in 1899, having graduated in surgery from the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia. Although not a dentist in the academic meaning of the word, he established his first office over the old Broadway Department store at Fourth street and Broadway, for the exclusive practice of exodontia, the science of teeth extraction. He described his work as limited surgery. For ten years he was the only specialist of his kind in the city. At the time of his death he maintained offices in the Hollingsworth Building. He was an honorary member of the Exodontists' Club, and a member of the staff of Hollywood Hospital.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Wilson, Dr. Wilson leaves one daughter, Mrs. Florence W. Hiatt, and two grand-daughters, Marjorie and Barbara Hiatt.

Miss Westover leaves Los Angeles tonight for personal appearances in San Francisco. This marks her first picture role since her divorce from Hart, former screen "two-gun man." By terms of an agreement with Hart she consented to remain out of pictures for a certain period and not to use his name.

W. C. T. U. MEETS TODAY

The Los Angeles Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet today at 1:45 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets. A round-table of current events is to be an important feature of the program. Crusaders will speak on "Our Torchbearers."

NARCOTIC WAR HELP INVOKED

City Club Hears Pleas For United Fight on Evil

Judge Fricke Shows Danger to Every Citizen

W. J. Herwig Stresses Need of Added Co-operation

Pictures of the havoc wrought by drug addicts were presented to City Club members yesterday by Superior Judge Fricke, president, and W. J. Herwig, general superintendent, of the Narcotic Research Association.

"When we consider the fact that in the Pacific Coast States there are more than 8000 drug addicts, in addition to the more than 10,000 Mexican users of marihuana, and that each addict is an actual or potential criminal, we cannot longer refuse to recognize that we have before us a gigantic social problem," said Judge Fricke.

"There has been much talk concerning the cure for this evil that is eating at the heart of our civilization and there will be still more talk, more work and more legislation until, like other maladies, it shall have been eradicated," said Judge Fricke.

DANGERS SHOWN

"You may say that the narcotic evil does not affect you but no one should be ignorant of the fact that a malady that menaces the safety and sanity of one member of the commonwealth has an indirect but invariably injurious effect on all society," said the speaker. "Half the hospital beds in America are filled with insane patients, the majority of them being drug addicts. More than eighty cases a week pass through our local psychopathic ward. These addicts must obtain from five to eight grains of dope daily in order to keep normal and escape the most terrible torture known to man. Wherever there is a demand for a dangerous drink or drug, there always will be found akuns willing to peddle the poison. At the price of $1 a grain, the morphine addict, unfitted for legitimate labor, is impelled to robbery. The robbing of automobile tires and other accessories and of household goods usually is the work of the drug addict.

"Last year Los Angeles stores lost nearly $2,000,000 to shoplifters and 75 per cent of the thieves were drug victims," said Judge Fricke. "Our present State hospital at Spadra, which accommodates only seventy-five patients with no provision for women and with a maximum of only eight months' commitment, is wholly inadequate to take care of the situation."

DRIVE DESCRIBED

"With the assistance of our Federal government, our Los Angeles Mexican Consul and Vice-Consul and many other influential individuals and organizations, our association is attempting to get all similar societies in America and Mexico to co-operate under one organization for one definite program, the reduction of the drug evil through education and legislation," said Mr. Herwig. "We need to enact more stringent and uniform laws against drug peddling and to co-ordinate all narcotic law-enforcement bodies of this city, State and nation. School textbooks on physiology should contain proper information and warning in this particular but should, of course, in no sense be so sensational as to attract attention of the susceptible to morbid habits."

The Narcotic Research Association of the Pacific Coast States has headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Officials of the association include influential citizens of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada and Arizona.

Veteran's Rites to be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Lieut. Harry Chapman, United States Army, retired, will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow from the Dellenbaugh funeral chapel, 630 Venice Boulevard. He died Monday in the United States Veterans' Hospital at Livermore. He was 38 years of age, and was well known in the Los Angeles financial district.

He was born in Atlanta, Ga., and graduated from the Georgia Institute of Technology. At the outbreak of the World War he enlisted with the old One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, was transferred and saw service in France where the disability causing his death originated. He was a member of Quentin Roosevelt Chapter, Disabled American Veterans.

He leaves his widow, his mother, Mrs. Nida B. Chapman of Chicago, a sister, Mrs. S. G. Dickenson of Atlanta, and a brother-in-law, Jack Pennick.

ARGUMENT ON LAW RESUMES

Oil Operators' Attack on Gas Waste Statute Not Affected by Conservation Agreement

Whatever plan operators work out among themselves to curtail oil production in the Santa Fe Springs field is one matter and the proceedings in court against them, wherein the State seeks an injunction to stop wastage of natural gas under the new Gas and Oil Conservation Act, is another matter, in the opinion of Attorney Robert Murphy, who, with Attorneys Neil McCarthy and Walter Haas, counsel for a group of small companies, is resisting the restraining order.

Arguments attacking the constitutionality of California's new Gas and Oil Conservation Act, which seeks to establish a gas-oil ratio in every field of the State, will be resumed this morning before Superior Judge Haslett.

When asked whether the action taken Tuesday by operators in the Santa Fe Springs field relative to production curtailment would have any effect in bringing about a settlement of the case in court, Attorney Murphy last night said:

"What the operators work out in a production agreement is one thing and the proceedings now in court are another thing, according to my belief."

Some of the larger companies are accusing the group of smaller concerns of blocking the enforcement of the new conservation act and incidentally a production program by appearing in court on technicalities.

The sister suit to the one now in court, the same sort of an action brought against operators in the Signal Hill field, is trailing the Santa Fe Springs case. When the hearing on the Santa Fe Springs case is concluded, the one on the petition in the Signal Hill case will immediately follow.

Attorneys McCarthy, Murphy and Haas are attacking the validity of the new conservation law on the grounds that it is too vague in its phraseology for enforcement and also that it gives too much arbitrary power to the State gas and oil supervisor in fixing a gas-oil ratio in the various fields of the State.

A gas-oil ratio as outlined in the new act seeks to fix the number of cubic feet of natural gas that shall escape with the production of each barrel of oil. At present, according to the arguments of Attorneys James S. Bennett and George R. Larwell, prosecuting the cases for the State, millions of cubic feet of natural gas is being wasted each year in California—gas that can be used either for commercial purposes or placed back into the ground for repressuring purposes for the future production of oil.

Nothing in the world can make one feel so sumptuously prosperous as a visit to the de luxe automobile show at the Biltmore. Hard times seem so absurdly remote as one is conducted reverently through lines of utterly luxurious cars.

And mind you, it is the "wants" of American women that have made this country the richest in the world. A commercial magnate said so only last week. It would, one felt, be a calamity to the nation if we women were content to abide in that station of life to which it has pleased Providence to call us. Our job is to assist Providence in pleasing to call us ever onward and upward, unto $22,500 Rolls-Royces, $11,700 Mercedes, $15,000 Pierce-Arrows and the like. It is an acceptable duty.

CARS FOR LADIES

Wherefore Mrs. Al Jolson, the flapper bride of the Mammy chorister, has performed a patriotic duty in cosening her lord into presenting her with that olive and buff limousine, which reeks of the combination of German and Italian art. Every single person who has had a hand in its materialisation radiates exaltation. The fellow that designed the body, the chap that thought of the fancy bumpers, the electrician who conceived the telephone and lighting apparatus, the man who hand-rolled the fenders, the hardware designers, the finishers, each and all of them has claims to special glory.

All these superlative cars, which overflow from the ballroom and steer down peacock alley, were obviously conceived with an eye to the ladies. All kinds of ladies with varying forms of gimme ability. Should she crave dignity and F-F-V distinction, behold a Franklin, adorned with side lamps of the old coaching day order and a general air of pedigreed class. Should she wish for that variety which is the spice of life, behold a Lincoln awaits her, at something around $10,000, that can be converted into five types of cars, awaiting her every mood. Today it can be the family limousine, tomorrow the visiting town car, a touring car at will, or a dashing, saucy sport car. It is carried out in that soft seductive green that can so artfully be dignified or sporty, according as windows are let up or down and canopies either drawn back or all-enshrouding. A marvelous car for, say, a royal princess to elope with an adventurous American in.

ROLLS PLUM OF SHOW

Or again there is a two-tone Cadillac in autumnal tints, sort of rich-poetic. It would do so nicely for, say, Edna Vincent Millay Bosawain, who is probably still working on her first million, but well within the $6000-car class.

The two-tone Duesenberg in blues tints of genealogy and modernity, and, alcof, infinitely superior, calling for a handsome chauffeur in a powder blue uniform with a touch of black. The firm who made the body for this is Judkins . . . whose forbears have been coachbuilders since 1800 back in Massachusetts, and who would willingly die rather than that their coachbuilding reputation should be sullied. This car is in the $10,000 class.

The plum of the show, awaiting some regal feminine owner, is the $22,500 Rolls-Royce, wrought in a clever scheme of basket work over steel, with $2000 worth of inlaid

Sumptuous Cars Designed Mostly For Women

Fine Fittings and Unusual Tones Dominate

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Nothing in the world can make us feel so conspicuously prosperous as a visit to the de luxe automobile show at the Biltmore. Hard times seem so absurdly remote as one is whisked reverently through lines of many luxurious cars.

And what you, it is the "wants" of American women that have made this country the richest in the world. A commercial magnate said last week. It would, one is only but week. It would, one is only but week. It would, one is, be a calamity to the nation if women were content to abide by the station of life to which it has pleased Providence to call us. Our job is to assist Providence in every way to call us ever onward and upward, onto $22,500 Rolls-Royces, $10,000 Mercedes, $15,000 Pierce-Arrows and the like. It is an acceptable duty.

CARS FOR LADIES

Wanting Mrs. Al Jolson, the former bride of the Mammy chorister, has performed a patriotic act in canoeing her lord into premiership with that olive and buff number, which reeks of the combination of German and Italian motifs. Every single person who has a word in his materialisation seems enamored. The fellow that conceived the telescoping lighting apparatus, the man who conceived the telescoping and lighting apparatus, the man who conceived the tele-scoping-rolled-in the fenders, the hardware designers, the finishers, and all of them has claims to great glory.

Of these superlative cars, which came from the ballroom and the dress parade alley, were constructed with an eye to every luxe. All kinds of ladies with every luxe of gimme ability, from the grave dignity and F-F-V charm, behind a Franklin, framed with side lamps of the old spring dry order and a general air of pedigreed class. Should she want her first variety which is the spice of life, behold a Lincoln with her, at something around $5000 can be converted into the kind of car, awaiting her command. Today it can be the town limousine, tomorrow the visiting car, a touring car at Del Mar or a dashing, sassy sport car. Or, if she should want in that soft seduction of a coupe that can so artfully be closed or open, according as eyes are let up or down and mouths either drawn back or allowed to smile. A marvelous car for, say, a royal princess to elope with a handsome American in.

HILLS PLUM OF SHOW

Again there is a two-tone color in autumnal tints, sort of dynamic. It would do so nicely for, say, Miss Vincent Millay Bosworth, who is probably still working on her first million, but well into the $5000-car class.

The two-tone Duesenberg in blues is also striking and noteworthy, and simply infinitely superior, especially in a handsome chauffeur in a color line uniform with a touch of limb. The firm who made the car for this is Judkins . . . the Judkins have been coach builders since 1800 back in Massachusetts, and who would willingly do other than that their coachwork reputation should be suitable. This car is in the $10,000 class.

The plum of the show, awaiting only final furniture by owner, is the Rolls-Royce, wrought in a symphony of basket work over with $2000 worth of inlaid handwork on the inside wood. They point to a tiny panel and breathe the name of some exalted artist. Woods have been culled from special forests, the finest leather obtainable anywhere, air cushions for milady's tootsies, and a neat system of signalling to the driver by which the fair one suffers no possible exertion.

Another at $30,000 is in a soft rich red . . . just a soupcon sporty in a thoroughly lady-like sort of way, you understand, and this is equipped with cocktail shakers, luncheon outfits, trays, cigarette lighters, rugs to match, telephone et al. The fellow who buys this should secure it for, say, the Greta Garbo type of lady.

FEATURES MANY

Then there is a gun-metal car, picked out in red stripes, and upholstered in red leather, that is highly patrician, sporty . . . quite a bargain at something near $10,000.

August guides, who speak in well-bred lowered tones, conduct one around and expatiate on the numerous new ideas . . . this picked up in France, this in Italy, this in Germany. Fancy names are given new alluring colors . . . Andean rhodonite, for instance, is a special tone of soft red. One is invited to seat one's self in the improved extra seats that open out of inlaid wood cabinets. One is asked to talk over the gentle telephones, the voice coming musically out of a little grating beneath the wheel . . . no raucous shouting. Or there are a series of buttons in one car, by which lights glow on the dashboard, seven lights for seven forms of instructions . . . "Drive more slowly," "Home, James," "Stop" and so forth. One fellow was particularly proud of his cigarette lighter, a French idea, which has no wire attachments, but glows long enough to light two cigarettes.

Shatterless glass, an English idea, is popular now. It will break if pounded with a hammer but it won't scatter. Beauty of hardware has received special artistic attention, so that a door-knob becomes a work of art. Clever ways of improving wind-shields, which it seems should be both V-shaped and slanting are proudly exhibited by one.

A couple of hours of this sort of thing, and I decided there was nothing the matter with American industry. One so easily becomes wealth conscious. In fact, when my youngster, who accompanied me, explained that he would like to trade in his 1926 Ford roadster for something like Paul Whiteman's new Cord, a sport model in black and white at $6500, very low as to axel and roof, very low roomy seats, and equipped with, among other things, a writing desk . . . it seemed quite reasonable. There was always a chance that I might get to use the desk sometime . . .

So I just took the street car back to the office . . . on a token, to save three-quarters of a cent . . . and here we are.

Among Those Taking Part in Program

British Soldier Guest at Studio

Lieut.-Gen. H. D. Parquharson, British figure of the World War, now in Los Angeles, visited the Paramount studios yesterday. Gen. Parquharson, with his wife and daughter Dulcie, is here for a month's stay. He was accompanied to the studios by his brother, A. G. Parquharson, secretary of the Radio Trade Association of Southern California. At the studios he was the guest of Charles Mack of the team of Moran and Mack.

Gen. Parquharson recently retired from the Royal Marines Light Infantry of England following thirty-eight years of active service. This is his first visit to the United States.

of religion at the University of Southern California, also spoke on Lincoln.

Honoring the memory of Lincoln, the Los Angeles Exchange Club will present Dr. Henry Clay Best, vice-chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University at Cumberland Gap, Tenn., as its speaker of the day at noon at the Biltmore. Andrew J. Kimball, Civil War veteran and standard bearer at the Lincoln funeral, will give a short talk.

SPECIAL CEREMONY MARKS OBSERVANCE

The memory of the Great Emancipator was paid homage last night at the meeting of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis Post, No. 1537, Veterans of Foreign Wars. John Steven McGroarty was the principal speaker. The gathering was at Patriotic Hall.

The meeting also was marked by the dedication of new colors donated to the post by Harry Chandler. Appropriate ceremonies followed the carrying into the room of the patriotic emblems, which after a brief address by Commander Frank J. Lipstreu, were placed in their standards with all at salute. A. C. Munson, department commander of the U.S.W.V., and Charles Hildebrandt of Pasadena, department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were honor guests.

ENVIES VETERANS

"I envy every citizen who has had a chance to defend his country," said Mr. McGroarty. "I envy him his opportunity to defend the most beautiful flag in the world. I envy the soldiers who fought for Lincoln and the great republic made great by the greatness of the men who served it.

"America is great because of its restraint and its love of peace. Had Napeoleon the chance that America has he would have taken Canada and Mexico long ago. That is one of the reasons I am proud of America.

"Today, the birthday of the great Lincoln, is a good day to stop and take stock of the welfare of this great country. The soldier defends his flag with bullets in time of war and we, as good citizens, should defend it with ballots in time of peace.

ILLUSTRIOUS NAME

"I have a strong tie with this post because of the name it bears—that of my old employer and friend, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis. For thirty years I have worked with his organization. I knew him intimately and never an unkind word did I receive from him.

"He was a patriotic citizen, courageous beyond the ordinary. He defended his flag in two wars, was wounded in battle and in peace time was ever ready to defend the flag and what he thought to be right. He was a man of proven courage and he never failed when duty of a patriotic nature called for his services."

JUDGE McCOMB SPEAKS

Superior Judge Marshall McComb was the principal speaker last night at the meeting of Los Angeles Post No. 8 of the American Legion at Patriotic Hall. The meeting had been called especially to celebrate Lincoln's birthday. At the meeting 143 new members were initiated. In his address Judge McComb, who is a member of the post, said:

"The ideals of Lincoln are those stressed in the constitution of the American Legion. The Legion has striven to care for the sick and disabled veterans of the World War and has been successful in part. It seems to me that the Legion could also serve the country by a concerted effort to inculcate the value of integrity and loyalty to ideals in the minds of young men and boys.

DISCOURAGED YOUTH

"Much of our crime is committed by young men who have not been taught the ideals of Lincoln. Lincoln's example should be placed vividly before the youth who starts life all wrong by thinking that he hasn't a chance to succeed by toil and study."

Another patriotic society, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, composed of officers of the Union forces during the Civil War, celebrated Lincoln's birthday with a banquet at the Alexandria. Col. William F. Knight of Pasadena, commander of the Commandery of Southern California, presided.

Among those who delivered addresses were Col. George C. Ball, one of the founders of the organization, Rev. Leslie E. Learned, rector of All Saints' Church, Pasadena, and Lansing Glenn Lytle Sayre.

Noah Beery, Under Knife, Seriously Ill

Noah Beery, picture actor, is in a serious condition at Hollywood Hospital as the result of an operation for appendicitis performed yesterday afternoon. Operating physicians said last night that a gangrenous condition of the appendix was found and that it was yet too early to tell definitely the outcome.

"You can say that his condition is serious," was the statement issued.

Mr. Beery has been at his trout farm for several days and yesterday came to Los Angeles for medical attention. He complained of severe pains and at 11 o'clock yesterday morning was ordered to Hollywood Hospital. It was decided an immediate operation was necessary and between 4 and 5 p.m. he went under the ether.

He was resting fairly well last night, his attending physician reported.

Mr. Beery was to have made a personal appearance last night at a local theater. He is one of the old-time "heavies" of the screen and a pioneer in the motion-picture business.

EIGHTS SEEN AS LEADING OVER SIXES

Auto Show Officials Tell Indications of New Trend in Production Schedules

Tabulations completed yesterday by officials of the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association concerning standard American-made automobiles eligible for exhibition in the forthcoming show which opens at the Shrine Auditorium Saturday afternoon, the 22nd inst., definitely determine that the eight-cylinder cars have replaced the sixes in production schedules. There are now twenty-seven different makes of eights on the market; twenty-two straight or in-line types, and five of the V type. Against this there are but twenty-four sixes.

"The battle for supremacy waged for years between the four and the six-cylinder models has been transferred to the six and eight-cylinder fields," stated H. W. Tuttle, chairman of the show committee. "That the six-cylinder delegation won their contest for popularity over the fours is indicated in the fact that today there are but four standard makes of cars using four cylinders."

Automotive engineers and the motoring public alike are agreed that there is less differences in operation between a six and an eight than between a four and a six, therefore the question of supremacy in this instance will be more difficult of settlement. That the manufacturers are prepared for the quest in popularity is evinced in the different cars booked for appearance at the show. Practically every standard six and eight will be represented.

LINCOLN LAUDED AT CLUB DINNER

ident was treated of in an address liberally studded with Lincoln anecdotes, many of them recently brought to light, which was delivered by Dr. Carl Safford Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church of this city. Prof. Thomson, having called attention to the fact that Darwin was one of the few Englishmen of high intellectual rank who sympathized deeply with Lincoln during his lifetime, Dr. Patton pointed out that, although virtually without academic education, Lincoln had arrived at a sympathetic appreciation of the general doctrine of evolution long before it became accepted by many college professors and widely read men in general.

PERSONAL MEMORY

A personal memory of Lincoln was given to the club members by Rev. Charles Clothier McLean, who told of witnessing, as a 10-year-old boy, the raising of a flag over Independence Hall in Philadelphia by Lincoln while he was en route to Washington for his first inauguration. The speaker's father was president of the reception committee on that occasion. As is the custom of the club, the banquet concluded with the reading of the Gettysburg address, the reader this year being Edward D. Lyman, a vice-president of the club.

An appreciation of Lincoln in his character as the first great leader of the Republican party was contained in a telegram sent by President Hoover to the banquet. It follows:

HOOVER'S TELEGRAM

The White House, Washington, D. C., February 10, 1930.

Ernest C. Moore,
President Lincoln Club of Southern California,
Los Angeles, Cal.

The spirit of Abraham Lincoln more and more permeates the political ideals of our people. His greatness of heart, his wide comprehension of issues, and his patience, his belief in the people—are touchstones of democracy and of practical government.

Abraham Lincoln believed in party government. He held that government by the majority was one of the most essential principles of democracy, and that the majority could not express its will except through party organization. He believed that political parties must have a spirit as well as a program. He endowed the Republican party with a great tradition, a sense of organization and a sense of responsibility to the people which has dominated its spirit since his day.

It is a sure instinct and a worthy thing that brings the members of the Republican party together each year to commemorate his birth. I would be glad if you would convey my greetings and good wishes upon this occasion.

HERBERT HOOVER.

Commercial Flying Declared in Critical Stage

Democratic Leader Sails on First Hawaiian Trip

Commercial aviation in America is at the most critical stage of its development. A liberal aviation-aid policy by the government is imperative to insure to the flying industry its proper position in the American economic scheme.

That is the gist of an interview with William Gibbs McAdoo, wartime Secretary of the Treasury and director-general of railways, who yesterday sailed for Hawaii aboard the Lasco flagship City of Los Angeles. The distinguished lawyer, on his first trip to Hawaii, said he has planned the voyage for more than twenty years and on several occasions had purchased his transportation, when press of business forestalled the trip.

AIR LINES HELD UP

At present he is chief mover in a scheme for a new transcontinental air-mail and passenger service, via the southern route, together with a similar service linking all the islands of the Hawaiian group.

"Our plans are held up just now while the Postoffice Department works out its new air-mail schedules and rates," he explained. "Commercial aviation deserves just as much consideration today from the government as did the railroads when they were struggling for existence. Aviation is fast becoming a necessity in the high speed of American business.

DIRIGIBLE SERVICE URGED

"We do not seek subsidies of any kind. We want only assurance of equitable mail contracts and the establishment of government safety measures, such as aerial weather service and well-marked and lighted air routes."

Mr. McAdoo declared himself strongly in favor of a trans-Pacific dirigible service. The lighter-than-air branch of aeronautics will soon have a definite place in long-range transportation, he said.

With Mr. McAdoo is Mrs. McAdoo, the former Eleanor Wilson, and their daughter, Faith. Also with the party is Mrs. Margaret Gaffey Mel of Pasadena, her daughter, Miss Sheila Ward, and Arthur Loomis, noted Southland horseman. The party will return on the return voyage of the City of Los Angeles.

NOTED SPEAKERS WILL ADDRESS CONFERENCE

With the acceptance of a distinguished list of speakers for the dinner opening the Western States Conference on Birth Control and Population Problems at the Roosevelt Hotel next Thursday, the program is complete, according to Dr. Aaron J. Rosanoff, chairman of the program committee. Margaret Spring-Rice, internationally known feminist, will speak on "The British Government and Birth Control." Alexander Kaun, professor of the Slavic languages at Berkeley, will discuss "Russia and the Far East," and Constantine Panunzio, professor of sociology at the San Diego State Teachers' College, will talk on "Population Growth and European Unrest." Margaret Sanger will discuss "The Next Step in Birth Control."

GIRL GAINS NEW HONOR AT COLLEGE

Miss Ruth Shellhorn of South Pasadena Winner in Landscaping Contest

Miss Ruth L. Shellhorn of South Pasadena, who has been winning prizes at Oregon State College almost as a matter of course, has won a new honor there, according to information received here yesterday. Details were not given beyond the fact that she has received a mention of honor for notable work in landscape architecture in a nation-wide competition.

Miss Shellhorn was graduated from South Pasadena High School in 1927. She went to Oregon State for landscape architecture. In her first year there she attained a scholastic average of 92.6 out of a possible 96 per cent and thereby won the scholarship cup offered for the school by Alpha Zeta, national honorary fraternity in agriculture. She won also a certificate of award for scholarship the same year from Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity for schools of science. She was one of fifty-seven Phi Kappa winners in a class of 1500.

In her first year also, Miss Shellhorn won the Clara Waldo prize as the most representative frosh woman on the campus. She is a member of the college honor council and of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. As a sophomore she was sports manager of the Women's Athletic Association and captain of the volley ball team and at one time or another was a member of the college teams in basketball, swimming and tennis.

Miss Shellhorn is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Shellhorn, 2043 Edgewood Drive, South Pasadena.

Loyola School Year Book Wins National Honor

El Camino, the year book of Loyola High School, 1901 Venice Boulevard, has been awarded the all-American honor rating in the ninth national year book contest sponsored by the National Scholastic Press Association at the University of Minnesota, department of journalism. Announcement of the award, highest within the gift of the association, was made yesterday by Rev. Robert Shepherd, S.J., supervising editor of the publication, to whom the official diploma was addressed.

The contest is open annually to the year books of both colleges and high schools throughout the United States and the award to Loyola marks the first time in nine years of competition that any high school or college in California or any Catholic school in the United States has won the superior rating.

Karl Von Der Ahe, '29, who now is studying at the Jesuit Seminary, Los Gatos, was editor-in-chief of the winning year book.

STREET PLANS ORDERED

The City Engineer is under instructions from the City Council to prepare the plans and ordinances for the improvement of Ninety-eighth street from Clovis avenue to Avalon Boulevard, the project also to include portions of Clovis avenue, Ninety-ninth and One Hundredth streets. The improvement is to consist of a thirty-six-foot paved roadway, curbs and sidewalks.

EARLE'S DRAMA NEARS FINALE

Jury to Get Miss Salazar's Case Early Today

Prenuptial Contract Breach Asserted in Action

Girl's Counsel Paint Artist as Love Maker

Dolores Salazar, pretty Spanish girl, probably will know some time today what twelve jurors, seven of them women, think of her romance with Ferdinand Pinney (Affinity) Earle, artist, whom she is suing for $30,000 for an asserted breach of a prenuptial contract.

The last act in the court drama which was enacted for more than a week, in which the intimate life of the young woman and her relations with the artist, now living in Paris, were revealed, will come this morning when Superior Judge Archbald will read his instructions to the jury. After this the jury will retire to consider the verdict.

GIRL LOOKS TIRED

Miss Salazar will wait for the jury's verdict with her mother and sisters and friends who have loyally stood by her through her ordeal.

When court adjourned Tuesday evening to take a recess over the Lincoln Birthday holiday, Miss Salazar, whom artists style the girl with a Madonna face, looked wan and tired.

COUNSEL SCORE EARLE

During their closing arguments both Attorney Roger Marchetti and L. Bear Newman, counsel for Dolores, excoriated Earle, many years the senior of their client, describing him as a man who is a master love maker.

Attorneys Sam Steelman and William B. Ogden, representing the artist, argued that if there had been a prenuptial contract made by Earle, it was invalid for the reason Dolores knew he had not obtained a divorce from his last wife at the time he made it.

GILBERT WILL SEEK REVENGE

pens in the future depends on the circumstances of our next meeting.

"The mere fact that Tully knocked me down hasn't frightened me, nor has it changed my opinion about his prowess as a fighter. I firmly believe the results will be far different if it ever happens again. The circumstances were all against me the night at the Brown Derby.

"But there's one thing sure, and that is this: If I feel as I did the night we met in the cafe there's going to be trouble."

Told that Tully remarked he had "better take care of his picture work and let me alone," Gilbert merely laughed and had no comment to make.

Tully reasserted he is not and was not looking for trouble with Gilbert, and that the latter provoked the battle before scores of patrons at the restaurant, but that he will protect himself whenever and wherever the occasion presents itself.

Since the fight Gilbert has been sojourning at Palm Springs with his wife, Ina Claire, New York stage actress, who came here for the talkies. He denied reports he went to the resort to get into condition for another meeting with Tully.

COSTLY CARELESSNESS

Those who believe in the statement that if you want something done, ask a busy person to do it, will not be surprised in the report of the Federal Postoffice that business firms last year cost the government $5,000,000 in hunting addresses that should have been included by the senders, and that the largest business organizations made the fewest mistakes.

AN ISLAND OF FLYERS

Australia, with its immense stretches of wilderness and its scarcity of railroads, has felt the aviation urge more strongly than countries with better ground transportation systems. It promises to be a leader in the practical use of the airplane. Moreover, it is developing some of the finest aviators in the world. It was an Australian flyer who made the only complete trans-Pacific flight from Oakland to Sydney. Another established a record between Perth, Northern Australia, and Croydon, Eng. Their aviators are after more air honors with evey promise of winning them.

TOO MANY BOOKS?

The cry of the booksellers today is made up of the refrain that these United States are producing too many books. The dead wood on the shelves of the bookstores in the space of a year is appalling. They are getting together to see if some "gentleman's agreement" about restricting the number of books any publisher accepts may be consummated. Yet the Publishers' Weekly estimate for the past ten years shows that only a 65 per cent increase in the number of new titles has been made in ten years' time. Now comes another statistician to tell us that Scandinavia, with a total population a little larger than New York State, publishes annually as many books as the entire United States. Scandinavia's book appetite must be omniverous.

TALKING OF THE WEATHER

The weather man is highly esteemed for his efforts to tell the truth under trying circumstances and with the reports and instruments at hand. However, it must grieve his great soul to have the storms fail to jibe with his most ardent moments and have some folks say that they take him by opposites.

While the hindsight of the meteorologist may seem to be better at times than his foresight, yet the weather is becoming a more accurate science from year to year.

It was predicted just the other day that the Weather Bureau will soon be announcing, "Fair, cool and rising static." For radio conditions are about to be added to the already overburdened career of the chief in charge.

An old-timer with his rheumatism and moon may at times be held in high regard for his efforts. Even the Transcript of learned Boston employs an old bewhiskered farmer to do its prophesying for it. And the flapper can tell you it is going to rain, because her hair begins to curl, if it happens to be that kind of hair.

However, the orchardist has come to rely on the weather man. Just what the aviator would do without him is a question. And the radio bug is about to show its affection for him.

The California climate gives the weather man a vacation most of the year. It may storm enough in a few days to last for months. The rancher does not have to lie awake at nights; nor does he have to ask the parson to pray for rain. He just goes out and turns on the sluice.

SUBMARINES TO STAY

Retention of the submarine, but with rules to limit its use to prevent such occurrences as drew the United States into the World War, seems now the most likely action of the London naval conference on this vexing problem. It was somewhat surprising to find Italy supporting even in principle the view of the United States and Great Britain that submarines should be abolished, though the attitude of France and Japan in favor of the undersea boats was expected.

The difficulty of rules limiting submarine activity, as Secretary Stimson pointed out, is their enforcement. Such rules already existed prior to the last war, but Germany broke them as she broke the rule against poison gas. But on the other hand it would not be impossible to build submarines secretly, so that a rule abolishing them might not work either. War itself is a negation of all laws, a form of international anarchy, especially since the adoption of the Kellogg-Briand treaty, and its horrors are only limited by the possibility of retaliation. The problem is a difficult one.

Advance notices of the demand which Japan is expected to make within the next day or so for a 70 per cent ratio in cruisers and virtual parity in submarines and auxiliary vessels with the United States have proved somewhat surprising to Americans, as surprising as the storm of criticism provoked in Tokio by the naval reduction proposals outlined by Secretary Stimson several days ago. More than the jingo element in Japan seems to be involved.

Now the general attitude toward the naval conference here has been based upon the view that this country, with no warlike aims, needs no larger navy than will suffice to protect its shores and its trade routes in time of war and that there will be no war if it can possibly avoid it. It does not propose to maintain war vessels merely to put on front or for decorative purposes; it believes that national pride can be sufficiently manifested in other ways. Its needs, obviously, are measured by the length of coastline it needs to guard, the nature and amount of its commercial overseas traffic and the amount of the possible threat to either. The latter item depends upon the forces maintained by other naval nations.

It has tacitly been considered that all the naval world felt likewise. Based on this assumption has been the feeling that naval reduction by agreement ought to be comparatively simple to obtain, since all countries ought to be equally anxious to avoid unnecessary expenditure. It must now be acknowledged that this view is not necessarily the correct one; that the average American's feeling about his own navy may be, in fact, unique.

It is not necessary to leap to the conclusion that Japan harbors aggressive designs in desiring a bigger navy, or that there is any menace to the United States in the position of our neighbor of the Near West. The conception that there can be or should be a world without war has probably advanced in the United States more rapidly than elsewhere; yet even here it is of somewhat recent growth. Japan, which has leaped into modernity from extremely recent feudalism, could not be expected to have shaken itself free from all old ideas and ideals. The feeling that armament is something to be proud of, rather than something to be endured through necessity, may and apparently does linger there. It was much more prevalent in Europe prior to 1914 than it is today; much more prevalent in the United States even. Japan, it must be remembered, did not get into the thick of the World War, and did not thus get some of these illusions shattered.

That the glamour of war is an illusion was a conviction brought back from France and Flanders by the members of the American Expeditionary Force, and that conviction has influenced American thought profoundly. If it is possible to state the American consensus in a few words, it may be phrased as a belief that war is no more satisfactory or necessary for the settlement of international disputes than was dueling for the settlement of private disputes, and that war will disappear as dueling did, given a few years more of peace for the logic of this analogy to penetrate. But Japan may not see eye to eye with us in this matter.

Japan, then, may demand the right to build more cruisers merely because she likes to spend money that way, or because arms exalt her sense of national dignity, or even because she does not feel herself, with a lesser force, secure from attack. All three combined are understandable enough.

The matter is one for argument, concession or compromise. Argument, concession and compromise are what the London conference is for. If the American belief is well founded that war is an anachronism, the precise ratio of naval strength permitted to any one nation is not, after all, a matter of major importance.

THE ORANGE SHOW

The National Orange Show, which opens its doors today at San Bernardino for a ten-day run, is dedicated to one of Southern California's most characteristic industries. California did not invent the orange, but it put this healthful fruit on the breakfast tables of a whole nation, transforming it from a Christmas luxury into an every-day necessity. California advertised the orange and the orange advertised California, with mutually beneficial results. But it takes a visit to the Orange Show to get the whole orange story.

This is the twentieth annual show, and will be bigger and better than any of its nineteen predecessors, despite the fact that the season had a short crop. There has been no lack of quality, however, and this show is a quality rather than a quantity exhibit—though the total of oranges, lemons and grapefruit making up the exhibits runs into millions.

The National Orange Show is a nonprofit organization, run for the benefit of the citrus-raising industry, and its goal is the continued improvement of the orange and the other citrus fruits through the competition of growers and the education of growers. Not only the fruits themselves in bewildering variety of display, but the by-products—an increasingly valuable incidental industry—are to be seen at San Bernardino.

The first orange show was in a small tent in the business section of the city; now it takes a forty-acre plant and a group of exposition buildings to provide it enough space. The attendance the first year was 15,000; last year more than 250,000 persons passed through the gates, and this number is expected to be exceeded this year.

The show has never been stopped by adversity. A few years ago there was tremendous frost damage, but the Orange Show was just as glorious as ever. Another year a tent blew down, causing such damage that many exhibitors turned in their prize money voluntarily to help make good the loss; but the gifts were not accepted; the organization bore the burden alone.

So that those who go to San Bernardino see something truly Californian, in enterprise and spirit. The Orange Show is California in one of her moods, and California at her best is very good, indeed.

INSURGENCY GONE MAD

The attack by Senators Dill, Borah, Norris and others of the "lunatic fringe" of the Republican party, with their Democratic allies, upon the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes to be Chief Justice of the United States, is of course an attack directed really at President Hoover. Its effect will be to strengthen him with the country; it is the fate of all habitual fault finders to overdo and produce a reaction. There was no possibility of preventing Hughes's confirmation, and no real reason for attempting it; his standing in the nation was and is too high.

This exhibition of petty spite is a direct result of the abrogation of the rule that appointments made by the President should be considered behind closed doors. The insurgents got rid of this rule and then proceeded to prove it necessary by trying to throw mud at a man deemed by the whole country worthy of its highest judicial office—a country which considers, in fact, that this high office is no more than a fitting reward for Hughes's lifetime of public service.

Hughes, as a lawyer, was necessarily a special pleader for his clients, as any lawyer must be who does his professional duty. To criticise him for arguments made in the course of that duty is silly. If Senators do not approve the interpretations put upon laws by the Supreme Court, it is their privilege and duty to seek changes in the laws, by legislation or constitutional amendment as the case may require, so that the interpretations may be different. The lawyers who argue before the court are not to be held accountable for something which is, after all, the responsibility of Congress.

A WARRANTABLE DEDUCTION

Local evening newspaper says that "because the accused man ran over and killed the elderly man when he stepped from behind a street car at Vernon and McKinley streets he denied that his act constituted manslaughter." Inference is that had the killing occurred elsewhere he would have made no denial.

THE SADDLE WHALE
By James J. Montague

Bobby dosn't want to float
Too far away from shore
In any skiff, canoe or boat
Propelled by sail or oar;
Not even in a battleship
That towers toward the sky
Would Bobby care to take a trip
When seas are running high.
But when the whiskers of the tide
Are blowing in the gale
He'd dearly love to take a ride
Upon a saddle whale.

An easy-gaited saddle whale
That rode the heavier seas,
Propelled by his great lashing tail
With confidence and ease;
That never foundered in a blow,
To leave his shattered bones
Upon the bottom, far below
With Captain Davy Jones;
A whale that knew delightful bays
And isles of emerald green
Among sequestered ocean ways
That man has never seen.

When Bobby isn't young and frail,
But old and strong and tall,
He means to tame and train a whale
To answer to his call.
And then he'll travel far and free,
His eyes alert and keen
As o'er the waves he rides, to see
Whatever's to be seen.
But, inasmuch as he is eight,
The little fellow fears
That maybe he will have to wait
For quite a few more years.

MUCH is said about the persistence and insistence of realtors in Los Angeles, but little about the tricksters and petty grafters who are continually making them want to bite. There are thousands of the latter, a recognized type known as "the bean-eaters."

The "bean-eater" has no intention of buying property, and usually nothing with which to buy it. All he has is "front." He gives the impression that he is an important somebody, that he has large sums in bank or large blocks of convertible assets hidden away somewhere, and is looking for an opportunity for investment.

He continually invites the realtors to hound him. He calls himself to their attention so they can't help asking him to take this trip or that. Distance lends enchantment to all properties for him—he is willing at all times to take a free trip to San Diego or Imperial Valley or San Clemente or San Bernardino, with meals thrown in. And then, when the time comes for an interview with the sales manager, he thinks he is bluffing things through with a masterful hand as he gives some excuse for deferring action. But the realtor has met so many like him that he sees through him in a minute and holds on to him for a while only in order to watch him squirm.

First Aids to Romance

Every day some hundreds of beaneaters who have lived here for years take free real estate-seeing trips in or about Los Angeles. They try to give the impression that they have just come out from the Middle West. Or often they are entertaining relatives or guests who have just come from somewhere else at the realtors' expense. And some of them are even nervier than that. For instance, there was Dickie Byrd.

When Dickie visited relatives in Des Moines he met Clarissa and his Waterloo, so far as independence was concerned. She had never dreamed of coming to Hollywood more than twice a night, but after she heard Dickie talk about it nothing could stop her, least of all her well-trained parents. They wanted her to stay home and marry a simple, horny-handed Iowan, who was hard working and honest, though a garage mechanic. But a few months later she arrived in Hollywood, at a moment when Dickie was completely broke. There was, however, an understanding that she was to return to Des Moines and marry the garage man, so Dickie had to put his best foot foremost.

Happy Ending—For Dickie

Dickie let the word percolate through real estate circles that he was looking for a home for his prospective bride. And every day for three weeks he was able to call for Clarissa and her mother, who had come out with her, in a handsome car, take them for a beautiful drive over the countryside, entertain them at luncheon, permit them to listen to instructive though not always grammatical lectures on the wonders and beauties of Southern California and generally shift the burden of entertainment to the pocketbooks of the accommodating realtors. The young lady's mother was impressed by the deference the salesmen showed Dickie, and also wrote home that he must own at least twenty-five cars, for he took them out in a different one very day. He was very modest about his wealth, she said, but he seemed to be a young gentleman of leisure who never had to worry about money.

So now Dickie is happily married and is getting along very well—Clarissa having got a job.

"Hooking the Unsuspecting Tourist"

While the real estate salesmen have a fine secret scorn of the case-hardened bean-eater they welcome the tourist who wants to look around, figuring that anyone who has money enough to be a tourist has money enough to buy a lot. All they ask is a chance to show them. And many thousands of people who came here as visitors have been made permanent residents in that way. We know two men who, not many years ago, came here as visitors of very modest means, accepted rides on real-estate busses and were "inveigled" into buying lots—which since then have made them independent. Had they been deaf to the voices of their tempters they still might be working for small salaries and just barely getting by, but the perpetual growth of the city and its environs has made the property they bought worth many times what they paid for it and they no longer have to work for anybody. Almost the only people, generally speaking, in Southern California who have failed to prosper here for any considerable length of time are those who have been too wise and sharp to let the real estate men "hook" them. Yet it is an odd fact that many of those folks are confirmed "bean-eaters." They have learned all the tricks of successful evasion when the salesmen try to pin them down to a purchase. They want to look about a little more first, or they can't do anything till a big deal they have pending back in some other State has been completed, or they find imaginary flaws in the properties shown them. Nothing quite suits them—except the free rides and free lunches. Sunday after Sunday they enjoy them, and then, after being driven to their homes, wink knowingly at each other and brag that those realtor fellers can't put anything over on them.

Seminar in Mexico

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The annual "Seminar in Mexico" holds its fifth session in Mexico City July 5-25. The Seminar affords an opportunity to a group of representative citizens of the United States to study the life and culture of the Mexican people. During the past four years it has been attended by educators, journalists, clergymen (Jewish, Protestant and Catholic,) lawyers and business men. The program includes lectures by the leaders of Mexican life, educational, artistic, governmental. Controversial questions are presented by spokesmen for opposing views. The Seminar is planned as an objective study of the moving forces in Mexico, and is committed to no creedal, economic or political point of view. The critical discussion centers in the round-table groups which will be led this year by Prof. J. Fred Rippy of Duke, Prof. Chester Lloyd Jones of Wisconsin, Mr. Carleton Beals of Mexico, Dr. Ernest Gruening of Portland, Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette and Mr. Paul U. Kellogg of the Survey.

The members of the Seminar are given the opportunity to visit typical schools, villages and archeological monuments. Trips to outlying sections of Mexico are arranged for those who can remain for an additional week or two.

The Seminar is a co-operative, nonprofit undertaking.

We will be glad to hear from men and women who are interested in international relations and whose professional or business connections give them an opportunity to influence public opinion.

Billboard Nuisance

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The State Chamber of Commerce, in pushing the clean-up of the State highways, especially the abolishing of the billboard nuisance, is doing the State a real service and little Santa Paula is showing advanced city thinking in abolishing billboards along its main streets. Isn't it time that Los Angeles, with its metropolitan newspapers, its two chambers of commerce, numerous district improvement associations and numberless societies of national prominence, get behind this civic improvement, clean our principal streets and boulevards of these eyesores. Some may have a little grass in front, but more surely to have many years' accumulation of weeds and rubbish behind. Why clean the country, our back yard and leave our front yard, the city, where our daily lives in homes and in business are spent surrounded by these scenic monstrosities occupying valuable frontages, lowering realty values and stunting the natural growth of business?

What we need is a live association with a banner inscribed, "No Billboards." An association with a weak plea for pretty billboards doesn't fill the bill. Only a few months till the World Olympic Games.

Price of Milk

BARSTOW, Feb. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I think the recent statement in your paper by a lady complaining of the high price of milk is correct. Why dump their overproduction when the children would and could consume more if the price was put down to 10 cents or 12 cents per quart, where it ought to be? Considering the fact that butter has gone down recently 25 to 30 per cent why try to keep up the price of milk to an exorbitant figure?

Good People in Control

SAN MARINO, Feb. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A recent correspondent of The Times, evidently a wet, was quite peeved because church people take an interest in politics. This morning's Times carries a news item saying, Dr. Samuel Harden Church of Pittsburgh delivered a speech last night in New York City, before directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, proposing to form a new political party to "exterminate and disperse all those political groups in the churches which are endeavoring to enact their religious and moral tenets into laws of the land."

It seems to me these two men have undertaken a rather large contract. Judging by the results of the last Presidential election, the good people are still in a large majority. We are told to confine ourselves to singing Psalms and conducting midnight missions and to let politics alone. Since when have church people lost their rights to citizenship? Have we not as good right to work for the kind of political and moral government we prefer as these two exponents of Bacchus?

HELPS 3000 STUDENTS

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

Just a year ago today, The Times started the unique service of helping its readers to find free classes in which to improve their earning capacity or their ability to enjoy leisure hours. During this past year, 306 different classes have been described, 876 letters have been answered, and principals of evening schools estimate that about 3000 students have found classes through The Times. Older men and women and strangers in town have been informed of the labor situation in various industries and have received advice about adjusting themselves to changed conditions. Several have written to tell of their success through this information.

Ninety-three studies not offered in the adult classes have been requested. One of these, apartment-house management, for which 176 requests were made, was started by the free public schools through the assistance of The Times. Some classes that were asked for were of such a nature that they could not be given in the public schools, while other subjects were included in longer courses, such as bread and candy making in cooking classes.

As a rule, the public schools will start any useful class for which twenty people agree to come regularly; but no vocational class will be started in those industries which do not offer probable positions.

Unusual courses, not given in the evening schools, and for which there have been from one to four requests, include the following: Nursing without high school graduation, practical nursing, nursing training for men, government dietitian, occupational therapy, social service, city service in welfare work, chiropractic and dietetic, massage, physiotherapy, optometry and lens grinding, chiropody, embalming, hospital technician, blending face powders, drugs; laundry work, dishwashing, commercial candy making of grapefruit peel; bread and pastry, cake making, commercial ice cream making and retail business, vegetable and fruit salad making, to can and dehydrate corn and fruit and vegetables on a farm; painting furniture by spraying and shading in a darker tone, auto lacquering and color matching for paint spraying, remodeling houses, wood carving, box making, designing and making draperies, stage setting, color photography, pen painting; checkroom girl, social hostess, hotel hostess, social letter writing, etiquette, story telling, graphology, broadcasting, palmistry, blackface acting, dialogue, magic, stamps, to play the harmonica, whistling; electric phonograph records on wax, electrical research work, electrical end of movietone and vitaphone, film cutting, to operate motion-picture machine, laboratory and X-ray, electricity and wiring as applied to X-ray, glassblowing, glass manufacture, colored glass manufacture, etching on glass, metal spinning, methods of Neon sign lights, gas pumping, microphone construction for the hard of hearing, railroad work as yard clerk or freight-office clerk, large loom weaving, weaving outside of large looms, to operate knitting machine, bobbin or pillow lace, French weaving for mending cloth; humorous writing, where to mail short stories for publication, syndicating, selling greeting-card verses, fancy dancing; college entrance examinations, teachers' county examinations, Bible history, Chinese, Japanese, to figure insurance rates in all lines, stocks and securities, bonds, income tax, real estate law, conveyancing, escrow, fingerprinting, geology, mineralogy, metallurgy, firing boilers used for rigs and navigation.

PLAYS TO SUIT SETS

BY SUZANNE PEHKOFF

Students of stagecraft at U.C.L.A. have constructed miniature stage sets that are said to be the last word in modern art. They must be, in fact, if the descriptions of them are entirely accurate. Stage settings of the present day represent a tremendous step forward in simplicity and beauty over the ornate decorations of the past, but there is such a thing as their jumping too far forward into futurism.

The prize winner in the stagecraft class, we learn with surprise, evolved an idea for a set for a play of the machine age. Huge steel discs in the background represent the idea, and moving wheels convey to the startled audience the idea of the tremendous speed of our present era. One can imagine how entertaining a drama would be viewed against such a confusing background.

A play has been written just to fit this set and will be presented shortly at the university. If they are going to start writing plays to fit sets, we shall certainly abandon drama at once and devote ourselves exclusively to the talkies. Plays written to suit stars were bad enough, but ones that were built to order to fit sets would lack even the human appeal of such stereotyped drama. "The play's the thing," and the set should provide an unobtrusive background for its action.

That old fairy tale about the mill in the sea grinding salt until the ship sunk would come true if the salt in the ocean were piled on earth, for it would cover the United States to a depth of nearly 400 feet.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE BANDIT

The other night a youthful bandit addressed me, while he waved a gat. "You have sent coin—so, now, outhand it, or I will shoot you through the lights. Be quick, he cried, lift up your shaking, "be quick, dig up your store of mon, because my fingers fairly aching to pull the trigger of this gun." I said, "Your conduct's truly cheesey," while handing him my last bawbee. "Of course, you find it pretty easy to rob an old fat man like me. I have no gun, I have no dagger, I have no claymore and no dirk, so you can bluff around and swagger while getting in your dirty work. But soon you'll meet some pilgrim stranger who's prompt and speedy on the draw, who is inured to some danger, who likes to eat his bacon raw. And when you see him which he toiled like Hector, will not let an eyelash graze but he will shoot you through the neck. Oh, youth, I hate to see you treading the pathway to an early grave; cut out your vain and foolish sladding, robbing people, and behave. Discard that foolish gun you carry, some harmless voters to overwhelm, and in some moral vocation yard tarry, and save a soul from slippery elm. Do something useful, I implore you, by honest labor earn your dough, or some wrathful gent will murder you, and to the nearest morgue you'll go." He laughed to scorn my admonition, and with his swaggered from my sight; he'll strive to better his condition by robbing people, left and right. Within a week the daily papers described that young man's fateful doom; while he was hunting up a draper, that merchant shot him to the tomb. The draper he was skilled in shooting, he had his weapon close in hand, and so that youth was busted hooting to find a worse or better land.

WARNING SIGNALS WILL BE INSTALLED

On recommendation of the Finance Committee, the City Council has instructed the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners to expend $840 for the installation of two warning signals, to be installed at the northeast and southeast corners of the intersection of Marengo avenue and Mission Road. The establishment of the signals is designed to relieve traffic conditions in the vicinity of the General Hospital.

DISTRICT MAP APPROVED

ICE-CUSTOMER LIST CAUSES COURT FIGHT

Ice customers are hard to find in Glendale, according to Fred H. Seefloth, ice dealer. Because W. H. Nicholson, one of his drivers, Seefloth says, gave a list of customers to Paul Nicholson, his son, Seefloth is suing the Nicholsons for $17,000 and an injunction against their selling ice to Seefloth customers. Judge Gates took the case under advisement.

BELL HAULING CURB SOUGHT

Protective Committee Calls for Porter Agreement

Council Asked to Include Its Terms in Ordinance

Meeting on Park Proposal Fixed for Tomorrow

A request that the City Council embody in a restrictive ordinance the terms of a written agreement which Mayor Porter declares he obtained from the Alphonzo Bell interests, regarding the hauling of crushed rock from the proposed cement quarry site in Santa Ynez Canyon, was made yesterday by the Pacific Palisades Protective Committee.

It was pointed out that Mayor Porter, in his statement issued when he signed the ordinances granting Bell the right to enter an exclusive residential district with his rock-crushing operations, said, "However that trucking may be confined to a more limited territory an agreement has been obtained in writing from the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, restricting the hauling of crushed rock and other by-products of the quarry to that area west of Beverly Glen Boulevard, north of Beverly Boulevard and north of the Santa Monica city limits."

COMMITTEE'S REQUEST

"We respectively request your honorable body to call for the production of that agreement and that its terms be embodied in a restrictive ordinance putting its terms into effect. We make this request," the committee statement reads, "because it would obviously be ridiculous to attempt to enforce a private contract between the rock crushers and the Mayor or other persons in contravention of the express terms of the ordinance.

"We also wish to call your attention in this connection to the fact that an agreement between the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company not to haul rock into certain areas would not necessarily prevent the hauling of that same rock by the trucks of other rock companies, taking the crushed rock from bunkers in Santa Ynez Canyon."

PUBLICATION TODAY

The ordinances granting Bell the right to start operations in the Santa Monica Mountains will be published today. City Clerk Dominguez states that this will allow Bell to actually commence work on March 16, next.

A meeting to consider the proposition of taking over the Bell cement quarry properties through the creation of an assessment district and turning the section into a public park, will be considered at a meeting to be held at the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, Room 402, tomorrow night.

Goatee Loss Explained by MacDonald

Alister MacDonald, son of Prime Minister MacDonald of England, lost his goatee through the razor manipulation of Ronald Colman, screen actor, and not at the hands of Charles Chaplin.

Disappearance of the chin adornment, announced exclusively in The Times, was explained yesterday while MacDonald changed planes in Kansas City, on his journey to London after a ten-day visit in Hollywood.

The scion of the British statesman said that the diminutive, but neat facial ornament was removed at the Hollywood home of Colman the day before the farewell party of Monday night at the residence of Marion Davies.

Removal of the appendage had been under consideration for some time, according to the young Englishman, and the operation was not a part of the fun and amusement at the dinner in the home of the film actress.

"I had made up my mind to get rid of it some time before," MacDonald said in clearing up the missing goatee mystery. "I was with some friends, you see, and so we decided to make a little ceremony of it."

Wife Insists on Smoking Rights

Mrs. Eva Margaret Bergenheim, in the divorce complaint she filed against her husband, Irwin G. Berkenheim, included the modern dictum that women may smoke whenever and wherever they please without interference from a mere husband.

According to her complaint, her husband "struck me repeatedly" when she desired to light a cigarette, and on another occasion, in a fit of rage, tore up her family album, which was full of photographs. When she objected he turned her over his knee and spanked her, according to the complaint.

The marriage of Miss Carol Nadine Latimer, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston Latimer of the Uplifters Rancho, Santa Monica Canyon, to William Wilkins Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Sutherland of Palos Verdes was solemnized yesterday morning, the ceremony being quietly performed at the family home at 10 o'clock, with only members of the families and a few close friends being bidden.

Rev. C. H. Myer, an old friend of the family, formerly of Cleveland, O., officiated and Mr. Latimer gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of white satin, her veil with long-rounded train and rich lace pattern was of Brussels lace elaborately trimmed with many clusters of pearls, and caught into a cap of pearls and orange blossoms, fastened at the nape of the neck by two rows of seed pearls. She carried an arm shower of orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Latimer received her guests in a light beige gown of chiffon and lace with corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland left immediately afterward on a motoring tirp through the State and after March 1 will be at home at Casa Bonita in South Westmoreland avenue.

The bride was graduated from Marlborough School and afterward accompanied her parents on an extensive tour around the world. Mr. Sutherland claims Cornell University as his alma mater and is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

Several Affairs

One hundred and twenty dinner guests enjoyed the hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California, at their lovely home in Chester Place Friday and Saturday evenings. Covers for ten guests were laid at each table, with baskets of roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern adding fragrance as well as beauty to the setting.

Coffee was served in the spacious solarium of the home, where a program presented by internationally known figures in the field of music and drama received enthusiastic applause. Mme. Tela Bellini and Giles Gilbert, concert pianists, delighted the audience with several selections and Mrs. Beulah Wright Comstock, former dean of the school of speech at the University of Southern California, read an excerpt of "John Brown's Body."

Mrs. Tacie Hanna Rew, who recently returned from a European trip devoted to study and research in art and literature, reviewed the London dramatic season in a most interesting fashion. She is the author of many plays which have been produced throughout the country.

Responding to the urgent request of the gathering, two prominent guests added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond read and played, in her inimitable manner, several of her own lovely compositions, while Frederick Warde gave a charming reading of an English sea lyric and a poem of the West.

Assisting Mrs. Von KleinSmid as hostess Friday night were Mmes. Lucien Brunswig, John M. Durand, Hancock Banning, William Irving Hollingsworth, Louis David Ricketts, Gurdon W. Watties, Chester W. NEW SEASONING IMPROVES FOODS

Make It at Home With Two Familiar Ingredients

To make this new seasoning all that is necessary is sugar and salt. Mix them together—a pinch of salt to a dash of sugar—and a flavor is created that has no equal.

This combination of sugar and salt is ideal for all kinds of cookery. Vegetables such as tomatoes, carrots, cabbage, peas, spinach and corn take on new goodness when thus flavored. The familiar French dressing is also improved by this seasoning. In cooking chops, in making meat sauces or stews, the same holds true.

Many cooks keep a dish containing a mixture of salt and sugar on hand. The proportions can be varied to suit the taste, but equal parts of sugar and salt, or two parts salt to one part sugar, are the most commonly used.

The value of this new seasoning lies in the fact that it makes essential foods more palatable. Finicky children and adults who have no appetite will eat the food their systems require with relish when thus flavored. Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar. The inviting flavor increases the flow of gastric juices and as a result, the food is digested more quickly. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

RARE WARES FROM RUSSIA ON DISPLAY

Fine Enamels, Pottery, Linens, Rugs and Shoes Shown at Robinson's

BY OLIVE GRAY

At Robinson's this week throngs are viewing a collection of rare craft wares from Russia. First to attract the eye is the case of fine enamels, formerly owned by the Grand Duke of Russia, who held these possessions so sacred that few were permitted to see them.

Among these are museum pieces in the way of christening bowls, the enamels, set in gold, lined between with silver, so pure that it was poured into the interstices to keep separate each color used. After introduction of each color the article was fired, and it is said that for one piece of this ware to be completed required seventeen years. Priceless, in fact, these superb creations are priced at figures surprisingly low. A tea caddy in this ware was always carried by the Grand Duke on his travels to contain his own special brand of tea.

Among the examples in pottery, most of which is made by students, none is more interesting than that which, after being molded, is placed in a mound or hill discovered somewhere in the country, where the ware is allowed to remain throughout an entire winter, being brought out in the spring fully glazed and ready for use. A certain bowl, possessing a pointed prong, is to hold the daily soup or porridge, the bread to accompany it fastened to the upright prong.

Interesting art objects in palekh, in kohlonsky and in wooden glazes vie with hand-loomed linens, in soft tones, many embroidered or enriched with hand-drawn work; while the shawls, the rugs and other products of the loom attract deep interest both by their fine coloring and superb texture.

Toys fashioned in the schools are in natural and high tints, while the shoes are in colors wrought out by means of leather applique. Many are purchasing these shoes to wear with pajamas in the boudoir. Mr. James McKenzie, in charge of the exhibit, has many incidents to relate in regard to the making of the articles on exhibition. Almost an entire floor at the J. W. Robinson Company's store is given over to these wares—a veritable little Russia. The exhibit and sale will continue throughout this week and possibly next.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

the blood by observing the amount of effort that the body is using to neutralize the acid products. He tests the amount of acid secreted by the urine. He may also observe the amount of carbon dioxide discharged by the breath, and he may give the sodium bicarbonate test and he may examine the blood itself.

It is possible to easily overcome acidosis by eating foods which have an alkaline reaction in the body and avoiding foods which are acid-forming. A very good prescription for acidosis is simply this: "Eat more fruit." Many people do not understand that the acid fruits produce an alkaline reaction in the body. Oranges, grapefruit and lemons are really valuable in overcoming acidosis. One can make the blood satisfactorily alkaline by living on these fruits exclusively for a time. The vegetables are also alkaline-forming. If you suspect acidosis you should immediately make a correction in your diet as the body's first line of defense against infectious and deficiency diseases is the alkalinity of its blood. Acidosis can only occur in a healthy normal body under one condition and that is starvation. Acidosis is also noted in cases of diarrhea, during pregnancy, in kidney disorders, tuberculosis, asthma, diabetes and after anesthesia.

Below are listed the alkaline-forming foods:

The fruits and vegetables are all alkaline-forming, with the exception of rhubarb, plums and cranberries which contain an organic acid that is not readily oxidized by people suffering from acidosis. Cereals, meats, cheese, fish and eggs, while they contain valuable elements for the body, are acid-forming, but since they contain elements which are valuable, their acidity should be counteracted by using quantities of alkaline-forming foods, being careful, however, not to combine the acid fruits with the starchy foods.

If one limits the amount of acid-forming foods to about one-third of the diet, and the alkaline foods to two-thirds, there is usually a sufficient leeway so that a healthy body can take care of the balance. The alkaline-forming foods occur in the following order:

Dried figs, olives, dried lima beans, garbanzos, soy beans, spinach, watermelon, raisins, swiss chard, fresh lima beans, chestnuts, almonds, carrots, dates, paranips, rutagabas, beets, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, cabbage, potatoes, muskmelon, evaporated milk, apricots, string beans, cherries, orange juice, pineapple, sweet potatoes, molasses, currants, lemons, oranges, tomatoes, bananas, peaches, dried peas, raspberries, grapejuice, apples, mushrooms, pears, squash, grapes, canned string beans, turnips, buttermilk, milk, pumpkins, green peas, onions, asparagus and other fruits and vegetables.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BAKED STUFFED APPLES

Six large tart apples, one cupful of chopped bananas, one cupful of cranberry jelly, one-half a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, cut off the stem end of the apples but do not peel them. Remove all the core and part of the walls. Having a cup about three-fourths of an inch thick, mix the chopped bananas, cranberry jelly, sugar and cinnamon together, fill the cavities with this mixture, sprinkle over the top chopped nut meats, place in the oven and bake until the apples are tender. Serve cold, garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream for each apple.

HAM LOAF

Three cupfuls of chopped cooked ham, three tablespoonfuls of flour, two cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of finely grated cheese, three eggs, a seasoning of salt and pepper, dilute the flour with a little cold milk, heat the milk and gradually pour into it the flour and cook for five minutes; add the ham, cheese and the egg yolks slightly beaten, heat through, remove from the fire and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Season, place in an oiled mold, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven until firm. Serve with any desired sauce, garnish with parsley.

AIGRETTES OF CAULIFLOWER

Boil a medium-sized head of cauliflower in boiling water to which has been added a teaspoonful of vinegar and a fourth of a teaspoonful of sugar, when tender drain it and divide into flowerets, place one cupful of water in a saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of butter and as soon as it comes to a boil stir into it two cupfuls of flour and continue the stirring until a stiff paste is formed. When it leaves the side of the pan remove the pan from the fire and when the paste has cooled stir in two well-beaten eggs and half a cupful of grated cheese, spread on a shallow dish and allow to cool. Take a sprig of the cauliflower and cover it with a piece of the paste, pinching it well together, drop in deep hot shortening and fry until brown. Serve piled on a dish, sprinkle with grated cheese.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Removing a Label

When the piece of material has a paper label on it, do not wet the cloth to remove it but draw the clothing in a bias direction, first one way and then the other. This will soon loosen the label so that it can be removed without injury to the fabric.

In to Stay

Casters that are always falling out of a piece of furniture when it is moved are a nuisance, but they can be put in to stay a while by first removing the caster, then pouring melted paraffin into the opening, and as it starts to set, forcing the caster into its place. Allow it to harden well before placing furniture back on its feet.

A Combination of Colors

When buying a colored material to combine with white goods, it is far wiser to get a sample at first and wash it to see if it is going to run when combined with the white. So many lovely house frocks are ruined by the colored material running into the white when laundered.

IS YOUR BABY A HOUSE PLANT DURING THE WINTER?

It is taken for granted that baby must have his daily outing. The conscientious mother accepts this burden even if it necessitates pushing a heavy carriage up one cold street and down another.

But there are more pleasant and just as efficacious ways of giving baby his airing without putting this rather unpleasant burden on the shoulders of an overworked mother. When there is an outside porch the outing solves itself, for baby may be bundled up, a hot water bag tucked into the bottom of the cab to keep his toes warm, the top of the carriage adjusted so that no stray breezes disturb his slumber and there he can stay for the length of his nap period, morning or afternoon.

Any mother who has ever tried this from the time baby is young is willing to swear that on a day when she feels compelled to keep baby indoors he sleeps but half as long and on the porch he sleeps like a log despite the clatter and rattle of traffic.

Barring a porch, the outdoor nap may be managed in this way: Dress the baby in all his woollies, put him in his cab and wheel him into one of the bedrooms. Close the door, open all the windows to the top so that there will be a free circulation of air and let him take his nap there.

TEMPERATURE IS A CONSIDERATION

Of course you are impatient to ask how cold it must be before such outdoor airings are inadvisable and, being conservative, we'll say the temperature had better not be much below zero. It depends somewhat upon the temperatures to which the baby is accustomed. Having once lived in a climate that ran to 20 deg. below zero without being noticeably cold, I am inclined to say that if baby is used to a 10-deg.-below-zero climate all through the winter he can go out in it for short periods without the least danger. There is always the possibility that a nose may freeze, so mother had best keep her eye on her offspring.

We must keep him warm, of course, and protected from being rained or snowed upon or in the direct current of bitter winds, but such protection is easy to achieve when baby is sleeping and he is none the worse for his exposure to the elements. So much of the winter weather is far from ideal that if we are continually waiting for bright, clear, sunny days, poor baby will be in the house most of the time.

With the baby of six weeks one can begin with a fifteen-minute airing in the warmest portion of the day, usually just about noon. Increase this each day until he can stay out for the duration of his nap. It is the child kept in badly aired rooms, forbidden a sniffle of good air who is white and peaked and appetiteless in the winter. Everyone needs and must have good oxygen for the blood to carry to every part of the body and it can't be obtained in the house.

Why Fat
WHEN SO MANY FIND IT EASY TO REDUCE

All can see everywhere that countless people have found the right way to fight fat. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat has largely disappeared. Mark the people you know who in late years have gained new youth and beauty, new health and vigor, by combating fat.

One great reason lies in the discovery that most fat people have an under-active gland. Its failure to control nutrition permits too much food to form fat. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, combat that cause.

Their method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. People have used Marmola for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. And the results have come without abnormal exercise or diet.

Why retain your excess fat when so many have ended theirs? Go try their method—try it now. Get Marmola, read the book in the box. Take four tablets daily, as directed, and watch the changes that occur. Do this in justice to yourself, to please your family and friends. You will be delighted.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

WHAT HAVE VEGETABLES GOT TO DO WITH IT?

A SENSIBLE QUESTION. You well may wonder why we keep talking about vegetable oils in connection with White King. The answer is this: a pure soap made from vegetable oils, instead of mineral or animal oils, is the gentlest, kindest, yet most effective soap that can be produced.

And White King is the leading vegetable-oil soap. That's why you can trust your sheerest lingerie to it. That's why beauty parlors use it for shampooing. And that's why it cleans blankets and heavy clothing so thoroughly.

White King Granulated Soap is economical, too, because it is condensed. A teaspoonful for the basin, a cupful for the washing machine—plenty. Try it today. Sold by your grocer.

To Our Patrons and Friends of Southern California...

THIRTY FOUR years ago this month, Arthur Letts founded The Broadway Department Store and established a policy of value giving, based upon selling merchandise at the lowest prices consistent with dependable quality. Through the succeeding years of his lifetime and on down to today, this same policy has been pursued as an unheralded but firmly established basis of our merchandising operations.

Truth, Courtesy, Liberality and Value

These were the foundations upon which this business was established . . . these are the foundations upon which it continues to grow...ever enlarging its service to keep pace with the progress of Los Angeles.

To conduct a store that Los Angeles could always depend upon...that was the uncompromising policy of Arthur Letts . . . that is the uncompromising policy of The Broadway today.

Today, more than ever, the test of a store's worth is dependable value-giving. It is a test which The Broadway has always welcomed and by which it is ready to be judged.

The Broadway values too highly the integrity of its printed word to indulge in extravagant and exaggerated advertising phrases. But The Broadway makes you this positive assurance:

That this store will constantly endeavor to price all merchandise as low or lower than merchandise of like quality may be purchased elsewhere in the community.

This is merely a reiteration of a thirty-four-year-old Broadway policy. Today as always

TAX COMPUTING HELP OFFERED

One Hundred Deputies Will Lend Assistance

Federal Aides Will Appear at Various Places

Free Service Provided For All Who Pay Levy

To assist taxpayers in the preparation of their income-tax returns, approximately 100 Federal deputies next Monday will open temporary offices at convenient points throughout the ten counties of Southern California. The deputies were assigned to this special duty yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Welch.

Each officer has been instructed to advise those who need assistance in filing their reports. The service will be free.

Collector Welch yesterday pointed out that the final date for filing returns for the calendar year of 1929 is March 15, next. All single persons, whether they have dependents or not, having an income in excess of $1500, and all married couples having a joint income in excess of $3500 must file a return. An extra tax will be imposed on all delinquent returns.

Locations and dates for filing are as follows:

All single persons, whether having dependents or not, having a net income in excess of $1500.00, or married couples having a joint income in excess of $3500.00, or if there is a gross income in excess of $5000.00 in either case must file a return, even if the personal exemption claimed results in no tax being due.

As there will be in excess of two hundred thousand returns to be filed in this district for the year 1929, Mr. Welch emphasizes the necessity of an early filing, both to take full advantage of the assistance given at this time, and to avoid the additional tax provided by law for delinquent filing.

PSYCHIC FAILS TO FORESEE

Following an investigation, the application of Rev. A. T. Rainey for a permit to conduct a psychic-medium establishment which he said would be based on Bible teachings, the Police Commission yesterday turned down the request.

Rainey, who describes himself as a Hindu and showed the commission a permit from the Sheriff's office to carry a pistol, was questioned by Commissioner Drake as to his ability to see into the future. He said that he could.

"Well, then, maybe you can prophesy what the board is going to do with your application," suggested Drake.

Rainey admitted this might be somewhat obscure and the board thereupon took negative action.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

That principal "bug-bear" of housework, dish-washing, is so mainly because the same dishes appear for cleansing, day after day, and several times per day. One home-keeper whom I know has transformed the dish-washing task into a matter less formidable, by having several sets of dishes and frequently changing them. "It is far more important," said she, "to have the most interesting dishes for everyday use, than for especial occasions; and I frequently purchase entire new sets for daily use; while the 'company' ware, brought into requisition infrequently, remain new for long."

And Anyhow

And this same home-keeper points out, it is due the family to enjoy the best that the household budget can afford. The too-usual way, that of saving everything beautiful for visitors, is unjust to the family, this wise home-major believes.

This Summer-Winter

Not within recollection has Southern California been so deeply interested in winter sportswear, as at present. Possibly it may be true that not heretofore, anywhere, has Madame la Mode taken so keen an interest in attire both practical and lovely for wintry events; but certainly it is true with us. Every leading store and shop stocks snow-wear and ice-carnival habiliments; and everyone who goes, and who knows, has his or her favorite winter sports paradise. From woolly beret and scarf, to heavy hose and galoshes, there is a favorite brand of wear; and all are well thought out and both comfy and handsome. No longer may the un-Californians scoff that "too much sameness is a fault of the Southern California climate—always summer!"

Black and White

There really should be some way of welding those two color-words, black-and-white. So completely married are they, in couture, whether the former or the latter dominates, that they should be rolled into a single word, by some ingenious lexicographer. Tending toward this mark, designers of fine shoes have gone in for black and white, white and black, in the new footwear for the incoming season. Many enticing designs in these two tones are in the present shoe showing, and many more are in preparation for spring and summer.

Peplums and Lace

The newly revived peplums are joining hands with the fad for lace and together they are bringing into the so-called "feminine mode," the lace dress for day-time wear. To transplant lace from a strictly evening mode, to daylight couture, required some ingenuity and the peplum is a helpful little feature, in accomplishment of this feat.

Porringer Pottery

Pottery and china bowls, shaped like the quaint porringers of silver always given to children for first year's use, for mush and for bread-and-milk, are a recent output? In the colors favored now in table wares, soft buttercup yellows, pastel blues and rose tints, these are lovely and form an interesting adjunct to luncheon or breakfast sets. Bowls always are useful and no home-keeper can possess too many of them.

Broadlooms

Not to minimize the use of rugs—especially those from oriental looms, the vogue of carpetry covering the entire floor, has come into being. The broadlooms—so wide that two breadths will hide the floor of most living-rooms, or boudoirs—doubtless has much to do with the new popularity of carpeting. Colors in these wide weaves are soft and pleasing, and in many instances act as background for scatter rugs of rare and precious extraction. There is unquestionable luxuriousness and coziness about a fully carpeted room, which floors bare—especially if too, too, brazenly bare—lack to a certain degree.

Wise Curtaining

Wise is she who, possessing a fine view, from the windows of her home, allows such view full away, instead of swathing the windows with preventive curtains and draperies. With a bit of thoughtful care, windows may be so curtained as to frame, and not shut out those precious scenes which, glimpsed from far or near, serve to bring into the home, that outdoor loveliness so dear to all real lovers of nature. In our dear California, more than in any other land, I believe, we prize lovely landscapes, wherever found; and many homes are chosen for the especial purpose of the views obtainable therefrom. Why, then, not give as much study to the framing of these scenes, as we would grant to the framing of a painted canvas?

Aunt Jane's Find

Aunt Jane, always on the alert for household labor helps, recently discovered one for cleaning windows, which seems to excel all others. This new pomade—it goes by another name—cleans almost instantly and leaves no residue of dust or powder. Cleans and polishes, also!

Sentence Stay to End Friday

The zero hour for J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income-tax adviser, convicted and sentenced to two years and six months in prison for aiding in the making of false and fraudulent income-tax returns for motion-picture players, was set at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow when the case came up before United States District Judge James.

The time set was an additional stay of execution of sentence, and Miss Berger is expected to surrender to the United States Marshal at that time. She is then to be taken to Alderson, W. V., to serve her term in a Federal prison. She handled the returns of Dorothy Mackaill, Dorothy Sebastian and other screen notables.

LASKY SIGNS STAGE COMEDIENNE

Sally Starr and Nick Stuart Winning Pathe Roles; Jolson's Next for Warners Titled "Big Boy;" Harry Langdon Will Sign New Contract

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Pursuing quietly its policy of signing up the best acting talent obtainable in New York, Paramount had another highly important announcement to make last night.

Ginger Rogers, recently chosen for an important role in "Young Man of Manhattan," now in production at the Long Island studios of the company, yesterday signed a long-term agreement with Paramount, according to the word of Jesse L. Lasky.

As her first role under the new contract, Miss Rogers will appear in the featured comedy ingenue role in the Schwab and Mandel picturization of their stage hit, "Queen High," which Fred Newmeyer will direct at the eastern studios immediately following the current productions of "Young Man of Manhattan" and "Dangerous Nan McGrew."

Miss Rogers, besides her film work, is also spending her evenings in the interests of art, supplying pep and laughs in the New York stage play, "Top Speed."

The young comedienne was formerly featured in Joseph Santley's production of "High Hat," after winning a Charleston contest in Texas a few seasons ago.

JUVENILES CHOSEN FOR "SWING HIGH"

If Pathe adds many more notables to the cast of "Swing High," I don't know what the other film concerns will do.

SALLY STARR

Yesterday the two juvenile leads were signed for the picture. They will be played by two of the most popular young players in Hollywood, Sally Starr and Nick Stuart. Other important roles will be taken by Daphne Pollard, noted English musical comedy star, and Chester Conklin.

The remainder of the formidable cast as heretofore signed and announced includes Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott in the principal dramatic roles, and George Bickel, Bryant Washburn, John Sheehan, Little Billee, the midget comedian; Stepin Fetchit, Ben Turpin, Robert Edeson and Dorothy Burgess.

Joseph Santley is to direct the story, which is a circus yarn, and Josiah Zuro will write special music for the production and have charge of all musical features, while Laura Hope Crews will also have her efficient finger in the pie, since she will personally direct Helen Twelvetrees in all that young star's dramatic scenes.

Al Jolson's Next Story

While Al Jolson's next story for Warner Brothers is not definitely set, it appears likely, according to reports from authoritative sources, that that popular singing comedian will star next in a talking version of his big stage success, "Big Boy," in which he appeared so long on the stage in New York and other large cities of the country.

Jolson's popularity is unique. There is nobody like him on the screen, and he is enjoying the unusual experience among talking-picture stars because it seems to make no difference, when his pictures are shown in foreign countries, whether his audiences can understand English or not.

His next picture for Warners will be his last for that concern, since he leaves after that to star in United Artists features.

Langdon Gets New Contract

We have it from entirely credible sources that Harry Langdon is on the eve of signing a new contract with Hal Roach and one that will be highly advantageous to himself.

HARRY LANGDON

According to the new contract, he will have almost the entire say on stories and other details of his pictures.

The Langdon talking pictures have been registering well, but Langdon, like the artist he really is, doesn't feel satisfied with them, wishing to have more authority.

Billie Dove's New Story

Over at First National they are providing the popular Billie Dove with the very best stories obtainable. Her next, we learned yesterday from the announcement of Hal Wallis, will bear the intriguing title of "The Devil's Playground." It was written as an original for the screen by Kenneth J. Saunders.

No cast or director has been named yet, but the picture will start as soon as her current one, "One Night at Susie's," is finished.

Barthelmess on Way Home

That gallivanting young actor, Richard Barthelmess, is due to return to Hollywood, we learn. The First National star has been traveling in Europe with his wife during the past half-year, but leaves for the United States today.

His next picture for First National will be "The Dawn Patrol."

Adamae Vaughn In It

Adamae Vaughn, the blond half of the tempest and sunshine sisters, has been signed by Jack Warner for an important role in "Those Who Dance," a dance-hall story based on the comedy-drama, "Three Flights Up." Ray Enright will direct.

ADAMAE VAUGHN

Kate Price has been signed for another leading characterization as the mother.

Charlotte Walker Cast

That skillful and seasoned Broadway star, Charlotte Walker, has come west to cast her lot with pictures. She had not long to wait, but almost immediately on her arrival was signed by Warner Brothers for the important role of Lady Chamberlain in "Three Faces East."

Another important member of the cast will be Crawford Kent, who was signed yesterday.

MINNESOTANS TO PICNIC

Minnesotans will rally Saturday at an all-day midwinter picnic in Sycamore Grove, it was announced yesterday. Popular songs by the White King Quartet will be featured on the program.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

SECRET IS DISCOVERED

Some things 'tis best we should not know. You'll find that all through life 'tis so.
—Blacky the Crow.

It was still winter. The Green Forest was covered with snow. The Green Meadows were white. It was a white world everywhere. It didn't seem as if spring was one bit nearer. Sammy Jay was thankful enough that he had a good warm undercoat of feathers. There were some days when Sammy almost wished that he had gone South with Welcome Robin and Winsome Bluebird and most of the other feathered folk. Sammy only almost wished this. You see, he is a hardy fellow and he likes to be active and flying about here and there. Thus he keeps warm. Still, winter does get a little tiresome, and Sammy was beginning to look ahead and dream of nesting time.

"It will be good to see some sign that spring is on the way," said Sammy when he saw Jumper the Hare in the Green Forest. "I don't suppose we shall see one, however, for a long time yet."

"No," said Jumper the Hare. "I don't suppose we shall. I have looked for skunk cabbage around the open springs, but I haven't found one yet. That usually is the first sign."

"Well," replied Sammy, "I must be on my way. I suppose it is foolish to even think of spring in such cold weather as this. What's the news?"

"None," replied Jumper the Hare, "unless it is news that Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty seem to be living over where Blacky the Crow lived last spring. I'm keeping away from that part of the Green Forest myself."

This reminded Sammy that it was under that very tree that Chatterer the Red Squirrel had found the black feathers which every one had supposed were the feathers of Blacky the Crow. "I believe I'll have a look at that nest," thought Sammy, as he spread his wings. "Chatterer may have hidden some nuts there. Nothing would please me better than to find some nuts or acorns hidden by Chatterer."

So Sammy flew straight for the tree that Blacky the Crow and Mrs. Blacky had built their nest in the year before and had raised a family of young Crows. Sammy remembered what Jumper had said about Hooty and Mrs. Hooty, so he kept a sharp watch for them. He didn't see them. So at last he came to the tree in which was Blacky's old nest. Sammy alighted in the top of the next tree. He could look over to that nest. Somehow the nest didn't look just familiar. Sammy looked long and hard.

"No," said Jumper the Hare, "I don't suppose we shall

"It seems to me that that nest is bigger than it used to be," thought Sammy. "It was a good nest, but I don't remember that it was as big as that nest looks to be now. I do believe Chatterer has been using it for a storehouse and has made it bigger for this purpose. We'll soon find out about that."

Once more Sammy spread his wings and this time he flew straight across and alighted in the tree where the nest was. He was silent. He turned his head this way and turned his head that way to make sure that nobody was watching him. Then he flew up to the edge of the nest and looked in. What Sammy saw almost made him lose his balance. Yes sir, he almost lost his balance! He just saved himself from falling backward off the edge of that nest. What he saw was an egg! It was a big egg. It was a dull white. At the very first glance Sammy couldn't believe that it really was an egg. He thought it must be a little ball of snow. But after the first good look there was no doubt in Sammy's mind. He knew that he had discovered a secret and he knew that that was no place for him to be. You should have seen how hastily he looked around and in what a hurry he flew away from there. He felt that he couldn't get away from there too quickly. You see, that was a dangerous secret.

PATHETIC NOTE RULES 'LUMMOX'

Dialogue Version of Well Known Fannie Hurst Book Distinct in Casting

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The character study of a woman, clod-like, downtrodden and inarticulate, hoping and seeking for a philosophy of life and consolation, is presented in "Lummox," currently showing at the United Artists Theater. The film is from the Fannie Hurst novel, a unique and pathetic creation, which has been brought to the screen under the direction of Herbert Brenon, with Winifred Westover in the dominant role.

There is no promise of customary entertainment in "Lummox." There is not assurance even of an adequately devised production technically. But there is a heart, at least, to the unfoldment of the story that bears searching out, and that will perhaps appeal to many who see this episodic impression of the pitiful experience of a woman who travels a drab road of sorrow.

Chiefly "Lummox" is interesting for its central characterization. The choice of Miss Westover to play the role happened to be a singularly convincing one. She has a detachment and a world-weariness that fit into the entire scheme of the portrayal. "Lummox," throughout, depicts its central figure's struggle for a livelihood and for personal happiness, while engaged in the service of scrubbing floors, cooking, and waiting on the table. The film is naught but the story of a servant girl, and a very commonplace story at that.

As a picture "Lummox" drags considerably. The dialogue moves rather haltingly, and there is little or no dramatic action. Too, the audience refused to take very seriously the betrayal of the heroine by the wealthy young poet. The implication of romance inclined to be amusing, and that effect certainly is not the desirable one.

I would say that in part the faults of "Lummox" are to be explained by the fact that it was made a considerable time ago. The talkies have moved on since it was produced, and it does not reveal the benefits of the newer mechanical and technical improvements. Even the photography is lacking in quality, and the maneuvering of the players in individual scenes reflects the microphone restrictions that were earlier felt in the sound medium.

It is evident, too, that the attempt to cover a span of twenty-one years in the story was hampering to both the smoothness and the tempo of the narrative. A compact and consecutive series of events is easier dealt with in a dialogue feature as yet, perhaps.

One sequence that especially attracts is the symphonic concert, during which the first movement of Grieg's A minor Concerto for the piano is played. The recording of this number is unusually good. It is supposed to be rendered by the son of the heroine, upon his American debut. Lummox, herself, listens to the rendition by the boy, a wan figure standing in the shadow of the auditorium entrance.

"Lummox," which reveals sympathetic treatment by its director, will doubtless find many admirers. It is scarcely likely to prove wholly popular. But those who know Miss Hurst's book will probably particularly enjoy the visualization with dialogue.

There are some competent portrayals by supporting members of the cast, including William Collier, Jr., Edna Murphy, Dorothy Janis, Danny O'Shea and various others. The cast is rather large.

Contrast to the seriousness of the main picture is afforded by a short comedy called "The Family Next Door." In this, Charlie Ruggles is the most familiar and also most capable player. In character this film is farcical and at times terribly obvious.

New Works to be Played at Philharmonic

The Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, will present an extraordinary program tonight and tomorrow afternoon, in that four soloists and several new compositions are to have their first performances here. Serge Prokofieff, widely known Russian modernist, will play a piano concerto.

Sadah Shuchari, violinist, and Isabelle Yalkovsky, pianist, both winners of the Schubert Memorial Audition prizes in New York last year, will play a violin and piano concerto with the orchestra, and Mme. Hager, a National Music League soprano, who appeared two seasons ago in the Hollywood Bowl, will sing the solos in De Falla's "Le Amor Brujo."

Chinese Plans Gala Festival at Late Show

Grauman's Chinese Theater will celebrate a gala festival at Saturday night's late matinee in conjunction with the showing of Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song."

Lionel Belmore, member of the cast of "Rogue Song;" Dorothy McNulty, recent star of "Follow Thru;" Lotice Howell, soprano, and Bobby Vernon will act as guest stars.

One of the most popular diversions of the week are the dances under the stars given in the forecourt of the Chinese every Saturday before the midnight show.

'Journey's End' Accorded Honors

Los Angeles is no exception among cities, according to generous and interested reception to "Journey's End." Robert Sherriff's poignantly real play about men and war, it is said. London and New York, discovering the young playwright's power to stir emotion and thought, honored him highly.

Presented at the Belasco Theater by Gilbert Miller, and acted by a versatile company of Englishmen, "Journey's End" represents the best to be found in the theater today, it is said. Basil Gill, Hugh Williams, Wallace Douglas and Walter Hudd are conspicuous in the cast.

Two Screens Reflect Beauty

Miriam Seegar and Mary Brian

Portray leading roles in "Clancy in Wall Street" at the Boulevard Theater and "Burning Up" at the Paramount Theater, respectively. Both films will start runs today.

M.-G.-M. CASTS OPERA STARS

Lawrence Tibbett, who created an overnight sensation in "The Rogue Song," will be supported by Grace Moore, the Tennessee mountain girl who recently became a Metropolitan Opera star, in one of his first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures. This was learned today when M.-G.-M. officials announced a varied schedule of thirty-three pictures to be produced within the next six months.

Upon completion of his present concert tour, Tibbett will be starred in a new M.-G.-M. production, and in either this or the next picture he makes under his new long-term contract, he will be supported by Miss Moore.

In the list of new releases are several of the type of "The Rogue Song." Among them are "Rosalie," the Florenz Ziegfeld success; "The March of Time," with Weber and Fields, and many other old-time stage stars; "Good News," the musical comedy hit; Mme. Satan," C. B. De Mille's new picture, and Joan Crawford's new starring picture, "Montana Moon," which will mark the first musical western.

Other outstanding films that will be released by M.-G.-M. are: "The Ship from Shanghai," with Kay Johnson and Conrad Nagel; "They Learned About Women," starring Van and Schenck; "Lord Byron of Broadway," with Ethelind Terry and Charles Kaley; "A Lady to Love," starring Vilma Banky; "The Girl Said No," starring William Haines; "Free and Easy," starring Buster Keaton; "Redemption," starring John Gilbert; "Children of Pleasure," with Lawrence Gray and Helen Johnson; "This Mad World," with Basil Rathbone and Kay Johnson; "The House of Troy," starring Ramon Novarro; "The Circle," with Catherine Dale Owen, Lewis Stone and Alison Skipworth, and "The Divorcee," starring Norma Shearer.

'Second Choice' to Open Run at Warner Theater

"Second Choice," the film production which comes to Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood tomorrow, is notable in several ways. It stars Dolores Costello in a new type of characterization. It features Chester Morris, the young actor who scored in "Alibi." It brings together for the first time Miss Costello and Jack Mulhall. It tells a dramatic story of interest and also reveals acting ability in a star who has been principally noted for her charm and beauty.

The story begins with a succession of gay parties, with crowds of young people singing, dining and dancing. Complications develop, and from then on there is tense drama, it is said.

The cast includes Edna Murphy, Charlotte Merriam, Ethlyne Clair, Edward Martindel, Jimmy Clemmons, Henry Stockbridge and Anna Chance. Howard Bretherton directed.

Fantastic Film Shares Honors With Whiteman

The picturization of Jules Verne's "The Mysterious Island" on the screen and Paul Whiteman and his band on the stage are the two major attractions on the new program at Loew's State, starting today.

Whiteman and his band are reputed to be the greatest single stage attraction in this country, and were secured for a limited engagement of one week only. The rotund king of jazz and his forty soloists will fill the entire period devoted to the stage act.

"The Mysterious Island," screen attraction, is said to be a thrilling story of the first submarine and the amazing adventures of its builder on the bottom of the sea. A love story and plot of political intrigue lend a fiction value, it is said. Lionel Barrymore has the chief role. Lucian Hubbard directed.

PICTURE OF HIGH FINANCE SCREENED

Aileen Pringle

"Wall Street," a story of a Napoleon of finance, comes to the R.-K.-O. Theater screen today. Leading roles are taken by Aileen Pringle and Ralph Ince. Columbia Pictures produced the film.

Olsen and Johnson bring their fun fest to the stage as an added attraction. Other features of vaudeville include Fulton and Parker and Gayner and Byron.

Fox Palace to Present Film Comedy Today

FIFI DORSAY

Raoul Walsh directed this production, which depicts the shore leaves and loves of two sailors.

Chief supporting roles in the film are portrayed by El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay, who as the entertainer of unsophisticated tourists recalls her similar role in "They Had to See Paris." Polly Moran also is featured in the cast.

"Good Medicine," an Educational comedy starring Edward Everett Horton, and Fox Movietone news complete the new program.

Coincidence in Play Bookings at Duffy House

Robert McWade, now appearing in the final week of "It Pays to Advertise," and Frank Craven, who follows him at the Hollywood Playhouse starting Sunday in "Salt Water," were associated in the presentation of Craven's comedy, "New Brooms."

In the play McWade appeared as the father, head of the broom factory, and Craven was young Tom Bates, the son. They acted together in "New Brooms" for two seasons.

In "Salt Water" Craven has the role of a chap who longs to sail the sea as has his father, a commander, before him but who is employed on a night boat between New York and Albany. When he saves enough to buy a schooner he discovers that his wife has invested the family savings in a damaged ferryboat.

FOREIGN LINES EASY

Speaking foreign tongues for the screen is not as difficult as acting foreign characterizations, according to Barbara Leonard.

"APPLAUSE" A TRIUMPH OF CRAFT

Direction Outstanding in Film With Helen Morgan at Million Dollar

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Once in a blue moon there comes a motion picture that is so telling a piece of craftsmanship, so admirable a work of art that all ordinary considerations are swept aside in the contemplation of it. To one who has watched the changes wrought in a medium simply because it was broadened to include sound and dialogue, and who has puzzled much thereat, such a film as "Applause," shown yesterday at the Million Dollar, cannot but prove most heartening. For this effort, directed by a man who virtually never saw the inside of a studio until a few months ago, seems to me by all odds the most ambitious application of common sense to an audible movie that has yet been made.

"Applause" is a backstage story. It will repel, in places, the easily repelled. Either in recording or reproduction, it is "spotty," so that much of the dialogue is too faint to catch. Most of the haunting charm of its leading lady, Helen Morgan, is buried under a frizzly blond wig that makes her face, often, a blur. One of its male leads is a beast, the other a simple sailor lad. The climax, almost inevitably, falls short of cumulative expectations. And all of these deterrents to absolute perfection except the last actually impair the dynamics of "Applause" about as much as a glass of water poured on a lake of nitroglycerin.

Rouben Mamoulian, who staged several productions for the New York Theater Guild—notably "Porgy" and "Wings Over Europe"—last season, evidently went to the Paramount studios untroubled by any such conventional scruples as those which beset many an "old-timer" in the "game." For his first vehicle, he was presented with a novel by Beth Brown, who knows her show business—a novel about a queen of burlesque, a perfect "beef trust" thirty-six—whose dream was of Broadway and "big dough," and her convent-bred daughter.

Instead of uttering discouraged cries like "What! Another backstage story?" Mr. Mamoulian, with Garrett Fort as his adapter and Monta Bell as his supervisor, went right ahead anyway, probably on the theory that there was life in the old girl yet. Mr. Mamoulian was right. There was.

On no other occasion, not even in "The Dance of Life," has the region behind the scenes been bisected so accurately by the penetrating eye of the camera. This is because "Applause" is told impressionistically, with the massed forces of sight and sound, so to speak, conveying images as fast as the mind can accept them. Thus the loss of words in some sequences is a negligible thing, since their meaning is obvious. That much of the talk which is plain to the ear is exceedingly well done, however—most of it in the argot of show folk.

Joan Peers, Paramount's much-vaunted "find," plays the daughter of Helen Morgan, the burlesque soubrette, whose unfortunate weakness for "bad actors" is exemplified in the song she hums on occasion, "What Wouldn't I Do for That Man?" Miss Peers has the distinction of not looking like an actress, although it must be admitted that she does not always act like one, either. A voice, extraordinarily rich and smooth, is the most striking feature of her personality. Fuller Mellish, Jr., is seen as Hitch Nelson, the "bad actor," and Henry Wadsworth as the likable "gob." Jack Cameron is good in a bit.

In a sense, as I have mentioned, the picture may be said to dodge the conclusion built up on its major premise. The suicide of the mother, however true to a certain sort of life it is, smacks too much of an easy way out for all. There it is, though, and you can take it or leave it.

The scenes of mad Manhattan are the real thing. An episode in the subway at Times Square is managed subtly and beautifully. There are views of tall buildings and a breath-taking "shot" of Brooklyn Bridge at night. The sequence in which Miss Peers first sees her mother on the stage matches anything the Russians have done with trick cutting.

This, then, is "Applause;" and not, as the lady behind me remarked when the title was flashed on the screen, applesauce. Not, cinematically speaking, by a long shot.

DEAD WOMAN'S KIN RELEASED

Long Beach Road Tragedy Still Unexplained

Police Hunt for Witnesses in Mrs. Payne Case

Brother-in-Law Tells of Her Having Been Drunk

Held in the County Jail since last Monday in connection with the death of Mrs. Billie Payne, whose mangled body was found on the highway near Signal Hill early last Sunday morning, Orian K. Kidd, brother-in-law of the dead woman, yesterday was ordered released from custody.

Investigation into the woman's death yesterday centered on the search for several persons who now are known to have seen Mrs. Payne enter an automobile driven by an unidentified man near the intersection of Ocean avenue and Magnolia street in Long Beach, shortly after midnight Saturday and drive away.

MAN WHO PHONED SOUGHT

Investigating officers also were seeking a man who Sunday afternoon telephoned Long Beach police and stated that as he drove along the highway between Signal Hill and Los Alamitos early Sunday, he had seen what appeared to be a body. He told police he was afraid of a possible "plant" and did not stop. He promised to come to the police station, but has not shown up.

Inquest into the death of Mrs. Payne, who was 33 years of age, and lived with her parents in Compton, is scheduled for today at 9:30 a.m. at the McFadyen funeral home, 1952 American avenue, Long Beach.

SAILORS WITNESSES

Eyewitnesses, one of them a sailor or marine, who saw Mrs. Payne fall and strike her head on the bench as she was about to enter the strange car and who assisted the unidentified driver in placing her in the car, are a hope of the investigating officers in the solution of the death.

At an autopsy performed last Monday, death was ascribed to concussion of the brain with laceration of the lung and liver and other injuries. Because of the numerous injuries on the body at the time it was found with the left arm torn away, the possibility of murder exists. With the clothing torn to tatters and scattered over more than 100 yards along the road, the body was found and reported to authorities by two men.

LARGER PLANES TO COME WHEN NEEDED, SAYS MAYO

American aircraft engineers are ready to build larger heavier-than-air transports as fast as the demand of the public increases, according to one of the nation's outstanding automotive and air engineers, William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company.

Mayo arrived by plane here yesterday from Detroit on his annual tour of inspection of the Ford interests. He is the guest of J. L. Maddux, president of T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines and local automobile distributor.

"Further safety factors for air transportation are being developed rapidly. The two most promising of these are the gyroscopic automatic pilot and the electric altimeter," Mayo declared.

The gyroscopic control, equipment that keeps the plane on an even keel and on its course after it has been adjusted by a pilot, already has been demonstrated successfully, Mayo pointed out.

Differing from present-type altimeters in that it records the distance of a plane from the ground, regardless of whether the terrain is uneven, the new electric instrument will be an invaluable aid to pilots, especially over mountainous country, Mayo declared.

Mayo plans to inspect the new Ford assembly plant at the Los Angeles Harbor tomorrow or Saturday. He said that at present there is no demand for an aircraft factory or assembly plant for Ford ships here, but that such a plant will be located at the local harbor if the need develops.

His party, piloted by Larry Fritz and including Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Graham of Detroit and Glen Hoppin of Dearborn, Mich., landed at Grand Central Air Terminal. They came here in Mayo's private plane, equipped with sleeping berths, a kitchen, radio and other luxurious appointments.

PLANS WILL BE LAID FOR NEW CLINIC

Starr Goes to Bay City to Confer With Humber on Cancer Treatment

Dr. R. W. Starr of the medical staff of the Southern Pacific Company, last night left for San Francisco to confer with Dr. J. D. Humber regarding arrangements for the cancer clinic to be held in Los Angeles this week-end. According to plans announced, Dr. Humber will return here in time to conduct one clinic at 10 a.m. Saturday in Room 714, Pacific Electric Building, and the other at 2 p.m. Sunday in Room 618.

Before and after clinic hours, Dr. Humber, who is the co-discoverer with Dr. W. J. B. Coffey of the extract that has shown such good results in cancer cases, will visit bedridden sufferers who have applied for treatment.

Treatment at the week-end clinics will be administered to all patients exhibiting the proper credentials.

TELESCOPE MAKERS TO MEET

How an amateur telescope maker made a nineteen-inch telescope will be related tonight by Dr. George Ferguson, addressing the Amateur Telescope Makers' Society in the history seminar room of the Los Angeles Public Library. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

WATER PLAN OF COUNTY EXPLAINED

Engineer Eaton Details Program at Dinner of Commercial Board

Los Angeles county must carry forward its program of water conservation in addition to development of outside supplies, E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of the County Flood Control, told the members of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles at their annual banquet at the Biltmore last night. The dinner was termed the "Los Angeles 1930 Water Development Congress" by officials of the organization and was devoted almost entirely to discussions of the water problems of Southern California.

Mr. Eaton told of the physical characteristics of the mountain watersheds and of the valley plains where the water supplies are distributed. He illustrated his talk with a number of slides and explained the work of the county flood control in building check dams and spreading systems. Only a small portion of the available area, which could be used for water spreading and underground storage has been developed, Mr. Eaton said, and future programs of the county will include work on additional spreading systems.

Additional bond issues totaling $38,000,000 will be required to finance the projected work in the Mono and Owens valleys water development, according to Mayor Porter, who spoke briefly. Mayor Porter pleaded for prompt action on the bond issues, which he said would make adequate supplies of water available for the normal growth of the city.

George Winfield Scott was chairman of the meeting and presented the new president, Elmer S. Nelson, as well as Joseph R. Coffman, the retiring head of the Commercial Board.

LAST RITES FOR PIONEER CONDUCTED

Mrs. Eliza W. Halliday, Bay Area Octogenarian, Active in Last Years

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 12.—With no semblance of the spectacular adventure that marked her declining years, Mrs. Eliza W. Halliday, pioneer Santa Monica octogenarian who was regarded as the most colorful personality in the bay district, was laid at rest yesterday following private funeral services in her home at 316 Adelaide Drive. She died Monday at the age of 88 years.

Born in an old stone house on the banks of the Ohio River in Switzerland county, Indiana, Mrs. Halliday first visited Santa Monica in 1899 while making a trip around the world, after the death of her husband. In 1902 she settled at Los Angeles, moving here eleven years ago. Within a short time she became widely known in the bay district for her interest in civic affairs.

Four years ago she achieved notice in all parts of the world through having made an airplane flight from Paris to London. Frequently after that experience she expressed the wish to fly over the North Pole. Two years prior to taking an interest in aviation she had crossed the United States in an automobile. She was then 82 years of age.

Mrs. Halliday leaves five children, Miss Mary Halliday, Mrs. H. M. Gorham and Mrs. Elbert Wing of Santa Monica, Mrs. John Kierman of Cairo, Ill., and Dr. John Halliday of Tampa, Fla.

COUNTERFEITING ONUS ESCAPED

Steiner Released by Court as It Develops "Box Game," Bills Were Good

Producing a $20 Federal Reserve note out of a little box is not counterfeiting—if the bill is good—it was held yesterday by United States Commissioner Head.

Elias Steiner, alias Elias Bercovich, was accused of counterfeiting. Evidence disclosed that the defendant had shown certain persons how to make $20 bills by use of the old-time "box game." It was charged he induced several persons to invest in the project, but that the bills thereafter failed to appear. The bills were found to be good and the court dismissed the charges.

Actress and Buster West Not to Marry

Virginia Cherrill

Virginia Cherrill, leading lady for Charles Chaplin, isn't going to get married after all. Yesterday Miss Cherrill disclosed the fact her engagement to Buster West, comedian, has been broken by mutual consent.

Miss Cherrill returned to West a huge diamond engagement ring several weeks ago.

"We decided it would be best for us not to marry on account of my career in pictures," Miss Cherrill stated. "Then, too, Mr. West has plans that will take him away from Hollywood a great deal and there'd be no use of getting married and being separated all of the time."

The young film actress stated, however, that she and West are still the best of friends and that their broken betrothal does not prevent them going out together. West came to Hollywood for talking pictures from the New York stage, while Miss Cherrill is new to films, her first role being the one she is now playing opposite Chaplin. They had tentatively fixed the date of their marriage around Easter.

Earl Ovington Selected Chief by Early Birds

Sixteen members of aviation's most exclusive organization, the Early Birds, heard their president, Earl Ovington, first air-mail flyer, accept the presidency at a banquet in the Alexandria and relay his message over a transcontinental telephone hook-up to a similar meeting in New York City.

The Early Birds group is open only to pilots who qualified as pilots before 1916. Waldo Waterman, manager of Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport, was designated as secretary to locate other flyers eligible for membership. There are believed to be not more than 250 men in the nation who can join.

R. G. Fowler of San Jose, Theodore F. Hamilton of Milwaukee, and Lieut. Esten B. Koger of Long Beach told of early flights.

COST MAPS APPROVED

The City Council, on recommendation of its Public Works Committee, has approved the assessment district maps for the improvement of Raymond avenue from Eighty-third street to Manchester avenue, the improvement of Harbor View avenue from Ninth street to Weymouth avenue, the improvement of the King avenue and G street district, and the improvement of Barbara Court at Cahuenga Boulevard.

EXTORTION RING INQUIRY STARTS

Trio Arrested by Police in Hush Money Quiz

Officers Say Marked Bills Trapped Suspects

Blackmail Victims Tell of "Little Italy" Gang

Existence of an organized professional ring of extortionists in the local "Little Italy" section of Los Angeles, which has spread terror among many of the Italian residents and extorted thousands of dollars from them by threats of violence, was suspected by police yesterday as they followed up their investigation of the asserted blackmailing activities of three suspects arrested Tuesday night.

The three under arrest on suspicion of extortion are Frank Capacchione, 33 years of age; his wife, Lucy, 24, and Gicinto Capacchione, 54, father of Frank. According to Detective Lieutenants Bergeron, James and Leslie of the Central police gun squad, the trio were apprehended in the home of Vincenzo Ambriola at 754 New Depot street when they accepted $400 in marked bills from Ambriola as part of $1000 demanded as "hush money."

MARKED MONEY PASSED

Ambriola had complained, the detectives stated, that Frank Cappacchione and his father had threatened to report to police that he had wine in his home unless he paid them the $1000. He added, the detectives said, that confronted with the same threat, he had given the Capacchiones $600 several months ago. When the new demand for money was made he reported the occurrence to police.

Following instructions of the detectives, Ambriola is said to have met the suspected extortionists Tuesday night and handed over money which had been identified by the detectives. The latter, after the asserted transfer of the money was made, stepped out of hiding places and took the trio into custody. Complaints charging extortion will be requested at the District Attorney's office today, they said.

EVIDENCE OF RING

In the meantime the detectives, questioning numerous residents of Little Italy, declared they had unearthed information which shows that various local Italian merchants had been robbed of thousands of dollars by threats of death and violence. Fear that the threats would be carried into effect has prevented the majority of the asserted victims from reporting the occurrences to police, the detectives stated.

Corroboration of the belief that death threats had been made was found in the information that the elder Capacchione's brother, James, a local merchant living on New Depot street, had received a warning recently that his home would be blown up with dynamite unless he paid the suspected extortionists $1000, according to the detectives. Verification of this report is being made, the detectives said, and may result in the breaking up of the suspected gang.

Propeller Trial Flight Made by Col. Lindbergh

Continuing his endeavors to make his new Lockheed Sirius monoplane as efficient as any craft to be found in the skies, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made speed tests yesterday over a measured course at Burbank to observe the effect of changing the pitch of the ship's propeller.

Amelia Earhart, a guest with the Lindberghs at the home of J. L. Maddux, president of T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines, left her new Lockheed at the factory yesterday for some minor adjustments and flew a company plane on a visit to Long Beach.

The Lindberghs are not certain when they will return east, but the colonel previously announced they probably will leave within the next two weeks. They plan a visit to San Francisco before flying home.

TEXANS TO HEAR MUSIC

Pianologues by Mrs. Guy F. Bush will feature the program to be presented by the Texas State Society tomorrow evening at 1137 South Hope street. Lyston S. Black, president, urges all Texans to attend. A valentine dance will follow the program.

MANY ELECTIONS SLATED

Voters in Various Parts of County Will Go to Polls to Decide Forty-eight Different Issues

Forty-three elections, scheduled to be held on various issues throughout Los Angeles county, beginning next Monday, were announced yesterday by Registrar of Voters Kerr.

The election next Monday will be concerned with a Pasadena city annexation, for which registrations already have closed. Others for which registrations have closed are: Los Angeles city municipal improvement district No. 75, 25th inst.; Arcadia city bond election, March 11; San Fernando city bond election, March 11; Tujunga city consolidation election, March 11.

OTHER CLOSING DATES

Registrations close on the 22nd inst. for the Baldwin Park county water district election, and the San Gabriel county water district election, both slated for March 26; on March 1 for the Los Angeles county sanitation district No. 3 election; April 1; and on March 14 for elections in the following sixth-class cities, slated for April 14:

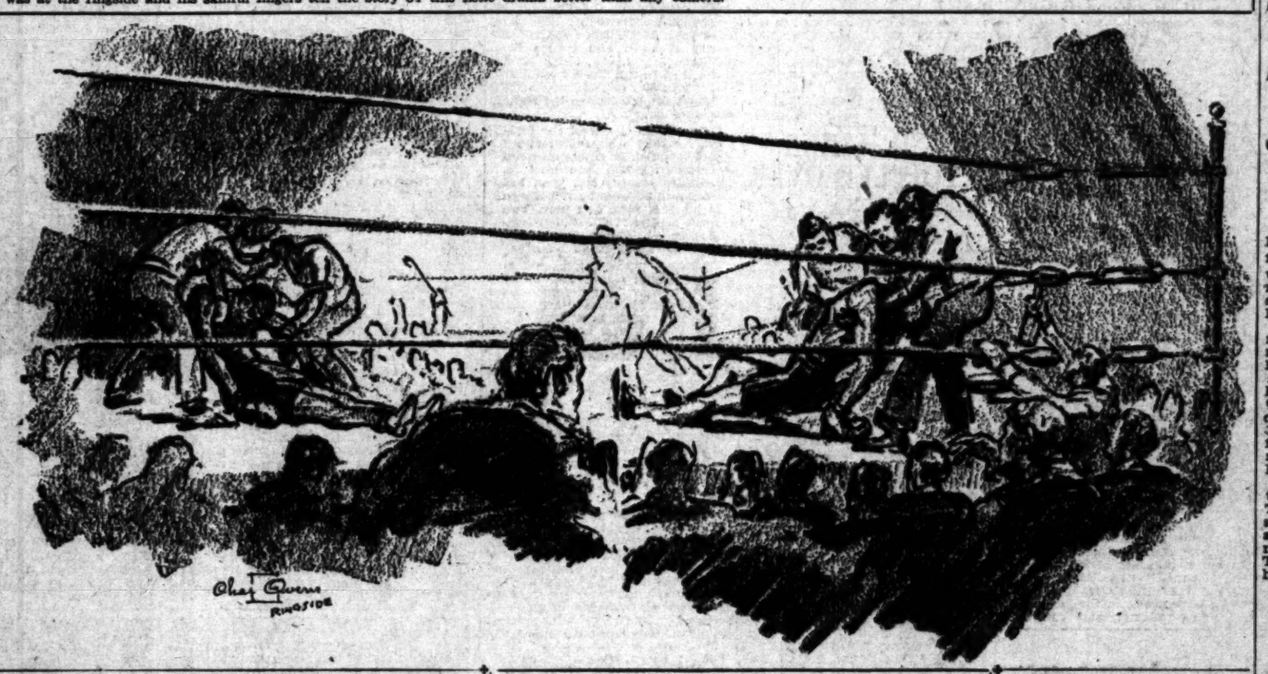
THE CLIMAX OF THE BILLY TOWNSEND-ARMAND SANTIAGO FIGHT

Old-time boxing men say the ending of this bout has no parallel in ring history. Both men collapsed on their stools at the end of the sixth round. Townsend was revived in time to answer the bell for the seventh round. Santiago was still dead to the world when the gong rang. This graphic drawing by Charlie Owens, Times staff artist, depicts the scene during the intermission, when the seconds worked feverishly with water, smelling salts and fierce massaging to bring their respective gladiators back to life. Owens was at the ringside and his skillful fingers tell the story of this fistic drama better than any camera.



OLYMPIC WILL STAGE BATTLE

Fans Anxious to See Sequel to Fistic Thriller

Billy Suffered Broken Nose in Sensational Bout

Cuban Clouter Also Signed for March 4 Scrap

BY PAUL LOWRY

The sequel to the sensational Billy Townsend-Armando Santiago fight at the Olympic Tuesday night will be a rematch in the same arena on March 25.

This was announced last night by Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams, who at the time was on the prowl for Jack Townsend, father and manager of Billy.

BILLY TOWNSEND

Wadhams had the senior Townsend's affirmative by word of mouth for a repeat fight, and sought his signature on a contract before the Townsends leave the city for their home in Vancouver today.

Wadhams would prefer to stage the battle at an earlier date, but this is impossible because young Townsend's nose was broken by Santiago's crashing right hand in the sixth round.

TO BE READY IN MARCH

The nasal organ will be repaired after the Townsends' return to the Northwest, and the father-manager said yesterday he had been assured by doctors the boy could fight again by the latter part of next month.

The elder Townsend was more than pleased with his son's splendid victory over Santiago, and pointed to the boy's wonderful physical condition as the factor which enabled him to come back from the brink of almost certain defeat and win out in a dramatic finish.

All over the city yesterday boxing men were mulling over the spectacular battle, which Townsend won in the seventh round by a technical knockout when Santiago was unable to answer the bell.

Scarcely able to stand himself, Townsend was pushed out into the ring and had his hand raised by Referee Harry Lee, while Santiago's seconds still worked excitedly over the Cuban

HURRICANES FACE MIDWICK

Special Match Game Arranged Between Two Crack Polo Teams; Argentines to Play Again

BY FRANK ROCHE

Continuing its program of polo extravaganzas, the Midwick Country Club today presents a special match game between the Hurricanes, captained by Stephen (Laddie) Sanford, and Midwick's big four. Today's battle will be the third between the Hurricane riders and Midwick.

Each team has scored one victory. Sanford's horsemen won the first clash, 9 to 8, and Midwick took the second game after nine chukkers of furious play by an 11-to-10 count. The second game was a Coast championship tilt, putting Midwick into the final round against Argentine, where they were eliminated.

Midwick officials also announced that Argentine, winner of the Coast championship, will be pitted against the pick of Midwick and Hurricane stars in a special match game. To date the Argentine team has defeated every team it has met. On Sunday they will be playing the highest rating four yet to perform on the winter program.

On the all-star four will be Laddie Sanford, Gerald Balding, Eric Pedley and Carleton Burke. The first two are Hurricane players and the latter Midwick malletmen. This squad rates at twenty-seven goals. The Pampas riders are rated at twenty-four goals, but the experts contend they are easily worth four more.

In matching the Hurricanes and Midwick this afternoon the local polo officials give those teams a chance to settle their mallet differences. Each team is sure of winning the final clash, which means a terrific battle if everything goes according to Hoyle.

Sanford's team will line up with himself at No. 1, Gerald Balding at No. 2, Long Jim Colt at No. 3 and Lin Howard at back. Midwick will send Neil McCarthy, Elmer Boeseke, Eric Pedley and Carleton Burke into battle in the order named.

Sanford will use his famous string of ponies, including Jupiter, Beatrice, None So Pretty and Late Night. The latter, an East Indian product, has proved one of the most outstanding mounts in the high-goal play. She has stolen a good deal of the thunder from Jupiter, the highest-priced pony in polo. Sanford will ride her today in starting the game. Balding will ride Jupiter.

SNELL AND CARTER DRAW

CRISLER MAY NOT TAKE JOB

Expect Fritz to Fall Heir to Stagg's Position

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. (Exclusive)—That H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, assistant to Coach A. A. Stagg at the University of Chicago, may not accept the Minnesota coaching post after all was the gossip today on the midway.

FRITZ CRISLER

It is understood that officials at the University of Chicago, while not trying to persuade Crisler to break any agreement that he may have made with Minnesota, have shown him that it would be wise for him to remain on the midway.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, athletic director and football coach, is nearing the end of his long career in intercollegiate athletics. In two more seasons Chicago will have played the big intersectional football game with Yale, Stagg's alma mater, which will mark the fortieth year of coaching of the "Old Man" and will have seen the completion of the big field house for indoor athletics.

Director Stagg will then be at the age of retirement, and it is generally expected that he will give up active work, although no announcement in this regard has ever been made and probably won't be issued until shortly before Director Stagg wishes to retire.

That Crisler will fall heir to either the football coaching job or the position of athletic director, and probably both, is openly admitted by everyone in close touch with the situation at the university.

It is also reported that the opposition of Minnesota alumni has influenced Crisler in his decision not to accept the Gopher appointment.

JOYCE WETHERED QUITS PLAY FOR GOLF CROWN

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Joyce Wethered, holder of the British woman's golf championship, today stated that she will not defend her title at Formby in May and furthermore that she has finished with championship play altogether.

The retirement of this five-time holder of the British championship comes at the comparatively early age of 28, but it is known that for some time she felt she was faced with too difficult a task in keeping up the standard of play expected of her by the golfing public.

In addition to Miss Wethered's retirement, it also was stated in authoritative golfing circles today that Cecil Leitch, long one of England's leading woman golfers, will not again be seen in premier championship play.

BRANNON AGREES TO TERMS

New Hollywood Second-Sacker Says 1930 Contract Offered by Stars is Okeh; Angels and Seattle Schedule Two Exhibitions at Long Beach on March 30-31

BY BOB RAY

Otis Brannon, the ex-St. Louis Brown infielder who is expected to end Hollywood's second-basing worries this season, has agreed to terms offered him in his 1930 contract, so Bill Lane's Stars are all set as far as their infield is concerned.

OTIS BRANNON

Brannon yesterday wired in from his home in Greenbrier, Ark., that the terms of the contract offered him were agreeable and that he'd be on hand when Oscar Vitt started the Sheiks off on the spring training grind at San Diego on March 1.

Mike Gazella, the ex-Yankee infielder who will hold down third base for the Sheiks this year, has already sent in his signed contract and is driving here from New York. Dud Lee and Mickey Heath, the other members of Hollywood's all-star infield, have not been offered their 1930 contracts yet but Lane expects no trouble signing them so the Sheik infield is all set to function as soon as the training session begins.

Hollywood also announced yesterday that it had signed Frank (Hack) Jacoby, a husky outfielder who hails from Mt. Olive, Ill., Art Pallas, a young right-hander who had a tryout with Oakland a couple of years ago, and Stan DePalo, a promising young local catcher.

Jacoby, who was recommended by Ham Patterson, is said to be built on the robust plans of Hack (Sonny Boy) Wilson. He is a right-hand hitter with plenty of power and the Stars believe that he is a good gamble.

Hollywood has also signed Wally Rehg, veteran outfielder, to protect itself in case the Yankees are unable to deliver them a flychaser. Rehg can still cowtail southpaw pitching and will be a handy man to have around.

Two more exhibition games were lined up for Jack Lelivelt's ambitious Angels yesterday, the Seraphs scheduling a couple of practice tilts with Bill Klepper's Seattle Indians for March 30 and 31. The exhibitions will be played at the Shell Oil park in Long Beach. Billy Feister, Shell Oil official, closing negotiations for the contests yesterday.

The Angels will make the trip to Long Beach for the pair of clashes with Seattle, while Wrigley Field is being occupied by the Chicago Cub-Pittsburgh Pirate series.

Bill Klepper has added several capable athletes to the Indian roster during the winter months and the Seattle club ought to give the Angels a couple of interesting contests for the edification of Long Beach's baseball populace.

Angel officials also spiked the current rumor that Sing Tolson would be traded by the Cubs to some club for a first-sacker to be later turned over to Los Angeles. The dope is that the Cubs are out to trade Tolson for a southpaw pitcher that will wind up in an Angel uniform. Manager Jack Lelivelt believes that Ray Jacobs will capably fill the bill at first base for the Cherubs and would much prefer a port-side pitcher to a first-sacker.

BOK AWARD TO CONNIE MACK

Athletics' Manager Biggest Booster of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12. (AP)—Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known through the country as Connie Mack, manager of the world's champion Athletics, tonight received the $10,000 Edward W. Bok award for 1929 for "having rendered the most outstanding success to Philadelphia during the year. The award, in the form of a check, was accompanied by a medal and scroll.

PELL TRIMS ABERDARE

TUXEDO PARK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Clarence C. Pell, national racket title-holder, defeated Lord Aberdare of England in the finals of the gold racket tournament today, 15-10, 15-6, 15-2. Aberdare was runner-up to Pell for the title in 1928.

McLarnin and Fields Fistic Scrap Likely

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Feb. 12. (AP) Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan boxing promoter, announced today that he and Billy Duffy, American manager of Primo Carnera, had reached an agreement for a match in Detroit on May 31, next, between the Italian man-mountain and an opponent to be named later.

Fitzsimmons also announced that arrangements have been "practically completed" for the welterweight title fight between the champion, Jackie Fields, and Jimmy McLarnin in Detroit on July 17. He also said negotiations were under way for a lightweight championship bout between Champion Sammy Mandell and King Tut, Minneapolis product.

PETKIEWICZ WINS MILE IN FAST INDOOR TIME

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Stanislaw Petkiewicz, Polish conqueror of Paavo Nurmi, won an easy victory in the invitation mile run at the Osceola Club indoor track meet at the Seventh Regiment Armory tonight.

The Polish diplomatic courier led all through the race to beat Loring McMillan, former Union College miler. Frank Bayley of the New York A. C. was third. Petkiewicz ran the mile in 4m. 28 4/5s.

The heavy-running but speedy Petkiewicz took the lead at the start of the race and held it until the finish. He moved steadily ahead until he had a lead of about thirty yards on the last lap, then sprinted to break the tape forty yards ahead of McMillan. The time of 4m. 28 4-5s. was fast for a race run on a flat board track.

Dr. Paul Martin, Swiss Olympic middle-distance star now wearing the colors of the New York A. C., failed in his attempt to break the only world's record for 800 yards, but ran a fine race to win the event. Martin covered the distance in 1m. 46 4-5s., to lead Thomas Brennan of the New York A. C., and William Schneider of the Paulist A. C. to the tape.

There is no listed time mark for 800 yards indoors, so Martin's race established a new record. The outdoor record for the distance, 1m. 43 3-5s., was set by Mel Sheppard twenty years ago.

Focus Eyes on Spot of Ball

YOUR CLUBHEAD MUST MEET BALL GOING THROUGH AT RIGHT ANGLE TO FLAG
ADDRESS BALL AT A— CENTRIFUGAL FORCE CAUSES CLUB TO MEET IT AT "B"
THIS IS THE IDEA TO CONCENTRATE ON

BY SOL METZGER

The place where your clubhead is going to meet the ball is the place your sight should center during the playing of a stroke. I know that many outstanding stars assert they are not conscious of the ball as they swing. But their actions belie their words. I've watched such golfers play many strokes in important tournaments. When they swing their eyes remain glued to this spot after they have hit the ball.

Concentrate upon that spot in the rear center of the ball that your clubface must meet in going through. The face of your club must be at right angles to this line as it meets the ball. Use your hands to get this result.

WORLD MARKS TOPPLED OVER

close that the judges were unable to decide on the winner for several minutes. The former Syracuse flash and the Hoosier meteor ran neck and neck down the last twenty yards. Bowman's time of 5 seconds created a new record for the distance in a final, but Percy Williams of Canada was said to have run a faster heat than this last year.

The fleet-footed Cleveland girl ran away from the field to beat the record in the 220-yard sprint. She shot out ahead and sped to an easy victory over Miss Dallas Creamer of Canada. Miss Olive Kruger, Tennessee, and Miss Mary Gilliland, Millrose, who finished second, third and fourth, respectively.

Ray Conger, famous miler of the Illinois A. C., raced to victory in the John W. Overton memorial mile in a great race against Gene Venske, New York, and Joe Hickey, New York University. Conger was content to let the others set the pace until the final lap, when he shot into the lead and remained there until the finish.

The two-mile run was easy for Paul Rekers, Penn State, who lapped the field early in the contest and won as he pleased. D. Dean, University of Pennsylvania, finished second and R. Houng, University of Georgia, third.

Georgetown University won the two-mile college relay in easy fashion, with Pennsylvania second and New York University third.

Sol Furth, New York University, speeded to victory in the forty-five-yard sprint handicap for men, winning by a margin of about a yard from R. Quinn, University of Maryland, in 5 1-10s. F. Alden of Swarthmore was third.

Stella Walsh, Cleveland, took the forty-five-yard international sprint for girls in 5 8-10s. Myrtle Cook, Canada, was second and Helen Matthews, Meadowbrook, third. Miss Walsh got away to a poor start, but in the last thirty yards she developed such a burst of speed that she won with comparative ease.

The Canadian, team, led by Miss Myrtle Cook, of Olympic fame, outsprinted the colors of the United States, to win the 440-yard international relay race for girls. Loretta McNeil, anchor for the United States, made a brilliant spurt for victory in the last twenty-five yards, but could not overtake the fast-stepping Peggy Mathieson.

The University of Pennsylvania won the one-mile relay race for the Rodman Wanamaker trophy. The time was 3m. 28 2-5s. Georgetown was second.

Fordham and New York University finished third and fourth, respectively, in the Wanamaker memorial, running for Pennsylvania were Kastler, McLaughlin, Kerr and St..ele. Kastler gave McLaughlin a thirty-yard lead to start the second relay, but only five yards separated Steele and Burke, Georgetown anchorman, at the oeginning of the last lap. Burke, with a terrific burst of speed whittled down this lead and Penn won by only about three yards.

The 660-yard special invitation race was won by Johnny Gibson of Bloomfield, N. J., in 1m. 25s. Hugh Jennings, Newark A.C., was second and Harold Cutbill of Millrose was third.

Fred Veit, New York University, who finished first, was disqualified for alleged interference with Gibson.

The one-mile college relay special was won by William and Mary. St. John's College was second and the University of Maryland third. The time was 3m. 35 1-5s.

MERCURIES IN FINAL WORKOUT

Club Athletes Ready for Occidental Meet

Los Angeles Athletic Club track and field athletes took their final workout of the week yesterday and from now until Saturday Boyd Comstock has prescribed nothing but rest for his Mercuries in preparation for the opening meet of the season against the Occidental Tigers at Eagle Rock.

Regardless of the condition or lack of training of his men, Comstock has ordered no more work for the remainder of the week. The majority of the clubmen took their workoutz wherever they could find a place to run or a vacant lot to throw the weights, although several of them appeared at Bovard Field.

Among those at the latter place was Jackie Burton, who should prove one of the finest middle-distance runners on the Coast when he rounds back into his 1928 form. That year Jackie ran for the University of Utah and turned in a half-mile in 1m. 54s., a 440 in 49s. and a mile in 4m. 25s. He will prove valuable in any one of these events, although the 880 will be his regular race this season.

Bob Maxwell, one of the fastest hurdlers who ever stepped over a timber, also was on hand yesterday. Bob had only a mediocre seasons last year, but Comstock believes he will return to his 1928 form this year. Two years ago he ran the high hurdles in :14 3-5s. and the 220-yard low sticks in 23 1-5s.

Comstock predicts a bright season for Walter Clark, ex-California quarter-miler. The former Bear star can run 50s. already and should better that figure later on.

Bud Houser, now a busy dentist, took a light workout yesterday, and if Bud finds that he can return to his championship discus form he will join the Mercuries for the Stanford dual meet at Palo Alto on March 1.

Herman Brix, national shotput champion; Jimmy De Mers, king of javelin tossers; Raymond Alf, the new L.A.A.C. sprint star; Al Bowen, ex-U.S.C. high jumper, and other Mercuries were also at Bovard Field yesterday.

Saturday's meet at Occidental will be more or less a tryout for the clubmen before the S.P.A.A.U. relay carnival at Long Beach on the 22nd inst. and the Stanford dual battle March 1. The Tigers are apparently in better condition than the Mercuries at this time of the season and should score quite a number of points against the club team.

Venice Runners Beat Roosevelt

Coach Green's Venice Gondoliers won their initial track meet of the season yesterday by trimming the Roosevelt Roughriders, 62½ to 42½, on the losers' cinderpath. Few good times were turned by the athletes, but Willis, Roughrider sprinter, looked good in winning the sprints in 10.6s. and 23.5s. The Gondoliers annexed five first places, won the relay and tied for first in the high jump.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Willis (R.) Rhees (V.) second, Berman (V.) third. Time, 10 8-10s.

220-yard dash—Won by Willis (R.) Whitehides (V.) second, Cline (R.) third. Time, 23 3-10s.

440-yard run—Won by Rhees (V.) Romano (R.) second, Henshaw (V.) third. Time, 53 1-10s.

Andrews Will Aid Nibs Price

BERKELEY, Feb. 12. (AP)—The executive committee of the University of California tonight approved football coaching appointments for the 1930 season. Bodie Andrews, former assistant coach at St. Mary's College, was named a full-time assistant varsity coach, while Roy Riegels, captain and center last season, was appointed coach of the "goof" squad. Andrews's selection followed announcement of his resignation at St. Mary's today. Others who will assist Head Coach C. M. (Nibs) Price are Clint Evans, chief assistant; "Brick" Mitchell, line coach; Walter Gordon, assistant; Dan MacMillan, assistant, and George Latham, assistant freshman coach. A head freshman coach is yet to be named.

Hutton quintet last night won the title in the Bulls division of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute Basketball League. The Hutton boys won all the way, leading the Witter team from the start. Stiltiten, former Nebraska University casaba tosser, starred for the winners, scoring six points to cinch high point honors.

In another game played on the John C. Borroughs Junior High rectangle, the Jones, Hubbard and Donnell five vanquished the American Investment Company case squad 30-11. Pomeroy was the big noise for the Hubbard boys, scoring ten digits.

FRIEDMAN KAYOED BY JIM MALONEY

BOSTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Jimmy Maloney was credited with a four-round technical knockout over Al Friedman, his Boston heavyweight rival, here tonight, when the latter plunged through the ropes and struck his head a paralyzing blow on the edge of the ring. Friedman had launched a furious rush at Maloney, which the latter sidestepped. The accident rendered Friedman unconscious for several minutes.

La Barba Will Return Today for Legion Go

FIDEL LA BARBA

Charley Sullivan, Bakersfield featherweight, out of his path tomorrow night at the Hollywood Legion Stadium. The ex-flyweight champion has worked faithfully at the mountain resort, George Blake, his manager, reports. Fidel is after a rematch with Kid Chocolate in New York, and he does not want Sullivan or any other boxer to smear up his record. La Barba will go after a kayo quickly, his handlers announce.

Sullivan has been working at the Manhattan gymnasium and he has showed plenty of ability, according to the railbirds. The Bakersfield Irishman has been coming along steadily during the past six months. A good fight against La Barba would put him right among the first fighters on the Coast. Knowing this, Sullivan is ready to put up one of those do or die performances.

Leo Lomelli and Don Burchard clash in the semi-wind-up. Burchard will rule a slight favorite, but the Mexican kid is a good puncher and may upset the dope. Tommy Huffman and Leonard Allen hook up in the special event over the six-round route.

Two four-rounders complete Tom Gallery's weekly card.

KNOCKOUTS FEATURE OCEAN PARK CARD

Knockouts were plentiful last night at the Ocean Park Arena. Every fight except the first preliminary failed to last the set distance. Johnnie Trevis won a first-round technical knockout over Harry Wallender in the main event. Augie De Mille stopped Jess Vasquez in the third round of the semi-wind-up. In the special event Nish Kekoran won on a technical kayo in the second over Frank Leonard. Charlie Leonard knocked out Charley Gaines in the first round. Homer Biggers outpointed Don Smith in the opener.

RICHFIELD, HOLLYWOOD PUCKS MIX

Millionaires Out to Hang Up Another Hockey Win at Winter Garden Tonight

Gunning for the top in California Hockey League competition, the Hollywood Millionaires tonight will seek to hang up the second consecutive victory over the Los Angeles Richfields at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

Hollywood is far removed from second place and the play-off for the title that goes with that position, but a continuation of present form is likely to land the team there.

Manager Harris begged for help from the time he took over the team, but it didn't come until "Moose" Johnson, a gigantic defense from Minneapolis, arrived on the scene Monday and figured prominently in that 4-to-1 triumph. Johnson's presence makes the Hollywood variety of hockey near big league.

Allen Works Crafty Play

1 TAPS TO REAR AND RECOVERS WITH HIS OPPONENT BEHIND HIM— TEAMMATES LEAD THEIR GUARDS FROM BASKET SO 1 MAY HAVE CLEAR PATH FOR DRIBBLE TO BASKET

BY SOL METZGER

Center jump basketball plays are not always alike even when the ball is tapped to the same place on the court. Take the play shown yesterday and compare it to the one here sketched, a play that first emerged from the brain of crafty "Fog" Allen, Kansas U. coach. Later, the Hillyards of Kansas City used it effectively in A.A.U. championships. You'll still find it cropping out in Midwest Conference circles as a surprise play.

The center, No. 1, taps the ball to his rear left and breaks back from the circle for it, closely pursued by his opponent, No. 1 regains the ball and dribbles at lightning speed as shown in the diagram. His trick is to keep his immediate opponent on the outside of this half-circle as he dribbles, as it forces the opponent to lose ground because of the added distance he thus has to travel.

Of course, such a play has to have a way cleared for it. This is done by the two forwards, Nos. 2 and 3, drawing their guards out of the way of the dribbler.

ce Hudkins May Upset Rosenbloom's Future Plans When They Mix Tomorrow Night

LES KENNEDY WORKING TO GET KAYO PUNCH

Les Kennedy, copper miner, longshoreman, logger and oil driller, has contracted the "knockout" fever. The Long Beach heavyweight has made arrangements with Tom Lockhart of the Wilmington docks to work part-time on the wharves to keep in condition.

The refusal of Frankie Campbell's handlers to let the Italian knockout king meet Kennedy for 40 per cent of the gate or a flat guarantee of $6500 has aroused the big fellow.

Kennedy meets Dynamite Jackson, another man Campbell turned down as an opponent, in the ten-round main event at the Olympic next Tuesday night.

The card is made up of five heavyweight bouts and a semi-windup between 150-pounders that features Benny Miller and Bert Samson. Miller has knocked out his last two opponents and looks like he is headed for the top.

The other heavyweight bouts are Bob Edwards vs. Jimmy Hanna, 170 pounds; Royal Elliot vs. Tora Toner, 190 pounds; Stanley Ketchell vs. Walter Hoffman, 185 pounds, and Cecil Myart vs. Ide Parker, 190 pounds.

Jackson, who fought Ernie Owens to a standstill recently, has gone to Soper's ranch to train for the Kennedy fight.

The Olympic yesterday received a report from Chicago that the planned Earl Mastro-Bud Taylor show had blown up, leaving the way clear for the much-talked-of Taylor-Fidel La Barba classic. Taylor is at Ojai training. New developments are expected today.

if Maxie scores decisively over Hudkins he will be in a position to implore the boxing fathers to shift the Slattery bout to the less partisan atmosphere of the Garden here. Of course it's 100 to 1 that the commissioners won't listen to such a proposal, but that will not prevent Thomas from asking for a change of venue.

If nothing comes of that gesture McArdle will endeavor to bring about a meeting between Maxie and Larry Johnson, the colored puncher from Chicago.

While it is obvious that the Garden is banking heavily on Rosenbloom to tame the Nebraska wildcat, the result is far from a foregone conclusion. Hudkins will go to the post as a five-to-eight shot. He has been a shortender in practically every fight he has ever had in New York and oddly enough he has upset the dope each time heretofore. If he does not lick Rosenbloom he can at least be depended on to give the long-enders a bad scare.

ARROWHEAD PUCKS IN COMEBACK TONIGHT

Dave Patrick's Arrowhead Valley Club ice-hockey team, which took its first setback in several weeks when it was trounced by a 7-to-1 count by the Van Fleet-Durkees last Monday night, will try to stage a comeback tonight against the Shell Oilers.

Although the Shells have not been able to outscore the youthful Arrowhead team in several attempts lately, the Well-Pullers will be rated an even chance tonight. Ernie Miller has reorganized his sextet and added considerable defensive strength to the outfit by signing Steve Crouch as a regular defense man.

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE NEW CHAMPION

NOW that Mr. James Slattery is the new king of the light-heavyweight division what of it? The old ruler—Tommy Loughran—beat him easily two years ago and Jimmy Braddock knocked Slattery kicking in nine rounds less than a year ago at New York.

And in winning the 175-pound title Slattery was nearly stopped by Lou Scozza in the thirteenth round at Buffalo Monday night.

What kind of a champion is this that the New York Boxing Commission asks the populace to accept?

One of his best claims to fame—if such it be—is a previous victory over Maxey Rosenbloom, the man he must defend the title against within sixty days.

This is the period the New York overlords give Slattery to wear the crown in peace and security.

However, there is one consoling note for the veteran Slattery. Mr. Ace Hudkins, the Wildcat, is meeting Rosenbloom before Slattery will be required to put up his crown jewels.

And in the past Mr. Hudkins has been known to give his foes such pastings that they are frequently only hollow shells of their former fighting selves.

Loughran was one guy Mickey couldn't beat, but Mr. Slattery is probably a horse of another color. At least, his record indicates as much.

THE "SHORT" TROJANS

THE latest issue of the Southern California Alumni Review has a terrible bleat on the Trojan basketball situation, which it airs under the head of "Long and Lanky."

Says the editor, "It is too bad that some bright boy cannot come along and explain to us why the Trojans composed of a student body of more than 10,000 cannot find a few tall, lanky men to play on the basketball team.

"For fifteen years the Trojans have been turning out basketball teams, three-fourths of the players of which could run under the armpits of their conference opponents without ducking an inch. Only sheer speed and fight have enabled them to maintain the semblance of a high conference rating.

"When the Trojans played the Bears at Berkeley in January the Bears repeatedly carried the ball from one end of the court to the other, high up in the air, and in such manner that 90 per cent of the time the Trojans needed ladders to reach it."

Will the same "bright boy" ask ye editor how he gets that way? Take a look at the form charts.

The Trojans have two men taller than the tallest man on the California team. Caldwell soars 6 ft. 4 in., and Smith 6 ft. 3½ in., as compared to the 6 ft. 3 in. boasted by Ten Eyck of the Bears.

Of the other Trojan regulars Mortenson is 6 ft. 2 in., Pierce 6 ft. 1½ in., Lehners 6 ft. 1 in. Gardner at 5 ft. 11 in. is the shortest.

For the Bears, besides Ten Eyck, the only other lofty genta to compare with the Trojans are Vendt at 6 ft. 2 in., Pursel 6 ft. 2 in., Tripp 6 ft. 1 in., Cofield 6 ft., Davis 6 ft. Nealson is 5 ft. 11 in.

A TEN-GOAL MAN

SPEAKING of altitude Elmer Boeseke, the man who scored six of Midwick's seven goals against the Argentine team the other day, is no dwarf himself.

He hits 6 ft. 4 in. in his stocking feet, and he is known in some circles as "Daddy Long Legs."

He is a great polo player, rates at eight goals, and was the biggest individual star on the field in the Argentine game.

Only the superior teamwork of the men from "Down Under" enabled them to beat Midwick by one point and offset the brilliance of Boeseke.

He played on the United States Olympic four in 1924 along with Tommy Hitchcock and on the Greentree team in the open championships last year.

Mr. Louis Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo Association, who refereed last Sunday's game for the Coast high championship, said that Boeseke played like a ten-goal man.

CASH IS KING

A FEW more cash customers and fewer speeches by the politicians probably would have been relished by Mr. Leo Newman, promoter of the new East Side Boxing Auditorium, at the opening the other night.

But Mr. Newman is said to be very fond of his politicians, and in a way he played up to them at the expense of his "gate."

While ballyhooing them and the fact that the house was sold out somebody forgot to dispose of the tickets, and if the crowd was 3500 in a 5200 capacity house it was an overguess.

The arena is a fine, up-to-date place, but one can't help wonder why it was ever located in a spot where the nearest car line is a mile away.

Particularly when the clientele it eventually will cater to isn't in exactly what is termed the automobile-owning class.

in an effort to bring him back to his senses.

No story will ever do justice to the remarkable ending of this bout. No pen picture can tell it. It was the rara avis of local ring battles.

CONDITION TOLD

Townsend won because he was in wonderful condition. The boy neither smokes, drinks nor keeps late hours. He is the model youth, and in his triumph is a great moral lesson to the boys of the land.

While Townsend goes home, Santiago stays here to accept another ring engagement before his rematch with the Northwest lad.

Wadhams was forced to cancel his proposed bout featuring Max Baer, the Oakland heavyweight, with Ernie Owens on March 4, and instead will use Santiago against Goldie Hess, Johnny Lamar or Eddie Mack.

Baer is still under indefinite suspension for the alleged "carrying" of a fighter in the north, and in addition has a contract to fulfill in Oakland before he can go through with a fight in this city.

TOWNSEND PRAISED

Frank Churchill, manager of Santiago, yesterday agreed to any of the fighters Wadhams selected for the March 4 date. He was disappointed that Santiago lost to Townsend after having the Vancouver boy on the verge of a knockout, but praised the victor's courage.

He said Santiago fainted when he reached his stool at the end of the sixth round.

The receipts the other night were approximately $8000. The rematch will more than double those figures.

MILTON GASTON SIGNED

BOSTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox today announced the receipt of the signed contract of Milton Gaston, pitcher, who was acquired last year from Washington and who, with his brother, Alec, made up one of the few such big-league batteries. Alec has since been released.

THOMPSON OUT OF CAGE GAME

That slim chance is the one the Bruins are fighting for, and Works has his squad in top shape for the fray. Such players as Capt. Larry Wild, Carl Knowles, Carl Shy, Dick Von Hagen and Frank "Stringy" Lubin are perfectly capable of breaking out into a rash of baskets at any moment, as they have proven in the past. The Bruins are not a bit downhearted over their two hard-to-take defeats at the hands of California last week-end, but are determined to make up for those losses by scoring enough baskets to outdistance anybody, even the league-leading Trojans.

Coach Sam Barry had his regular starting line-up working out yesterday. That includes Jack Gardner, the team's leading scorer, and Frank Smith at forwards, Mortensen at center, and Caldwell and Capt. Johnny Lehners at guards. Lehners is playing the greatest game of his career at the guard position. As a sophomore he was picked as an all-Coast guard. That was the year the Trojans won the Coast title, beating Washington two straight games. Last year Lehners was guard on the second all-Coast team. His showing to date this year seems to entitle him to a first-string berth this season.

Barry hopes to get into the Olympic Auditorium for a workout Friday afternoon, in order to acquaint his athletes with the downtown court. The Trojans have not played in the Olympic this year, while the Bruins have played all of their home games at the auditorium.

STANFORD NINE LOSES

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 12.—Sorely hampered by the absence of Capt. Bill Laird of Los Angeles from the line-up, the Stanford baseball team was defeated by the McMillan & McNamara nine of San Francisco by the score of 5 to 3 here today.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.
McMillan and McNamara	5	7	4

SIDNEY GRANT WINS TURF FEATURE

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Feb. 12.—Sidney Grant, which carries part of the monicker at least of a former President of these United States, celebrated Lincoln's birthday in fitting style here this afternoon as he won the Lincoln Handicap. The race, a mile and one-sixteenth allowance affair for the handicap division, featured the program in commemoration of the one hundred and twenty-first anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Sidney Grant, a candidate for the Agua Caliente Derby, left little to be desired in his victory. He won as his rider pleased and set a new track record for the mile and one-sixteenth in so doing. He covered the distance in 1:44 3-5, one-fifth second better than the mark set recently by Listo. Battle Ax got second money five lengths back of the winner, with Wirt G. Bowman coming with his usual stretch rush for the show.

First race, five and one-half furlongs—Gertie Rose (O'Brien) won; Chief's Mountaineer (Romano) second; Parasada (Schutte) third. Time, 1m. 7 1-5s.

Second race, one and one-sixteenth miles—Gallardo (Trivett) won; Spanish Lay (Cleverley) second; Russell Gardner (Keiser) third. Time, 1m. 47 2-5s.

Third race, three furlongs—Miss Cheyenne (Moran) won; Wittera (Lyons) second; Justiciary (Trivett) third. Time, 34 4-5s.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Shasta Graft (Philpol) won; Dark Sea (Corbett) second; Chief's Warrior (Romano) third. Time, 1m. 12 2-5s.

Fifth race, one and one-sixteenth miles—Sidney Grant (Schutte) won; Battle Ax (Redding) second; Wirt G. Bowman (Teasdale) third. Time, 1m. 44 3-5s.

Sixth race, six furlongs—Waterson (Keiser) won; Lady Seth (Redding) second; Fair Anita (Cleverley) third. Time, 1m. 12 2-5s.

INCOME PROPERTY—For Sale —37

THE OWNERS WILL SELL the Singing Kettle Tea Room, scenic and unique eating place at the summit of Whittier-Puente Hills on Turnbull Canyon Road, to responsible parties on reasonable terms. This place was built, beautifully landscaped, and has been operated as a high-class eating place in order to attract a particular clientele to the scenic homesite locations which the owners of the properties surrounding this Tea-Room development were subdividing and selling. The owners feel that there is no longer any necessity for their continuing the operation of this place, and feel quite certain that experienced people in the operation of this kind of a business can easily develop even a more extensive trade at this location than has already been built up by the owners in their limited operations with a minimum of advertising and publicity. The property is now equipped and has a going business, but with a small outlay of funds in expansion of some facilities could undoubtedly attract a much larger patronage. We will be pleased to discuss this interesting deal with parties the details of this property on request. HARRY L. HART, INC., 724 Van Nuys Building, Los Angeles. Phone TRinity 4521.
